Bathurst to Dalhousie. Acknowledging despatch of July 14, requesting instructions as to tone to be adopted towards Legislature respecting question of Civil List. The Assembly in opinion of both Colonial Secretary and Richmond required guidance on many points, but the difficulty was, how to exercise it acceptably to them. The first thing was to ascertain whether the Crown funds were large enough to cover Civil List without reference to Legislature. In such case, refusal by Assembly to provide adequate Civil List should be followed by immediate prorogation. If the insufficiency of Crown funds make it necessary to depend on votes of Assembly to help out Civil List, the proper course would be to attempt a compromise by yielding upon small points in order to gain cooperation on others essential to public interest. In forming estimate of what Crown must undertake in event of repeated prorogations, several items ordinarily on Civil List might be omitted, as for instance, salary of Speaker of Assembly and stipends of Roman Catholic clergy and others that may create impression in public mind that Assembly were responsible for want of means of maintaining Government. Should concessions be absolutely necessary, it is essential that they should be dependent on permanent assignment of a fixed annual revenue to meet charges of adequate Civil List. Furthermore, no bill may be assented to, which operates to repeal or alter any existing statute granting permanent revenue unless full equivalent be obtained. No object to be gained by postponement of decision on subject. p. 54

Bathurst to Dalhousie. (Private and confidential). With reference to despatch of even date. Richmond reported that Civil List was about £40,000, and Crown Revenues disposable independent of Legislature about £23,000. Governor is authorized to issue to extent of £12,000 from Army Extraordinaries, that being amount of revenue from Customs and Post Office remitted to England. It is hoped that eventual deficiency of £5,000 may be made up by reducing items on Civil List. Thus salary of Lieut. Governor may be deferred; also, salaries of Roman Catholic clergy, though, as this is delicate business, it would be well to take Bishop into confidence, explaining necessity of postponing acknowledged claims. First business to be laid before Legislature should always be, a request for vote "to make good deficiencies of Civil List" refusal to be followed by immediate prorogation. Richmond expected bill to be passed by

Imperial Parliament to regulate trade of Canadas would increase revenue of Crown. But, as drawn, it would excite jealousy of colonies and virtually violate pledge of act of 1778. Copy of bill transmitted for consideration. (No enclosure). Great advantage would ensue from successful attempt to carry on government without aid of Assembly. Though Colonial Secretary has no hope of securing cooperation of Assembly, Governor must not fail to make application to them in most suitable manner. 1820

Bathurst to Dalhousie. Enclosing letter from Secretary of Post Office with enclosures from Deputy Postmaster General of British North America, inviting attention to infringement by owners of steam vessels of exclusive privilege of the Post Office as regards conveyance of letters. The ordinary remedy would be to institute prosecution, but as right of General Post Office to revenues from colonies is in question, it may be of doubtful expediency to bring matter forward. Deputy Postmaster General will be instructed to take no action towards prosecution without full concurrence of Governor

Sept. 10. Bathurst to Dalhousie. (Private and confidential.) Acknowledging private and confidential letter of July 10, in which it was stated, as the opinion of well informed persons, that there was some danger of the Roman Catholic Bishop acquiring an undue influence, under the present arrangement of Vicar Generals, and that it would have been safer to appoint separate Bishops. In reply it is stated that the Bishop of Quebec and the Pope desired appointment of separate Bishops, but on consideration, it was deemed better to have Vicar Generals. The Bishop is man of proven loyalty, besides which, there is a control over his actions through salary and his title, which is dependent on his seat in Legislative Council, and through other circumstances. There is no likelihood of his influence being exercised in manner favourable to United States interests. However, the arrangement is experimental and Dalhousie can see how it will work.

Bathurst to Dalhousie. Acknowledging despatch No. 40, with address from Assembly respecting certain offices of Civil Government. The resolutions require (1) that officers paid from Provincial funds shall reside and perform their duties in province; (2) a new mode of appointment of Colonial Agent, or abolition of office; (3) reform of certain abuses. Several subjects mentioned cannot be dealt with, without further information. But with respect to (1) lieutenant governor who has been in England, is proceeding to Canada to take up duties; a resident lieutenant governor of Gaspé District is very desirable and Assembly should be asked to provide funds for such officer; Secretary of Province does not reside in province, but his duties are performed efficiently by deputy, and when necessary to replace him, the new appointee will be required to reside in province. As regards Executive Councillors, there is no good reason why they should be paid during absence, but it would seem unjust to withdraw moderate salaries allowed, when duties are performed. Dalhousie's proposal is approved to introduce to Council such public officers, as he would consider proper as vacancies occur. Strong objection to rule making Speaker of Assembly a member of Council although there may be good reason for appointing present Speaker. As for the Colonial Agent, the objection seemed to be that he was not appointed by the Assembly; but that objection did not appear valid, if the duties of the office were properly performed, and from transactions with that officer, it was evident that he was efficient in performance of duties. The combination of office of judge with that of French translator, or of Auditor of Public Accounts is, on the face of it, objectionable. But there might be circumstances, unknown to him, which would justify it. In any case, until Legislature provides permanent fund from which salaries of judges can be paid, a sort of necessity exists for making up deficiency by conferring on them other situations. Disagreement expressed with opinion of Assembly that union of judgeship in King's Bench with judgeship of Admiralty is improper. Explanation required as to fees taken by Judge of Vice Admiralty Court. No impropriety observed in Clerk of Crown being Legislative Councillor. Information desired as to why the duties of Master in Chancery, resident in province, are performed by deputy. Formation of Audit Board of comparatively little importance, so long as duties of such board are properly discharged. Willingness expressed to meet reasonable views of Assembly on point.

Bathurst to Dalhousie. Acknowledging despatch No. 47, and confidential letter of June 10, the former transmitting reports of Executive Council on financial difficulties. Approbation expressed of course proposed for meeting Civil List of 1821, and of intention to submit estimate for 1822 to Assembly. As regards anticipated claim of Assembly for repayment of £73,000, expended by authority of Crown from unappropriated Provincial revenues, it is admitted Government were not justified in taking this amount, otherwise than by the necessities of case. But the money was all paid out to make up deficiencies in Supplies. Furthermore, the attention of Legislature had been annually called to the fact, by regular submission to them of annual accounts of expenditure. The Government were entitled to assume acquiescence of Assembly in payments, particularly as they passed Act 59 Geo. III, cap. 25, to defray these very expenses. If Assembly should stand firmly on their right to appropriate all monies required for public service, they might be reached in another way. During the war Home Government expended upon Lower Canada amounts totalling much more than £73,000 for purely local purposes. Let it be proposed to set off claim that might be rightfully made by Home Government against the £73,000 claimed by Assembly. This point to be used only when other fails. As regards future supplies for Civil List, every effort should be made to induce Assembly to grant them. If they would agree to complete amount furnished from Crown revenues it would be satisfactory. As regards items to which Assembly objects for various reasons, reference is made to despatch of 10 instant. Should all plans fail owing to disposition of Assembly, Governor's attitude to be determined by circumstances as they appear.

Bathurst to Dalhousie. Acknowledging despatch of March 26 with address of Assembly, praying for settlement of conflicting claims of censitaires of Lasalle seigniory and land holders in township of Sherrington. Case of censitaires claims strong sympathy of King. The legal rights of patentees cannot however be set aside if established before Courts. Whether patentees have rights, and this is denied, must be determined judicially. The only modes of settlement, supposing these claims to remain undetermined, would be by Legislative enactment or negotiation between parties. Crown would willingly give patentees other lands of equal extent in another part of province, though it would not grant further compensation.

Wilmot to Dalhousie. With reference to private letter respecting Crown and Clergy Reserves and impediments they offer to improvement. Colonial Secretary desires full report on subject. Instruction repeated that no grant be made without such conditions as regards cultivation, as will leave resumption of grant without difficulty in case of non-fulfilment. Conditions should be reasonable. Report should state means by which resumption could be effected, as statement was made that this was more expensive than value of land. Respecting Clergy Reserves, Bishop of Quebec should be consulted as to measures by which revenues might be immediately available for defraying expense of clergy, and even for repaying sums taken for that purpose from Treasury. Perusal is suggested of Bouchette's account of Lower Canada.

Wilmot Horton to Dalhousie. Enclosing, unofficially, memo. on subject of Governor's letter of April 28, relative to state of Receiver General's chest, and requesting that, as an official instruction could not be then sent, founded on minute, action be taken in spirit of minute. Caldwell to be treated as leniently as interests of public will permit. Objectionable character of arrangement by which part of salary is made up, by allowing profit to be made out of use of balances. Statement showing extent real balance in hands of Receiver General has varied from year to year. p. 213

Enclosure:—

July 14.

Memorandum signed E.S. on subject of Dalhousie's letter of April 28. Receiver General's shortage was about £80,000. He admitted having used balances for private purposes. His salary—£400 a year—was totally inadequate to responsibilities. He was not allowed, as was case in Upper Canada, any percentage on receipts and payments, therefore part of balances retained were probably considered by him as part of remuneration. It would be extremely unfair to call upon him all at once to make good whole amount, and he should have due notice of intentions of Government. But every possible precaution should be taken against shortage being ultimately lost to public. Adequate security should be taken for total amount, which might be gradually liquidated. Legislature should be called upon to establish different mode of remuneration of Receiver General's services. In the mean time aid should be given to colonial services from Military chest, and adjustment made of accounts between Imperial and Colonial Treasury. p. 215

Bathurst to Dalhousie. Acknowledging letter of Feb. 22, with copies of letters from ministers of Scotch Church at Quebec and Lochiel. Justice of many remarks in letters admitted, but no funds available. If such existed, clergy of Church of England would have

Wilmot Horton to Dalhousie. Respecting situation arising from bankruptcy of Caldwell, Receiver General. Hope expressed that measures have been taken to mitigate calamity to province; and that the £25,000 drawn from Military Chest in aid of Civil Government has all been duly appropriated. Report of Executive Council transmitted in despatch of April 28, so conclusive of impossibility of maintaining claim of £25,000 against province for interest on Army Bills that no objection will be made to withdrawal from Military Chest to amount of £32,000 or whatever less sum may be found due to province and against which no real claims on part of H.M.'s Government exist. Object of payment will be to replace any sums taken from Colonial funds, the legality of which cannot be maintained. The authority for withdrawal is limited to amount of real balance. to several sources of revenue paid to Receiver General, distinguishing those collected under Imperial acts from those under Provincial acts, and noting sums which may be paid without previous appropriation by Provincial Legislature. As it appeared that use of public money was recognized emolument of Receiver General, it would be inexpedient to use harsh measures with Receiver General, but practice is so objectionable that it should be discontinued. (Dalhousie notes in margin "it does not appear to have been recognized.") If Caldwell can furnish ample security for gradual repayment of deficit and for future administration of Provincial funds, he should be allowed to continue; if not, he should be immediately suspended, and every measure necessary taken to secure his property to the public. Legislature should be informed of advantage of providing adequate salary to Receiver General, and his accounts audited at least quarterly.

Bathurst to Burton. With reference to despatch of Dec. 19, 1823, with address of Assembly relative to reimbursement to Province of monies levied under Imperial Act 51 Geo. III, cap. 97, which have been remitted to England, Law Officers point out that by 4 Geo. III cap. 15 a duty of £7 per tun was imposed upon wine imported into a colony direct, but by same act only 10 shillings per tun was imposed on wine imported from Great Britain. By 51 Geo. III cap. 97 wines produced in any part of Europe south of Cape Finisterre may lawfully be imported into Canada. Such wine if imported direct under 4 Geo. III would be liable to £7 per tun duty, but by 3rd section of 51 Geo. III cap. 97 it is provided that these wines if imported direct are subject to no higher duties than if imported from Great Britain.
The consequence is that 51 Geo. IV does not create a new duty but simply lowers an old one, and therefore the stipulations of 31 Geo.
III, cap. 31 do not apply. p. 143

Jan. 8. Bathurst to Burton. Stating conclusions of Treasury on papers respecting defalcations of Receiver General Caldwell. They do not see that adequate security has been offered, and are of opinion he should not be restored to office, and that Governor should take necessary steps towards securing whole possessions of Caldwell, available for liquidating his debt. His claim to count among assets £45,471 9 3 as due by Legislature for his own and father's services wholly illusory. With respect to property described in schedule as of estimated value of £105,500, it appears that this was subject to entail from father to son. Legal advisers having pronounced entail informal, and as part of deficiency was passed on from father to son, when latter succeeded to office, it is suggested that steps should be taken to set aside entail, which seemed to have been attached in attempt to deprive public from recourse to property. Instructions are now given to take necessary steps to secure whole of property for purpose of recovery of deficiency. Authority issued to make such advances from Military Chest as are indispensable for carrying on public service. p. 5

Burton's explanation is that he supposed himself entitled to such proportion of Governor's salary as would increase his emoluments to £4500 per annum. Intention of Colonial Secretary in all such future cases, is to direct payment to Lieut. Governor of £2000 per annum from Governor's salary, or, if administration is by member of Executive Council, of one half Governor's salary and emoluments. From good disposition of Assembly towards Burton it seems they will vote full years salary of £2500 to him. Assembly might also be asked to vote £1805-8-7 as compensation for extra expenses. His salary of £1500 will be paid from permanent revenue of Crown. Downing St.,

Bathurst to Burton. Acknowledging despatches of March 24 and 30, stating that the differences long subsisting between Legislative bodies on financial matters have been amicably settled, and that Assembly acknowledged right of Crown to dispose of revenues from 14 Geo. III. Regret expressed that arrangement is in no way satisfactory, as special instructions in despatches of Sept. 11, 1820 and Sept. 13, 1821, imposing duty of refusing all arrangements compromising in any degree integrity of Permanent Revenue have been disregarded. Estimate submitted by Executive to Assembly made no distinction between expenditure chargeable on Permanent Revenue and that which remained to be provided for by Provincial acts. Estimate was given at £65,000 stg. of which Assembly voted £58,074 as "amount of votes" and £3,537 specially provided for by Provincial acts, and rejected items to amount of £3,390. The Permanent Revenue, disposable by the Crown, was pledged by Assembly together with Colonial Revenue as provision for expenses of year. Consequently, Permanent Revenue would not be applied for payment of such expenses as Government deem fit, but for payment of whatever expenses Assembly may think necessary, no means being left for liquidation of expenses formerly carried on King's revenues, many of which were rejected by Assembly. Appropriation of King's Revenue will be laid before Assembly for information and guidance, enabling them to see what still remains to be provided for. As for items rejected by Assembly, instructions will be given respecting them. Bill being for one year only, it will not be disallowed, but instructions will be given not to sanction any of similar nature.

Doctor's Commons,
Sept. 23.

C. Robinson, C. Wetherall, N. C. Tindal to Bathurst. Report upon Dalhousie's despatch respecting form of appointment of Roman Catholic Bishop, owing to death of Bishop de Plessis. The appointments, as Dalhousie states, had hitherto been made by adopting with Royal approbation, coadjutor of bishop, nominated cum futura successione and consecrated in Canada under authority of Pope's bull. Doubts having been raised whether this was in conformity with terms of Quebec Act (14 Geo. III. cap. 83), and 1 Eliz. cap. 1, Dalhousie recommended that late coadjutor who had been already consecrated should be appointed Bishop by Letters Patent under Provincial seal in obedience to Royal mandamus. Counsel's opinion was that appointment could not be made in mode suggested by Dalhousie. Appointment by that mode would be, by necessary implication, in derogation and virtually in alienation of King's supremacy. p. 201

Downing St.,
Oct. 23.

Bathurst to Dalhousie. Respecting his urgent representations as to necessity of procuring authority of Treasury for application of revenue arising from 14 Geo. III. cap. 88. Fully concurring in this necessity, salary list submitted by Dalhousie was divided into four groups, entitled A. B. C. and D. corresponding to order in which they stand, in several branches of income derived from 14 Geo. III. cap. 83, the aid of £5000 granted by Provincial Legislature in 1795, and Casual and Territorial Revenue. Lists A.B. C. are provided for from these sources. Schedules thus prepared were submitted to Treasury, a letter from which is enclosed with warrants for class A. Those for classes B. and C. are in course of preparation. Treasury can give no directions respecting class D. as they know of no fund out of which the same can be paid. p. 208

Horton to Dalhousie. (Private.) An exposition of relations of Receiver General to province. Sewell had drawn up argument for Provincial Legislature, in which he contended that, as they had no control over Receiver General and had no hand in fixing his securities they ought not to suffer from his defalcation. The answer was that the argument left the King out of the question. He was as much interested, theoretically, in revenues of Lower Canada as in those of Great Britain. He appointed revenue officers in Great Britain, and the British Parliament had no more control over such officers than Legislature of Lower Canada. The default of such officer in Great Britain would fall upon Kingdom, and so it must in Caldwell's case fall upon province. If Legislature were dissatisfied with conduct or securities of Receiver General, they might have addressed Crown on subject. Caldwell's contention based on inadequacy of his and his father's salary, and their right to arrears had already been dealt with.

Jan. 1. Bathurst to Dalhousie. Stating that representations had been made that the great objection in colonies to charging the Customs Revenues with salaries of collectors, instead of paying them as formerly by fees, is that it places the charges of collection on colonies, and that the beneficiaries by this arrangement were the shipping interests in Great Britain. This was admittedly the case, and it was suggested that an unobjectionable mode of relieving Legislatures from the burden, which should be merely temporary, would be by laying a tonnage duty for that special purpose. But the duty should be moderate and there should be no discrimination against foreign ships. p. 2

"Your despatches of the 7 March and the 20 of April last, have been received and laid before The King. You acted perfectly right in giving your consent to the Welland Canal Bill; and the Prorogation of the Parliament was rendered indispensably necessary by the manifest hopelessness of any attempt on Your Excellency's part to induce them to carry through the Public business of the Colony.

I cannot but hope however that upon the reassembling of the Legislature its Members may be induced to take a more reasonable and moderate view of the points which have so long been in discussion between the Executive and Legislative Authorities, and which if left unsettled would end in throwing every thing into confusion. I entirely concur in what has been repeatedly stated in my Predecessor's correspondence with you, that it is impossible to admit the pretension set up by the Legislative Assembly of controlling by their Annual Votes, the dispositions of those Revenues which the Crown enjoys independent of their authority. It may indeed be competent to either House of the Legislature to Address the Crown either directly or through His Majesty's Representative in the Colony, against any specific appropriation of those Revenues, to which upon Public grounds they may object; and on the other hand, the Crown may if it thinks proper acquiesce in any Bill presented by the two Houses for limiting or regulating such an appropriation; but it cannot admit the claim of right which is brought forward by the House of Assembly of Lower Canada.

In the present state of things however, it is obvious that the greatest mischief may result from the want of a good understanding upon this subject, and it is of the utmost importance to devise some mode of settling this question, without compromise of principle or of dignity. The practice of this Country appears to furnish an analogy and a precedent which may be usefully applied to the case of Lower Canada.

The Civil List of the United Kingdom is granted to the Crown for the life of The King in lieu of His Hereditary Revenues, and the Act which grants it, 1 Geo. 4 cap divides into various classes the expenditure to be charged upon it assigning a specific Sum to each but authorizing the application at the end of each Year of the saving upon any one class to the excess upon any other. The Civil List being thus settled upon a fair principle of compromise, it appears to me that an arrangement upon this principle might be adopted with great advantage in Lower Canada.

The Assembly might be informed that it is His Majesty's desire to prevent any source of disunion upon this subject; and that His Majesty's Government is ready to propose to the Imperial Parliament to take steps (if any such should be found necessary) for placing at the disposal of the Assembly of Lower Canada all those Revenues which are now raised in the Province by virtue of any British Acts of Parliament and of which the Appropriation is not now under the control of the Colonial Legislature.

These Revenues would include all Customs duties imposed prior to 1791 whether remitted to England as is the case with some, or appropriated in the Province by the Governor under Treasury Warrants, as is the case with the larger proportion. There might also be included in the items proposed to be placed at the disposal of the Legislature whatever duties are now levied by way of Licences as well as a Sum to be hereafter settled on account of that portion of the Post Office Revenues which upon a fair consideration may be assumed to be the Annual average Surplus of the internal Postage of Lower Canada above the expenses of management and which is now remitted to England.

The total Amount of these different items may be estimated as follows:—

Duties levied under the 14 Geo. 3d cap. 88.. . . .	£ 21,750
Licences.. . . .	3,000
Fines and Forfeitures.. . . .	700
Permanent appropriation of 35 Geo. 3d Provincial.. . . .	5,000
Customs Duties remitted to England.. . . .	1,040
Surplus Postage remitted to England.. . . .	2,200
	£ 33,690

But it would not be unreasonable to assume that the increasing prosperity of the Colony, the development of whose resources is a constant subject of His Majesty's solicitude, would tend rapidly to augment the produce of these duties, which without any oversanguine view, might be presumed (independent of the permanent appropriation of £5,000) to average for the next ten years not less and probably more than thirty one Thousand Pounds per Annum; if therefore an arrangement were to be made whereby a fixed Sum should be granted for the Civil List of the Colony for ten years, in lieu of the abovementioned duties and of the Five thousand Pounds now permanently appropriated by the Colonial Act 35 Geo. 3d, An Annual payment of Thirty Six Thousand Pounds would be the equivalent which His Majesty's Government are of opinion might be fairly asked from the Legislature; I flatter myself that this would constitute a Civil List sufficient to defray the ordinary charges of the Civil Government of the Province;—the basis upon which the Amount of this charge may rest is to be found in the Warrants of the Treasury appropriating the Revenue now at the uncontrolled disposal of the Crown; and I inclose for your information and guidance a scheme of appropriation, which you may lay before the Assembly and which as far as regards its general results may be incorporated into the Bill to be passed for carrying the arrangements into effect.

It would perhaps facilitate the execution of this purpose if I transmit to you in due time the draft of a Bill which with such modifications as yourself and the Law Officers of the Crown in the Colony may deem essential, may be fit to be submitted to the Legislature.

In submitting this proposition to the Assembly you will not fail to assure them that His Majesty has nothing more at heart than the permanent prosperity of His North American Provinces; and that His Majesty trusts that they will see in His Majesty's anxiety to settle satisfactorily the intricate question to which this dispatch refers, the same desire to consult their welfare which has induced him to direct His Government to propose, for many successive years, to the Imperial Parliament a great variety of measures calculated to relieve His Colonies from many onerous restrictions upon their intercourse with Foreign Countries and to encourage in the British Market the consumption of the staple Articles of their produce. His Majesty has had too many proofs of the Loyalty and attachment of His faithful subjects in Canada not to feel assured that they will readily cooperate with His Majesty in endeavouring to provide for the Civil Government of the Colony in a manner which without compromising His Majesty's Rights, may promote the interests and consult the feelings of His People."

"Your Lordship will perceive by my Dispatch No. 10 that I have not proposed to give up to the disposal of the Assembly any portion of that Revenue which is derived from the casual and territorial property of the Crown partly because it is at present of very uncertain (although I trust of increasing) value, and partly because I think it may be available for a purpose which I should not wish to leave to the fluctuating discretion of a popular Assembly, I mean the proper maintenance of the Protestant Clergy; the expence incident to such a charge must necessarily be uncertain in its amount & increasing with the increasing Population and wants of the Country; and although the sale of a portion of the Clergy Reserves authorized by the Act of the Imperial Parliament of the late Session may go some way towards it, it will undoubtedly be inadequate for some time to meet the whole expence; any resources therefore which can be derived from the landed property of the Crown not yet alienated, as well as from the Jesuits Estates & the Seigneral dues, may most beneficially be applied towards making up that deficiency; and it will have the additional advantage of relieving the Army Extraordinaries from the incongruous and inadmissible burthen of supporting the expences of the Protestant Church. The Revenue which may be expected to be annually derived from these sources may, I apprehend, be estimated as follows:

Rent of the King's Posts
 Rent of the King's Wharfs
 Rent of the Forges or Iron works of St. Maurice Seigneral dues vizt
 Droit de Quint

Rentes

Lots & Ventes..	£ 4,050
Average Receipt of Jesuits Estates..	1,700
Estimated net produce of Licences for cutting timber & Sale of Crown Lands..	3,000
	£ 8,750

Upon this Sum I propose to charge the following items of expenditure:

Salaries & allowances to Protestant Clergy as per Enclosure..	£ 5,150
Allowance to the Catholic Bishop..	1,000
Salary of the Auditor of Land Patents..	200
Clerk of the Terrars..	90
	£ 6,440

This Sum if deducted from the estimated receipt would leave £2,310 as a surplus applicable as circumstances may require to such purposes as may be directed from hence. But you will on no account direct the application of any part of such a surplus without my express authority, as it is of great importance to have in hand at all times a reserve fund capable of meeting any unforeseen charges; I allude particularly to any additional expence which the increasing population of the Country may render necessary for the administration of justice, the charge for which ought not to be left to the uncertainty of annual votes. It is also with a view to meet such a demand that I have proposed in the 4th Class of the Civil List a sum of £1,950 under the head of contingencies I trust therefore that either from that source, or from the surplus of the Crown Revenues referred to in this dispatch, that you will be in a condition to meet any such increased expenditure without being compelled to resort to the Legislature for a vote for that purpose. I very much wish that the amount of this item of Revenue had been such as to have enabled me to direct that the whole charge for the Protestant Clergy should be placed upon it, but if I had now directed that portion of it which is now defrayed out of the Parliamentary Grant to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel & which amounts to £2,700, to be thrown upon the Territorial Revenue of the Crown no surplus whatever would have remained.

You will observe that the execution of the arrangement directed in this dispatch is to be contingent upon the settlement of the Civil List question as pointed out in my dispatch No. 10. If unfortunately the Legislature should refuse to cooperate with you in carrying into effect that most important, & I trust beneficial measure, it will be necessary for His Majesty's Government to consider how far the total Revenue of the Crown can be made to bear the expence of the Civil Government."

"Your Dispatch No. 30 has been received & laid before the King. The subject to which it refers had required my early and most serious attention and my letter No. 10 was prepared and communicated to the Treasury before Your Lordship's of the 27th May reached this office. There is nothing in the Dispatch which I am now acknowledging, which induces me to depart from what I had previously thought advisable upon the important subject to which it relates.

It is however possible that notwithstanding His Majesty's anxious desire that a liberal and conciliatory proposition for regulating the Civil expenditure of Lower Canada, should be made to the Assembly, that Body may nevertheless think proper not only to reject the proposition which you are instructed to tender to them, but also to refuse to grant any supplies for even pressing services; It will therefore be convenient that the usual Warrants should be obtained from the Treasury; of course however these Warrants will not be used except in the contingency to which I have referred. Should you unfortunately fail in your endeavours to induce the Assembly to agree to the grant of a fixed civil List, I am nevertheless not without hopes that the Revenues within your reach will be sufficient to defray at least the most material of the charges of the Civil Government. Supposing that the duties now remitted to this Country and the net proceeds of the Post Office shall be placed at Your disposal by An Act of the British Legislature, you will then have at Your command the £33,677 which in my dispatch No. 10 it is proposed to give up to the Assembly together with the £8,750

Downing St.,

1827 alluded to in my dispatch No. 11 derived from the landed property of the Crown being in the whole £42,427 or in round numbers £42,000. The demands to be provided for by Treasury Warrants upon these resources, appear by Your Dispatch No. 30 to amount to £38,393 so that deducting that charge from the Estimate receipt £42,000 there will remain £3,607 applicable to some of the charges, such as the Salary to the Catholic Bishop which in my Dispatch No. 11 it is proposed to defray out of the Land revenue—This state of things will certainly not be so satisfactory as that which would result from the arrangement of a fixed Civil List, but it would, I trust, be so far equivalent to your most pressing wants as to shew to the Assembly that if they refuse to agree to an accommodation, you are not without resources upon which you can fall back—And if upon a more full revision of the Estimates which you have sent home, it should appear that some of the items may be either reduced or postponed, I am sanguine in my hopes that you may be enabled to meet all the difficulties in which the conduct of the Assembly may continue to involve Your Government.”

Huskisson to Dalhousie. (Circular.)

“I have the honour herewith to enclose for your information a Copy published by authority of an Order of His Majesty in Council dated on the 16 of July 1827 for regulating the Commercial intercourse between His Majesty's possessions abroad and Foreign Countries.

The great importance of this subject and the doubts in which it has from various Causes been involved induce me to enter into a full explanation of the objects & provisions of the present Order in Council.

You are aware that the Statute 6: Geo. IV. Cap. 114 for regulating the Trade of the British Possessions abroad not only consolidated into one Act the whole Statute Law respecting the trade of the British Colonies but established certain general regulations on this subject which till then had been unknown to the Law of England—the most important of those alterations is to be found in the 4th Clause of the Statute in question—that clause recognizes the general rule that every Foreign State in amity with the King may import its own produce in it's own Ships into any British Colony provided the importation be made directly from the Country to which the Ship belongs. It further recognizes the rule that such foreign ships may export from the British Colonies any goods to be carried to any part of the world. Such are the general principles. The Application of them to any particular Foreign State is declared to depend upon the fact of that State having fulfilled the prescribed conditions in favor of Grants to the Commerce and Navigation of this Country. The Statute however enables the King by Orders in Council to dispense with this obligation and to admit the Shipping of Foreign Countries which may not have in all respects complied with the prescribed conditions into the Trade of the British Colonies to any extent within the Limits prescribed by the Acts which His Majesty may deem expedient.

To this Enactment there were two objections which parliament has since found it necessary to obviate—First the right of any Foreign Country to engage in the British Colonial Trade, is made to depend upon a matter of fact—of which no Public Officer in the Colonies could have certain information neither the Governor nor the Collector of Customs had it in their power to ascertain the acceptance or rejection by a Foreign State of the Conditions prescribed by the Statute. Extreme difficulty therefore arose in the application of the rule. Secondly, the principle of Law recognized in the fourth Section of the Statute 6: Geo. IV. Cap 114 had the effect of rendering the trade of the British Colonies subject to the Legislation of Foreign Countries. For as the right of a Foreign State to engage in that Trade depended upon her acceptance of the prescribed conditions that acceptance might be declared at one time and withdrawn at another as the convenience of the Foreign State might dictate.

The Statute 7 Geo: IV. Cap 56 has been passed to amend the preceding Law in each of these particulars. In the 41st & 42nd Sections it enacts in substance that no Foreign State shall be taken to have fulfilled the prescribed conditions or to be entitled to engage in the British Colonial Trade until an order shall be made by the King in Council declaratory of the fact that those conditions have been fulfilled; It further enacts that no Foreign State shall be deemed to have fulfilled the conditions or to be entitled to the privileges already mentioned unless those conditions were in all respects fulfilled on or before the 5 of July 1826. In this last Act however Parliament has expressly reserved to the King every power of relaxing the rule which His Majesty possessed under the first Act.

The Law therefore at present may be stated as follows—A Foreign Ship may import from the Country to which it belongs goods the produce of that Country into any British Colony, and may export from that Colony any goods to any part of the world. But this privilege depends upon the fact whether such foreign Country had before the 5th of July 1826 granted to the Commerce and navigation of this Country the advantages required by the Statute 6 Geo. IV. Cap. 114 Sec: 4 His Majesty in Council has however the power of granting the whole or any part of these privileges to the ships of a Country which has not altogether complied with the proffered conditions—and finally no foreign Country is to be deemed to have fulfilled the conditions or to be entitled to the privileges in question or any of them until an Order in Council has been passed in its favor.

The Order in Council of the 16 of July 1827 which I have the honour to enclose has been framed in pursuance of these Statutes and in order to carry them into full effect.

Before I proceed to explain the provisions of this Order it is proper that I should revert to the measures which were Adopted by His Majesty in Council in the interval between the enactment of the first and the second Statutes to which I have referred this is the more necessary because you will perceive that Parliament has expressly declared that the last Act shall not have the effect of annulling any intermediate Order in Council.

Shortly after the passing of the Statute 6 Geo: 4 Cap 114 The Government of Prussia placed the Trade of this Kingdom upon the footing of the most favored Nation & the Minister from that Court solicited the formal recognition of the right of Prussian Ships to engage in the British Colonial Trade. Accordingly on the 3rd May 1826 an Order in Council was made declaratory of that right.

The Government of France did not deem it proper to accept the conditions upon which the Admission of French Ships into the British Colonial Trade was made to depend. Yet as that Government made some partial concessions in favor of British Commerce with the Colonies of France an order of His Majesty in Council was passed on the 1st of June 1826 permitting the importation into the British Possessions in the West Indies & America in French Vessels of various goods the produce of the dominions of the King of France—in the enumeration of those goods were specified all articles subject on importation to a duty ad valorem of £7 10s per cent.

It will however be perceived that an ad valorem duty of £7-10- was payable on wine imported in bottles—an article the importation of which in French Ships was not contemplated by the King in Council.

Shortly after the promulgation of the last mentioned order a doubt arose whether it extended to the Island of Mauritius.

The Act of Parliament having placed that Island precisely on the footing of a West India Colony, it was supposed that the order in Council would extend to Mauritius altho' the British Possessions in the West Indies and America only were expressly mentioned. To settle this doubt another Order in Council was made on the 16 Decr. 1826 by which the order of the preceding June was expressly extended to Mauritius. In order to prevent any misconception on the subject of wine it was by the last Order expressly declared that that article might not be imported by French Ships either into the "Mauritius" or into any British Colony in the West Indies or America. The Legislature of the United States of America after deliberation omitted to fulfill the conditions upon which Parliament had opened the trade of the British Colonies to Foreign Countries. Ships of those States had however been in the habit of trading directly with the British Colonies under the provisions of the Statutes 3rd Geo. 4. 44 and 45. His Majesty therefore did not deem it proper that the prohibition consequent upon the non compliance of the conditions prescribed by the Statute 6 Geo. 4 Cap 114 should be at once and abruptly enforced. On the contrary he was pleased by an Order in Council on the 27 of July 1826—to grant to the Ships of the United States the whole of the privileges in question in their intercourse with His Majesty's possessions on the Continent of North America. By the same Order in Council His Majesty also conceded to the Ships of those States the same privileges in their intercourse with the other British Colonies fixing however a period with reference to each Colony at which the enjoyment of those Privileges should cease the most distant of those periods has now elapsed and the Vessels of the United States of America are no longer entitled to import goods into any of His Majesty's Colonies with the exception of the North American Provinces.

Such were the successive Orders in Council which were made between the enactment of the first and the second of the recent Statutes—it remains for me to state what are the objects & what the provisions of the Order in Council which I now enclose.

It has been thought convenient in passing the present order to bring into one point of view all the Orders in Council to which I have already adverted. Accordingly after a preamble in which they are all recited the present Order proceeds to Confirm them and declares that they are to continue in full force and effect. This declaration may not perhaps have been strictly and absolutely necessary but it was thought convenient to introduce it the better to obviate any misconception on the subject.

The Order in Council then proceeds to declare that the Conditions prescribed by the 1st Statute 6 Geo. 4th Cap. 114 have been completely fulfilled by the Governments of Hanover, Sweden, the Duchy of Oldenburgh the Hanseatic republics, and by the State of Columbia, the United Provinces of Rio de La Plata and the United States of Mexico. The ships of each of these Governments are therefore declared entitled to all the privileges mentioned in the Statute without any exception or qualification.

The same privileges have been extended to the Ships of Russia in pursuance of the Special authority vested in His Majesty by the Act of Parliament. The Commercial intercourse of the Cape of Good Hope, Mauritius, Ceylon, New South Wales, and Van Diemen's Land with the Foreign Territories within the limits of the East India Company's Charter has stood since the first acquisition of those Colonies by Great Britain upon a footing peculiar to itself. Under various successive Statutes, Orders of the King in Council and Local Ordinances, the Ships of all the Territories within the Company's Charter have at all times been permitted to carry the produce of their own Countries to any of the five Eastern Colonies. This intercourse is also expressly permitted by the terms of the present Order in Council. But in their commercial Relations with Foreign States in Europe and America those Colonies are subjected by this Order to the same Regulations as the West Indian and American Colonies.

To obviate any doubts which might have otherwise arisen it is declared that this Order in Council does not take away or diminish any privilege which under any existing Law, any of the five Eastern Colonies enjoy in their intercourse with the Territories within the limits of the East India Company's Charter. This provision may perhaps not have been absolutely necessary, since I am not aware that any privileges exist upon the subject more extensive than those which the Order grants in direct and express terms.

Having established these Rules, it has also been thought convenient to declare, that no Foreign Ship can lawfully import into any British Colony, any goods except so far as the right of the Colony to which the Ship may belong is expressly recognized in the Order in Council. This clause is not to be understood as a prohibition or restraint upon Trade, but only as explanatory of the existing state of the Law.

You will perceive that a saving is made of all subsisting Treaties between His Majesty and any Foreign State. This is introduced chiefly with a view to His Majesty's Dominions in Europe beyond the limits of the United Kingdom. I am not aware of any Treaty which would prevent the strict execution of the present Order in Council in every other part of His Majesty's Foreign Possessions.

Malta and Gibraltar are indeed expressly excepted from the operation of the Order, because their local situation and peculiar circumstances place them beyond the reach of the general principles of Trade which apply to the other Foreign Possessions of the Crown.

It is scarcely necessary to remark that the Order in Council cannot be understood as contravening in any respect the Provisions of the Statute under the authority of which it is issued. Nothing can be imported under the Order of which the importation is prohibited by the Statute, and all goods imported into the American and West Indian Colonies and into Mauritius will be liable to the duties imposed by the Ninth Section of the Act of Parliament 6 Geo: 4 Cap 114 and the twenty ninth Section of the 7th & 8th Geo. 4. C. 56. In the other Colonies whatever Duties are at present chargeable by Law will continue to be levied.

Upon receiving this Dispatch you will without delay cause the present Order in Council to be published and proclaimed throughout your Government in the usual and most authentic form." p. 220

"At the Court at Windsor, the 16th day of July 1827,

PRESENT,

THE KING'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by a certain Act of Parliament, passed in the sixth year of the reign of His present Majesty, intituled "An Act to regulate the trade of the British possessions abroad," after reciting, that "by the Law of Navigation foreign ships are permitted to import into any of the British possessions abroad, from the countries to which they belong, goods, the produce of those countries, and to export goods from such possessions to be carried to any foreign country whatever, and that it is expedient that such permission should be subject to certain conditions," it is enacted, "that the privileges thereby granted to foreign ships shall be limited to the ships of those countries which, having colonial possessions, shall grant the like privileges of trading with those possessions to British ships, or which, not having colonial possessions, shall place the commerce and navigation of this country, and of its possessions abroad, upon the footing of the most favoured nation, unless His Majesty, by His Order in Council, shall in any case deem it expedient to grant the whole or any of such privileges to the ships of any foreign country, although the conditions aforesaid shall not in all respects be fulfilled by such foreign country."

And whereas by an Order of His Majesty in Council, bearing date the third day of May one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, after reciting, that within the dominions of His Majesty the King of Prussia, the commerce and navigation of this country, and of its possessions abroad, have been placed upon the footing of the most favoured nation, His Majesty was pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to declare, that the ships of and belonging to the dominions of His Majesty the King of Prussia were entitled to the privileges so granted as aforesaid by the Law of Navigation, and might import from such the dominions of His Majesty the King of Prussia, into any of the British possessions abroad, goods, the produce of such dominions, and might export goods from such British possessions abroad to be carried to any foreign country whatever:

And whereas by an Order of His Majesty in Council, bearing date the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, after reciting, that the conditions mentioned and referred to in and by the said Act of Parliament, had not in all respects been fulfilled by the Government of France, but that, nevertheless, His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, did deem it expedient to grant certain of the privileges aforesaid to the ships of France; His Majesty did therefore, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, and in pursuance and exercise of the powers and authority in him vested by the said Act of Parliament, declare and grant, that it should and might be lawful for French ships to import into any of the British possessions in the West Indies and America, from the dominions of His Most Christian Majesty, such goods, being the produce of those dominions, as were mentioned and enumerated in the table subjoined to the said Order, and to export goods from such British possessions to be carried to any foreign country whatever; and the table referred to in the said Order was as follows, that is to say: wheat, flour, biscuit, bread, meal, peas, beans, rye, callavances, oats, barley, Indian corn, rice, shingles, red oak staves or headings, wood, lumber, wood hoops, live stock, hay and straw, coin and bullion, diamonds, salt, fruit and vegetables fresh, cotton wool, and all articles subject on importation to a duty ad valorem, on which articles the amount of such duty should not at the time of importation exceed seven pounds ten shillings for every hundred pounds of the value of the same:

And whereas by an Order in Council, bearing date the sixteenth of December one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, after reciting the said last-mentioned Order of the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, His Majesty, by and with the advice aforesaid, and in pursuance and exercise of the powers and authority in him vested by the said Act, did declare and grant, that it should be lawful for French ships to import into the island of Mauritius, from the dominions of His Most Christian Majesty, such goods, being the produce of those dominions, as are mentioned and enumerated in the table subjoined to the said Order in Council of the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six and for the prevention of any doubts respecting the true meaning and effect of the said Order in Council of the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, and of the said Order of the sixteenth day of December one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, His Majesty was further pleased to order and declare, that neither the said Order in Council of the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, nor the said Order of the sixteenth day of December one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, should extend, or be construed to extend, to authorise the importation by French ships into any of the British possessions in the West Indies and America, or into the island of Mauritius, from the dominions of His Most Christian Majesty, of any wine, being the produce of those dominions:

And whereas by an Order in Council, bearing date the twenty-seventh day of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, after reciting, that the conditions mentioned and referred to in the said Act of Parliament had not in all respects been fulfilled by the Government of the United States of America, and that, therefore, the privileges so granted as aforesaid by the Law of Navigation to foreign ships could not lawfully be exercised or enjoyed by the ships of the United States aforesaid, unless His Majesty, by His Order in Council, should grant the whole or any of such privileges to the ships of the United States aforesaid, and that His Majesty did deem it expedient to grant to the ships of the said United States such of the said privileges as were thereafter mentioned, His Majesty did, with the advice of His Privy Council, and in pursuance and exercise of the powers and authorities in him vested by the said Act of Parliament, declare and grant, that it was and should be lawful for the ships of the United States aforesaid to import into any of the British possessions abroad, from the said United States, goods, the produce of the United States aforesaid, and not enumerated in the table of prohibitions and restrictions in the said Act contained, and to export goods from such British possessions abroad to be carried to any foreign country whatever; provided always, that such goods so imported should be subject and liable to the payment of the duties imposed and made payable under and by virtue of the said Act of Parliament; provided also, and His Majesty did further, with the advice aforesaid, declare, that the privileges so granted as aforesaid to the ships of the United States, so far as respected the British possessions in the West Indies and on the Continent of South America, and so far as respected the Bahama Islands and the Bermuda or Somer Islands, and so far as respected His Majesty's settlements in the island of Newfoundland and the several islands belonging to and dependent on those settlements, should absolutely cease and determine upon and from the first day of December in the year one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six; and it was further provided, and His Majesty did further, with the advice aforesaid, declare, that the privileges so granted as aforesaid to the ships of the United States, so far as respected the British possessions on the Western Coast of Africa, should absolutely cease and determine upon and from the said first day of December one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six; and it was further provided, and His Majesty, with the advice aforesaid, did further declare, that the privileges so granted as aforesaid to the ships of the said United States, so far as respected the colony of the Cape of Good Hope and the islands, settlements, and territories belonging thereto and dependent thereupon, and so far as respected the island of Mauritius and the several islands and territories belonging thereto or dependent thereupon, and so far as respected the island of Ceylon and the several islands and territories belonging thereto and dependent thereupon, should absolutely cease and determine upon and from the first day of March in the year one thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven; and it was further provided, and His Majesty did, with the advice aforesaid, declare, that the privileges so granted as aforesaid to the ships of the said United States, so far as respected His Majesty's settlements in the island of New Holland and the several islands and territories belonging thereto and dependent thereupon, and so far as respected the island of Van Dieman's Land and the several islands and territories belonging thereto and dependent thereupon, should absolutely cease and determine upon and from the first day of May one thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven; and it was thereby provided, that nothing therein contained should extend, or should be construed to extend, to infringe or interfere with the Convention of Commerce and Navigation concluded between His late Majesty King George the Third and the United States of America, bearing date the third day of July one thousand eight hundred and fifteen, or the further Convention of Commerce and Navigation concluded between His said late Majesty and the United States of America, bearing date the twentieth day of October one thousand eight hundred and eighteen; or to prevent ships of the said United States from importing into any of the British possessions in Europe, or from exporting from such British possessions in Europe, any goods which under or by virtue of the said Convention, or either of them, or of the several Acts of Parliament made for carrying such Conventions into effect, could or might be lawfully imported into or exported from such British possessions:

And whereas by An Act, passed in the seventh and eighth years of His present Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to amend the laws relating to the Customs," after reciting or taking notice of the said Act so passed as aforesaid in the sixth year of His Majesty's reign, and after reciting that unless some period were limited for the fulfilment by foreign countries of the conditions mentioned and referred to in the said recited Act, the trade and navigation of the United Kingdom and of the British possessions abroad, could not be regulated by fixed and certain rules, but would continue subject to changes dependent upon the laws from time to time made in such foreign countries; it is therefore enacted, that no foreign country shall hereafter be deemed to have fulfilled the conditions so prescribed as aforesaid in and by the said Act, as to be entitled to the privileges therein mentioned, unless such foreign country had in all respects fulfilled those conditions within twelve months next after the passing of the said Act, that is to say, on or before the fifth day of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six; and for the better ascertaining what particular foreign countries are permitted by law to exercise and enjoy the said privileges, it is further enacted, that no foreign country shall hereafter be deemed to have fulfilled the beforementioned conditions, or to be entitled to the privileges aforesaid, unless and until His Majesty shall by some Order or Orders to be by him made, by the advice of His Privy Council, have declared that such foreign country hath so fulfilled the said conditions, and is entitled to the said privileges; provided always, and it is thereby declared and enacted, that nothing therein contained, extends, or shall be construed to extend to make void or annul any Order or Orders in Council theretofore issued, under the authority or in the pursuance of the said recited Act, or to take away or abridge the powers vested in His Majesty in and by the said Act, or any of those powers, any thing therein contained to the contrary in anywise notwithstanding:

And whereas it is expedient that, in pursuance of the powers vested in His Majesty in and by the said recited Acts of Parliament, His Majesty should declare what Foreign Powers have fulfilled the before mentioned conditions, and are entitled to the privileges aforesaid, His Majesty therefore, in pursuance and exercise of the powers vested in him in and by the said Acts of Parliament, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, is pleased to order and declare that the several Orders in Council, bearing date respectively the third day of May one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, the sixteenth day of December one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, and the twenty-seventh day of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, hereinbefore respectively recited, shall be, and the same are hereby, confirmed and continued in full force and effect; and His Majesty doth further, in pursuance and exercise of the powers aforesaid, and with the advice aforesaid, declare and grant that it shall be lawful for French ships to import into the British possessions on the western coast of Africa, and into the colony of the Cape of Good Hope, and into the island of Ceylon, and into His Majesty's settlements in the island of New Holland, and into the island of Van Dieman's Land, and into the several islands and territories dependent upon and belonging to the several settlements or colonies aforesaid, from the dominions of His Most Christian Majesty, such goods being the produce of those dominions, as are mentioned and enumerated or referred to in the table subjoined to the said Order in Council of the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six. And in further pursuance of the powers vested in His Majesty, in and by the said Acts of Parliament so passed as aforesaid in the seventh and eighth years of His Majesty's reign, His Majesty, with the advice aforesaid, is further pleased to declare that the conditions mentioned and prescribed in and by the said Act so passed as aforesaid in the sixth year of His Majesty's reign, have in all respects been fulfilled by the Government of His Majesty as King of Hanover, and by the Government of His Majesty the King of Sweden and Norway, and by the Government of His Serene Highness the Duke of Oldenburgh, and by the Free Hanseatic Republics of Lubeck, Bremen, and Hamburg, and by the State of Colombia, and by the United Provinces of Rio de la Plata, and by the United States of Mexico: and His Majesty is further pleased to declare that the ships of and belonging to the dominions of His Majesty as King of Hanover, or of His Majesty the King of Sweden and Norway, or of His Serene Highness the Duke of Oldenburgh, or of the Free Hanseatic Republics of Lubeck, Bremen, and Hamburg, or of the State of Colombia, or of the United Provinces of Rio de la Plata, of the United States of Mexico, are entitled to the privileges so granted as aforesaid by the Law of Navigation, and may respectively import from such the dominions to which they respectively belong into the British possessions abroad, goods, the produce of such dominions respectively, and may export goods from the British possessions abroad, to be carried into any foreign country whatever:

And whereas His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, doth deem it expedient to grant the privileges aforesaid to the ships of the dominions of His Majesty the Emperor of All the Russias; His Majesty doth therefore, by the advice aforesaid, and in pursuance and exercise of the powers and authority in him vested by the said last recited Act of Parliament, declare and grant that it shall and may be lawful for Russian ships to import into any of the British possessions abroad, from the dominions of His Majesty the Emperor of All the Russias, goods, the produce of those dominions, and to export from such possessions, to be carried to any foreign country whatever; and His Majesty, by the advice aforesaid, is further pleased to declare and grant that it shall and may be lawful for ships of or belonging to any kingdom or state within the limits of the East India Company's charter, to import from the dominions to which they respectively belong, goods, the produce of such dominions, into the colony of the Cape of Good Hope, and into the island of Ceylon, and into the island of Mauritius, and into His Majesty's settlements in the island of New Holland, and in the island of Van Dieman's Land, and into the several islands and territories dependent upon and belonging to the several settlements or colonies aforesaid, and to export goods from such settlements or colonies, or their respective dependencies, to be carried into any foreign country whatever; provided always that nothing herein contained shall extend, or be construed to extend, to take away or abridge any power now vested in His Majesty's subjects in the last mentioned settlements or colonies, of trading with any kingdom or state, within the limits of the said Company's charter, and in further pursuance of the said Act of Parliament, His Majesty, by the advice aforesaid, doth declare that no foreign country is entitled to the privileges so granted as aforesaid by the Law of Navigation, other than and except the foreign countries hereinbefore particularly mentioned; and that no foreign ships can or may lawfully import into or export from any of the British possessions abroad, any goods, except so far as the right of such foreign countries to which such ships may belong is hereinbefore declared; provided always, that nothing herein contained, extends, or shall be construed to extend, to infringe or interfere with any Treaty or Convention subsisting between His Majesty and any Foreign State or Power; provided also, and it is further ordered and declared, that nothing herein, or in the said former Orders in Council, or any of them contained, extends, or shall be construed to extend, to His Majesty's garrison and territory at Gibraltar, or to the island of Malta, but that goods shall and may be imported into and exported from Gibraltar and Malta, in the same manner in all respects as though this present Order, or the said former Orders, had not been made:

And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, and the Right Honourable Viscount Goderich, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, are to give the necessary directions herein, as to them may respectively appertain.

IV, cap. 62, sec. 1, empowered Governor with consent of Executive Council to sell portion of Clergy Reserves, on terms and conditions prescribed by Colonial Secretary, and transmitting those instructions. Lands to be sold, alienation of which was authorized by this act. H.M. not being sufficiently informed as to local circumstances, left matter in hands of Governor and Council, a chief consideration being that lands to be first sold should be those which offer most serious obstacles to settlement. Advantageous prices, though important, must be regarded as subordinate to chief consideration. In every township, however, 300 or 400 acres must be reserved as glebe for Protestant clergyman. As it was necessary that there should be an officer to superintend sales, William Bowman Felton had been appointed, but if Executive Council should raise objections, the appointment should be suspended, and grounds of objection reported for H.M.'s decision. The rate of remuneration to this officer would be fixed by Governor and Council, who would issue general instructions for his guidance. Draft of general instructions to be submitted to Colonial Secretary. Draft would form basis of instructions to Lieutenant Governor. In mean time, sales to be proceeded with.

His request for six months leave of absence in order to defend his conduct could not be entertained. His appointment to position of commander in chief in India is best proof of confidence of H.M. in him. Besides that, the circumstances in Lower Canada required an immediate appointment to the governor generalship. His case had no analogy with that of Lord Charles Somerset which he cited. There had been no imputation cast either publicly or covertly, against Dalhousie's honor. The differences between Executive and other bodies have unquestionably impeded the improvement and prosperity of the provinces, and it was for that reason that the whole subject was remitted to a committee of House of Commons. Murray to Kempt. No. 1. Instructions on mode of administering government of Lower Canada.

"Your Excellency has been selected by The King to assume the Government of Lower Canada at a period of unusual difficulty and importance.

It would be invidious, and for my immediate purpose it is not necessary, to investigate the causes of that discontent which has unfortunately so strongly manifested itself of late years in the House of Assembly, but which, I am willing to hope, is not generally felt by the rest of His Majesty's Subjects in the Province. It is far more important to enquire by what means a good understanding can be reestablished between the different branches of the Legislature; and I am persuaded that no exertion will be spared by yourself to promote conciliation by measures in which the undoubted prerogatives of His Majesty, & the constitutional privileges of the House of Assembly will be equally respected.

His Majesty has received too many proofs of the loyalty & attachment of His Canadian Subjects, to doubt their cheerful concurrence in every effort which Your Excellency may make to reconcile those differences, which must always be produced when extreme rights are insisted upon by either party; and he looks forward with hope to a period when, by the return of tranquillity, the Legislative Council & Assembly will be able to bestow their undivided attention upon the best methods of advancing the prosperity & developing the resources of the extensive & valuable Territories comprised within Your Government.

As I feel it, however, to be necessary that Your Excellency should, as far as possible, be relieved from the responsibility attendant upon any measures to be adopted for the adjustment of the questions in controversy between the House of Assembly and your Predecessors in Office, it is the object of my present dispatch to communicate to you the views of His Majesty's Government upon different branches of this subject: & here it will be proper for me to remark, that as the complete settlement of the affairs of the Province cannot be effected but with the aid of Parliament, I shall confine myself at present to the discussion of those points alone which can no longer be left undecided without extreme disadvantage to the interest of the Province.

Among the most material of these points the first to be adverted to is, the proper disposal of the financial resources of the Country; and with the view of obviating all future misunderstanding on this subject, I shall endeavour to mark out the limits within which your interference in this matter ought properly to be confined.

The Acts of 1774, (14 Geo. 3, caps. 83 & 88) and of 1791, (31 Geo. 3, cap. 31.) upon which the present constitution of the Canadas depends, have laid down many general Rules which, I need scarcely remark, no authority but that of Parliament can relax. So long, therefore, as those Statutes remain in force, His Majesty's Government has no choice but to execute their Provisions, according to that interpretation which they have received from Judicial decisions, or from the official Reports of the Chief Law Officers of the Crown. I am precluded, therefore, for the present from enquiring how far it might be expedient that the duties raised under the Statute 14. Geo. 3. Cap. 88 should be directly controuled by the House of Assembly of the Province. The Law as interpreted by the highest authorities to which it has been possible to resort, imposes upon the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury the duty of making that appropriation.

The proceeds of the above mentioned duties, and of the Territorial Revenue of the Crown, with the produce of Fines, Forfeitures, & other incidents of that nature, appear to constitute, however, the only fund which His Majesty's Government can lawfully apply, at it's discretion, to the defraying the expences of the Civil Government, and those of the administration of Justice in the Province. It is, therefore, to be understood, for the future, as a fixed and unalterable principle, that with the exception of the Funds already mentioned, no part of the Public Revenue of Lower Canada must be applied to the Public Service, nor to any object whatever, except in pursuance of an Act of Appropriation passed by the three Branches of the Local Legislature.

I am by no means insensible to the consequence which must necessarily result from the recognition & the observance of this principle. So long as the Assembly is called upon to provide for, & to regulate any portion of the Public expenditure, it will virtually acquire a controul over the whole. If the entire charge of the Civil Government of the Province could be limited to the amount of the Crown Revenues, it might be possible to act without any dependence on the Assembly. But whether such a result would be desirable, or would be really conducive to the welfare of the Province at large, it is unnecessary for me to enquire. It is sufficient to say, that under the existing Law, the Executive Government of Lower Canada cannot be relieved from a state of virtual pecuniary dependence upon the Assembly by any Constitutional means, and methods of a different nature must not be resorted to.

By the existing state of things, the Government of Lower Canada is placed in this peculiar situation, that the appropriation of a part of the Revenue applicable to it's expences, is, by Act of Parliament, allotted to the Crown, which cannot divest itself of the duty imposed upon it by that Act, whilst, at the same time, a supplemental part of the Revenue of the Province, which is required to meet the expences of it's Civil Government, must be the result of a vote of the House of Assembly, and that House acquires necessarily, therefore, an indirect controul over the whole.

The expediency of extricating the Government of Lower Canada from this difficulty, as also the means of effecting that object, should it be deemed advisable, is a matter for the discussion of Parliament.

But it is necessary to adopt some immediate decision for your guidance in the approaching Session of the Provincial Assembly, with reference to this important matter. I should be most unwilling to leave you in the very painful predicament of addressing that body in terms which might be considered unsatisfactory, from the uncertainty which they held out as to the future, or which might seem to convey a reflection on the measures of your Predecessors in the Government. And, as it would be very difficult for you, uninformed as you at present are, as to the intentions of His Majesty's Government, to select any language which might not be open to misconstruction, I have deemed it most expedient to prepare & to transmit to you the Draft which I have the honor herewith to enclose, of an Address to be made by yourself to both branches of the Legislature upon the subject of the Revenue for the Current year. This document will sufficiently indicate to you the present views & intentions of His Majesty's Government upon this subject. Your Excellency will either incorporate this passage into your Speech at the opening of the Session, or you will make it the subject of a separate Address, as you may find most convenient. You will further consider yourself at perfect liberty to make all such alterations in the particular expressions of the enclosed paper as may be requisite for the correction of any errors as to matters of fact, into which I may possibly have fallen, adhering, however, to the general meaning & spirit of the language I have employed.

The complaints which have reached this Office respecting the inadequate Security given by the Receiver General, & by the Sheriffs, for the due application of Public money in their hands have not escaped the very serious attention of the Ministers of the Crown. The most effectual security against abuses of this nature would be to prevent the accumulation of balances in the hands of Public Accountants, by obliging them to exhibit their accounts to some competent authority at short intervals, and immediately to pay over the ascertained balance. The proof of having punctually performed this duty should be made the indispensable condition of their receiving their Salaries, and of their continuance in Office.

In the Colony of New South Wales, a regulation of this nature has been established under His Majesty's Instructions to the Governor of that Settlement, and it has been productive of great public convenience. If a similar practice were introduced in Lower Canada for the regulation of the Office of Receiver General, & for that of Sheriff, the only apparent difficulty would be to find a safe place of deposit for their balances. I am, however, authorized to state that the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury will hold themselves responsible to the Province for any sums which the Receiver General or Sheriff may pay over to the Commissary General. Your Excellency, therefore, will propose to the Legislative Council & Assembly the enactment of a Law binding these Officers to render Accounts of their receipts at short intervals, & to pay over the balances in their hands to the Commissary General, upon condition that that Officer shall be bound on demand to deliver Bills on His Majesty's Treasury for the amount of his receipts. I trust that in this proposal the Legislature will find a proof of the earnest desire of His Majesty's Government to provide, as far as may be practicable, an effectual remedy for every case of real grievance.

A doubt having been suggested whether the Statute for regulating the distribution between the Provinces of Upper & Lower Canada of the duties of Customs collected at the Port of Quebec, had not been inadvertently repealed by the general terms of a later Act, that question has been set at rest by the Act of the last Session of Parliament, Statute 9 Geo. 4. Cap. 76. Sec. 26. Upon this subject, however, Your Excellency will understand, that His Majesty's Government have no desire that the interference of Parliament should be perpetuated, if the Provincial Legislatures can themselves agree upon any plan for a division of these duties, which may appear to them more convenient & more equitable: And on the whole of this subject His Majesty's Government will be happy to receive such information & assistance as the Legislative Council & Assembly of the Province may be able to supply.

The appointment of an Agent to indicate the wishes of the Inhabitants of Lower Canada, is an object of great apparent solicitude with the House of Assembly. His Majesty's Government will cheerfully accede to the desire expressed by the House of Assembly upon this head. The Agent must be appointed as in Jamaica, & in other British Colonies, by name, in an Act to be passed by the Legislative Council & Assembly, & approved by Your Excellency. I am persuaded that the Legislature will not make such a selection as to impose upon you the painful & invidious duty of rejecting the Bill on the ground of any personal objection to the proposed Agent: & of course Your Excellency will not object to any Gentleman who will be resident in this Country, & whose station in society & established character may afford sufficient pledges for the honorable and upright discharge of his duty.

His Majesty's Government is further willing to consent to the abolition of the Office of Agent, as it is at present constituted; but it is trusted that the liberality of the House of Assembly will indemnify the present holder of this office, to whose conduct in that capacity no objection appears ever to have been made. Indeed, without some adequate indemnity being provided for him, it would not be compatible with justice to consent to the immediate abolition of his Office.

There are many other important topics connected with the Government of Lower Canada to which my attention has been called; with reference to which, however, it is impossible for the Ministers of the Crown to adopt an immediate decision, for want of sufficient information.

Among these subjects may be enumerated the mischiefs which are said to result from the system of tacit mortgages effected by a general acknowledgment of a debt before a Notary—the objectionable & expensive forms of Conveyancing said to be in use in the Townships—the necessity of a Registration of Deeds—and the want of proper Courts for the decision of causes arising in the Townships. It is obvious that Regulations affecting matters of this nature can be most effectually made by the Local Legislature. Your Excellency will, therefore, direct their attention to the subjects which I have mentioned, as matters which require their early and most serious attention; & you will afford every assistance in your power towards the elucidation of every question which may arise for discussion in the Legislature connected with any of these topics.

It is represented that the Statute 6 Geo. 4 Cap. 59 for the Mutation of Tenures has hitherto proved inoperative, in consequence of some deficiency in the instructions which were transmitted from this Office to your Predecessor in the Government. I have not been able to learn what is the defect complained of in those Instructions; but as the subject is of great importance, Your Excellency will report to me whether any and what instructions remain to be given on the subject of this Act which would facilitate the proposed change of Tenure—what are the obstacles which have hitherto prevented the success of the measure, & in what manner those obstacles can be most effectually surmounted—

I am very sensible of the great inconvenience which has been sustained owing to the large Tracts of Land which have been suffered to remain in a waste & unimproved condition, in consequence of the neglect or of the poverty of the Grantees. It were much to be desired that the Laws in force in Upper Canada, for levying a tax upon wild land on which the Settlement duties had not been performed, were adopted also in the Lower Province; & Your Excellency will press this subject upon the attention of the Legislative Council and Assembly with that view.

Great dissatisfaction appears to have been expressed at the manner in which the Revenue of the Estates of the suppressed Order of Jesuits has been applied. Upon this subject, however, I can procure no information sufficiently exact & copious to serve as the foundation for any definite opinion. Your Excellency will, therefore, have the goodness to report to me what is the extent & value of these Estates—what is the gross average Annual return from them—what are the deductions to which it is subject, & what is the average Nett income—and to what particular objects that income is applied. You will further report, what are the methods at present adopted for applying the Revenue towards the education of youth,—& whether by any change in those methods, the same end might not be answered more effectually, for the general benefit of the Province, & with more general approbation from the Inhabitants at large. It will be fit also to consider whether the Revenue itself might not be increased by a commutation of the Feudal Tenure, upon which, I apprehend the Land to be at present held.

The Constitution of the Legislative & Executive Councils is another subject which has undergone considerable discussion, but upon which His Majesty's Government must suspend their opinion until I shall have received some authentic information from Your Excellency. You will, therefore, have the goodness to report to me whether it would be expedient to make any alteration in the general constitution of those Bodies; & especially how far it would be desirable to introduce a larger proportion of Members not holding offices at the pleasure of the Crown; & if it should be considered desirable how far it may be practicable to find a sufficient number of persons of respectability of this description.

The next topic upon which I must request Your Excellency to furnish me with information, is that of the Clergy Reserves. You are, of course, aware of the warm discussions to which this subject has given rise in Upper Canada; & with a view to some general adjustment of this question, it is necessary that I should receive as complete information as can be obtained as to the extent & value of these Lands—the means of most effectually & speedily rendering them a source of profit—the real extent of the inconvenience to which, by their means, the settlers in their vicinity are exposed—the possibility of providing any equivalent & less objectionable mode of maintaining a Protestant Clergy—and the numerical proportion, as far as it can be ascertained, which the adherents of the Churches of England & Scotland respectively bear to each other, and to other denominations of Christians in the Province.

I have thus adverted in order to the various topics connected with the Government of Lower Canada, upon which I find that any dissension has recently arisen in that Province. One topic, indeed, more material than any other, may seem to have been omitted: I mean the inequality which appears to exist in the present system of representation, & the practical exclusion of the Inhabitants of the Townships from all share in the Legislation of the Province. This, however, is a subject on which I am unwilling to enlarge because, without the assistance of Parliament, no effectual remedy can be applied; & the present discussion of the question, while it would answer no useful purpose, might tend to excite those feelings which it is my earnest desire to allay. I confine myself, therefore, to desiring that Your Excellency will inform me what would be the best principle upon which, in your judgment, the Province of Lower Canada could be divided, for the purpose of representation, supposing that division were now, for the first time, to be made; & what would be the probable effect of introducing into Lower Canada the Law respecting Representation, which has been established in the Upper Province.

In concluding this despatch, I would wish to impress upon Your Excellency, & through you upon the Members of the Provincial Government, & more especially upon the Executive & Legislative Councils, the necessity of cultivating a spirit of conciliation towards the House of Assembly, & of terminating, if possible, those dissensions with which the Province has been so long agitated. The first step towards effecting this desirable object must be an oblivion of all past jealousies, & that step will, I trust, lead to a cordial concurrence in all measures calculated to advance the common good, in whatever quarter such measures may happen to originate. His Majesty relies, for the amicable adjustment of the various questions which have been so long in dispute, upon the loyalty & attachment hitherto evinced by His Canadian Subjects at large, & on that of their Representatives in the House of Assembly—upon the zeal and the upright intentions of the Members of Council, & upon your own wisdom & moderation, happily combined, also, with a long personal acquaintance with the Province which you have been appointed to govern. When the undivided attention of the Executive Government & Legislature shall be given to the advancement of the general interests of the Province, in a spirit of cordial cooperation, there is no reason to doubt that Lower Canada will rapidly advance in prosperity, & emulate ere long the most opulent & flourishing Provinces of the North American Continent.

p. 189

(Message to Legislature.)

"I am commanded by His Majesty to acquaint you that the discussions which have occurred for some years past between the different Branches of the Legislature of this Province, respecting the Appropriation of the Revenue, have engaged His Majesty's serious attention, and that He has directed careful enquiry to be made in what manner these Questions may be finally adjusted, with a due regard to the Prerogative of the Crown, as well as to Your Constitutional Privileges, and to the general Welfare of His Faithful Subjects in Lower Canada.

I have it further in Command to state that the Statutes passed in the 14th and 31st years of the Reign of His late Majesty have imposed upon the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury the Duty of appropriating the Produce of the Revenue granted to His Majesty by the first of those Statutes, and that whilst the law shall continue unaltered by the same authority by which it was passed, His Majesty is not authorized to place the Revenue under the direct control of the Legislature of this Province.

The Proceeds of the Revenue arising from the Act of the Imperial Parliament 14th Geo: 3, together with the Sum appropriated by the Provincial Statute 35 Geo. 3, and the duties levied under the Provincial Statutes 41 Geo: 3. Cap. 13 & 14 may be estimated for the current year at the sum of £

The produce of the Casual and Territorial Revenue of the Crown, and of Fines and Forfeitures may be estimated for the same period at the sum of £

These several Sums making together the Sum of £ constitute the whole Estimated Revenue arising in this Province which the Law has placed at the disposal of the Crown.

His Majesty has been pleased to direct that from this Collective Revenue of £ the Salary of the Officer administering the Government of the Province, and the Salaries of the Judges shall be defrayed: But His Majesty, being graciously disposed to mark in the strongest manner the confidence which he reposes in the liberality, and affection of His Faithful Commons of this Province, has been pleased to command me to announce to you that no farther appropriation of any part of this Revenue will be made, until I shall have been enabled to become acquainted with the Sentiments of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly of the Province, as to the most advantageous mode in which it can be applied to the Public Service; And it will be gratifying to His Majesty if the recommendation made to the Executive Government of the Province on this subject shall be such as it may be able with propriety, and with due attention to the Interests and the efficiency of His Majesty's Government to adopt.

His Majesty fully relies upon the liberality of His faithful Commons of Lower Canada to make such farther provision, as the exigencies of the Public Service of the Province (for which the amount of the Crown Revenues above mentioned may prove inadequate) may require.

The Balance of Money in the hands of the Receiver General, which is not placed by Law at the disposal of the Crown, must await the appropriation which it may be the pleasure of the Provincial Legislature to make.

I am further commanded to recommend to you the enactment of a Law for the Indemnity of any Persons who have heretofore, without legal authority, signed, or acted in obedience to Warrants, for the Appropriation to the Public Service, of any unappropriated Monies of this Province: and His Majesty anticipates that you will, by an acquiescence in this recommendation, shew that you cheerfully concur with Him in the efforts which he is now making for the establishment of a permanent good understanding between the different Branches of the Executive and Legislative Government.

The proposals which I have been instructed thus to make to you for the adjustment of the pecuniary affairs of the Province, are intended to meet the difficulties of the present year, and I trust they may be found effectual for that purpose.

His Majesty has however further commanded me to acquaint You that a scheme for the permanent Settlement of the Financial Concerns of Lower Canada is in contemplation, and His Majesty entertains no doubt of such a result being attainable as will prove conducive to the general Welfare of the Province and satisfactory to His faithful Canadian Subjects."

p. 219

Murray to Kempt. (Secret and confidential.) With reference to appointment of Speaker of Assembly. It is anticipated that Papineau will again be elected, and Governor's attitude will depend upon stand taken by Assembly. That body may refuse to present Papineau again on doctrine that they may appoint Speaker without reference to Governor. The theoretical right of Crown to approve a Speaker must not be surrendered. If Assembly should insist on extreme views, and it comes to be a question whether the Governor will yield to them or prorogue the Legislature, he will announce that he abstains from prorogation only in consideration for the general interests of the province, and will enter solemn protestation in favor of rights of Crown, and state that it will remain for H.M's Government in England to take such steps for the vindication of those rights as the case requires. It is expected, however, that conciliatory feelings will prevail, and in that case the Governor will accept choice of Assembly. Despatch No. 1 of same date was written with view to its communication to Assembly, either as it stands or in form considered best by Governor. The draft message accompanying despatch must in either event be made public.

Treasury could not authorize dollars to be received at higher rate than four shillings four pence, which exceeded their value at five shillings six pence per ounce of pure silver. Application from Halifax and New Brunswick to pay duties in doubloons may be allowed, doubloons to be taken in lieu of Spanish dollars, at prevailing rate of exchange, which at that moment was understood to be $15.50 per doubloon. Murray to Kempt. No. 12. Stating that, after consideration of despatches on Indian Department, he was of opinion that it would improve conditions if Department were divided in two, one for each province with superintendent under authority of governor or lieutenant-governor. Each would be independent of the other. It would also appear that Department had been conducted with too great expense. Report requested on these points. There was no intention of discontinuing presents, but consideration was requested as to whether agricultural implements would not be of advantage as presents, especially where, as among Six Nations, inclination was turning towards agriculture. Report also required as to sufficiency and efficiency of means for moral and religious instruction. Downing St.,

Murray to Kempt. No. 68. Notifying him of confirmation of act entitled "An Act to make a new and more convenient subdivision of the Province into Counties for the purpose of effecting a more equal representation thereof in the Assembly than heretofore". The act was viewed with satisfaction as manifestation of desire to conciliate inhabitants in Townships south of St. Lawrence, who had been practically excluded from Assembly. Criticism offered on ground of inequality in size of constituencies. If law unchanged, people in Townships could never enjoy representation proportionate to population and wealth. Equal division of constituencies in Upper Canada commended. These views to be communicated to Legislature, though no intention existed of inviting them to re-open question at present. Lartigue as Bishop of Montreal insuperable, notwithstanding his having acted in that capacity (without authority of Government) for some time. As regards desire of M. Girouard for establishment of seminary at St. Hyacinthe, legal objections very strong, but in his anxiety to enabling Roman Catholic clergy to understand footing on which stand their educational establishments, report requested of places in which were located schools both Catholic and Protestant, as well as public funds available or that might be available for educational purposes. Desirability of college at Montreal for youth of both Upper and Lower Canada, where Protestants and Catholics might be brought up under separate establishments. While matters in existing state, M. Murray to Kempt. (Separate and Confidential.)

"In my despatch of this date numbered 81, I have had the honour to convey to you such general Instructions as have appeared to me necessary for your guidance with reference to the Financial Questions in discussion between His Majesty's Government and the House of Assembly of the Province of Lower Canada.

Downing St.,
Oct. 8.

It is my object in this separate and confidential communication to supply you with some additional instructions on that subject, which could not, without much inconvenience, have been embodied in my public despatch.

In adverting to your acceptance of the Bill of Supply tendered to you by the House of Assembly, I have observed that the measure was not warranted by the terms of my despatch of the 29 of Sept. 1828; and I have intimated some doubts whether you would not have acted more judiciously had you rejected it. But although the general tenor of our official correspondence has imposed on me the necessity of making these observations (without which it would have been impossible to express myself consistently on the subject) I am anxious to relieve you from any apprehension you might be led to entertain that His Majesty's Government regard your conduct in this instance with disapprobation. They are entirely sensible of the difficulties of the situation in which you are placed, and they readily acknowledge that you could have pursued no course to which some well founded objection might not have been made, nor have they even been able entirely to satisfy their own minds that the rejection of this Bill would upon the whole have been the wiser course.

I fear it must be anticipated that, in their approaching Session, the Provincial Assembly, will pass a Bill similar in principle to that under consideration, and that it will again be necessary for you to decide on the acceptance or rejection of it. If that event should happen you will not withhold your Assent. In the present stage of this controversy, & after the concession of the last year, no practical advantage could arise from the rejection of such a Bill, sufficient to compensate for the many inconveniences to which that measure would immediately give rise. But until Parliament shall have amended the Law, it will be necessary to maintain, as far as possible, the principle which has been so long asserted, even at the moment of abandoning it in practice. If, therefore, the contingency which I contemplate should happen, you will, in assenting to the supposed Bill, signify to the House of Assembly, that you have no authority to pledge His Majesty's Government to the acceptance of it; and that His Majesty's prerogative to confirm or to disallow the Act will remain unfettered by any supposed obligation to the course adopted by yourself. Either in these terms, or in other language which may seem to yourself better calculated to convey the same meaning, you will (in the event contemplated) make a distinct, but temperate remonstrance against any further encroachment of the Assembly upon the right of the Crown to appropriate this Revenue.

Before any new Bill of supply can reach this Country, Parliament will, I trust, have relieved His Majesty's Government from the difficulties at present inseparable from this subject; & in that event any such Revenue Bill as you may transmit in the year 1830 may be silently allowed to have it's operation without any exertion of the Royal authority either to confirm or to disavow it." p. 381

"In my despatch No. 1 of the 29th of Sept. 1828, I had the honor to communicate to you such Instructions as His Majesty's Government at that time deemed necessary for your guidance respecting the Financial questions which have been so long a subject of discussion with the House of Assembly of Lower Canada. I then authorized you to acquaint the House that a scheme for the permanent settlement of the Financial concerns of the Province was in contemplation. Circumstances of general notoriety, to which it is needless to refer more particularly, interposed so as to defeat the purpose entertained by the Ministers of the Crown of proposing this plan to Parliament during their last Session; and, without the authority of Parliament, it would not be in the power of His Majesty to adopt those measures from which alone a permanent adjustment of the questions in dispute can be anticipated. In instructing you as to the course which it will be your duty to pursue in the approaching Session of the Provincial Assembly, I am, therefore, under the necessity of again resorting to a temporary expedient. But it is the fixed intention of His Majesty's Government to propose to Parliament at their next meeting the enactment of a Law which, it is hoped, will preclude further controversy, and remove every reasonable pretext for dissatisfaction upon this head.

The Bill to make further provision towards defraying the Civil expenditure of the Provincial Government, with the various explanations and illustrative documents transmitted with your despatch of the 25 March last, have engaged the serious attention of the Ministers of the Crown. You have anticipated the remark that in enacting this Law, the Legislative Council and Assembly have assumed to themselves a power which the Statute 14 Geo. 3. cap. 88. has vested exclusively in the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury. Under any ordinary circumstances, it would have been the evident duty of the Official Advisers of the Crown, humbly to recommend to His Majesty to disallow an Act directly at variance with a British Statute. But under the very peculiar circumstances of the present case, many considerations oppose the adoption of such a measure.

I am fully sensible of the difficulties of the situation in which you were placed, and I am aware that of the alternatives in your choice you could have adopted none which would not have been productive of some serious embarrassment. It is not, therefore, as an expression of censure that I remark, that in assenting to this Bill, you did not act in conformity with my Instructions of the 29th of Sept. 1828. But if I am not entirely satisfied of the propriety of the course you pursued, I am happy to express my conviction that it was wholly dictated by zeal for His Majesty's Service.

Your acceptance of the Bill, however, even if justified by the peculiar circumstances under which you were placed, has created an insuperable obstacle to the exercise of His Majesty's prerogative of disallowing it. Before an Order in Council for that purpose could have arrived in Lower Canada, the Act would nearly have had it's complete operation; & the money granted by the House of Assembly out of those Funds over which their control is indisputable, would, to a great extent, have been received and expended. It would scarcely have been consistent, therefore, with good faith, and would certainly have afforded a plausible ground of complaint, if the Act had been disallowed after the local Government had so largely partaken of the pecuniary advantages which it offered.

For these reasons His Majesty does not think fit for the present to make any order in His Privy Council on the subject; but the consideration of this Act may perhaps be resumed in connection with the general measure hereafter to be submitted to Parliament. There is, I fear, no adequate reason to expect that in their approaching Session, the House of Assembly of Lower Canada will recede from the pretensions which they advanced successfully in the Session of 1828. And, in truth, in the prospect of an early application to Parliament on the subject, the question has lost much of it's former importance. It is not, however, unimportant still to maintain, in principle at least, the right for which His Majesty's Government has so long contended, and even in the absence of those obvious considerations of dignity and consistency which prescribe this course, the intention of the Act of Parliament, as interpreted by the Law Officers of the Crown, leaves no discretion on the subject. For the appropriation of the Revenue arising from the 14 Geo. 3. C. 88 is not properly a right which may be maintained or waived at pleasure, but a duty for the performance of which the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury must remain responsible until the Act of Parliament has been either amended or repealed.

You will, therefore, at the commencement of the approaching Session lay before the Assembly an Estimate formed upon the same principle as that which you presented to them in the Session of 1828, including in that estimate a Provision for the arrears due to the various Public Officers whose claims the House rejected in their last Session. You will acquaint the House that circumstances which could not be controuled, rendered it impossible for the Ministers of the Crown to bring under the consideration of Parliament in their last Session, the measures contemplated for the final adjustment of these Financial questions; but that they confidently expect that in the ensuing Session the subject will undergo an early and final consideration. You will signify to the Legislature His Majesty's regret that in their late proceedings they should have persevered in the assertion of a right which His Majesty had on so many former occasions been compelled, by the express terms of the Act of 1774, to deny. You will further express His Majestys concern that the House should have rejected His recommendations in favor of several persons whose claims are supported by evident principles of justice, and are not in the whole very considerable in amount; and you will inform them His Majesty's disappointment that His earnest endeavours to remove every ground of dissatisfaction had not been met with a more cordial concurrence on the part of the Provincial Assembly. You will in general terms state that His Majesty has not made any Order in His Privy Council respecting the Bill of Supply which you have transmitted.

You will earnestly impress upon the House the inconvenience which might result from their again assuming the right of appropriation which His Majesty's Government have it not in their power to acknowledge; and respecting which they are prepared to make such concessions as Parliament may approve and authorize. You will also assure both Houses of the Legislature that His Majesty earnestly deprecates the prolongation of a controversy which has already continued too long for the real interests and welfare of the Province; and you will express His confident hope that they will apply their attention to the many important questions noticed in my despatch of the 29 of Sept. 1828, and grant such Supplies as you will demand in aid of the Revenue of the Crown, in reliance on His gracious assurance that measures will be immediately taken to effect an amicable termination, under the authority of Parliament, of this protracted controversy.

It is unnecessary for me to enter upon other topics connected with the administration of the Government of Lower Canada. Such instructions as it was in my power to give on these subjects were fully communicated to you in my despatch of the 29 of September 1828 and more recent events have not suggested to me the necessity of any alterations in those Instructions." 1829

While regretting that they should have been at the trouble of such a voyage, he sympathized with their anxiety, and gave them every attention. A memorandum of conference with them would show the line he took with the Indians. Case of Hurons would be subject of separate despatch. Claim of Iroquois, though not previously before Colonial Office was decided adversely to them on two occasions by Provincial authorities. Documents submitted did not furnish material for conclusion as to justice of claims. In view of Provincial verdicts, strip of ground claimed should not be given up, but they should be relieved of charges borne by them since strip passed out of hands of Jesuits, provided their statements were found correct. It was desired therefore that small annual sum be allotted to defray these charges. Claims founded on withdrawal of advantages enjoyed under Jesuits merit favorable consideration, but whatever was granted should be given as boon from Crown, and not conceded in virtue of supposed right. Full report desired, apart from general report on Jesuits Estates. (Reed. March 29.) p. 24

"Having, in my Despatches of this day respecting the Indians of the Iroquois & Huron Tribes, adverted to the Claims which these People are represented to possess, I consider this the proper opportunity for bringing under your Notice some of the opinions which I have formed with respect to the Policy which has hitherto been pursued towards the Native Tribes living in the British Territories in North America, as well as to point out those alterations in the system which I conceive it will be proper to adopt for the future.

It appears to me that the course which has hitherto been taken in dealing with these People has had reference to the advantages which might be derived from their friendship in times of War rather than to any settled purpose of gradually reclaiming them from a state of barbarism & of introducing amongst them the industrious & peaceful habits of civilized life.

Under the peculiar circumstances of the times it may have been originally difficult to pursue a more enlightened course of Policy; the system may, perhaps, have been persisted in by the Home & Colonial Governments rather as a matter of routine, than upon any well considered grounds of preference, whilst on the part of the Indians themselves, there is no doubt that its accordance with their natural propensities, & with their long established habits rendered it more acceptable to them than any other: Nor is it unlikely that if on the one hand, there existed a disposition in the aboriginal Inhabitants to cling to their original habits & mode of life, there was a proneness also in the new Occupants of America to regard the Natives as an irreclaimable Race, & as inconvenient Neighbours, whom it was desirable ultimately wholly to remove.

Whatever may have been the reasons which have hitherto recommended an adherence to the present system, I am satisfied that it ought not to be persisted in for the future, & that so enlarged a view of the nature of our Connexions with the Indian Tribes should be taken as may lead to the adoption of proper measures for their future preservation & improvement; whilst at the same time, the obligations of moral duty & sound policy should not be lost sight of.

The circumstance of some of the Indians having latterly shewn a greater inclination than heretofore to alter their mode of life, whilst it may have contributed to suggest the propriety of corresponding endeavours for their amelioration on the part of the British Government, gives also a reasonable prospect of such endeavours being attended with success.

In a former Despatch I have noticed the obvious propriety of encouraging in every possible manner, the progress of religious knowledge & of education generally, amongst the Indian Tribes, & I shall now, therefore, only express my decided opinion that these inestimable advantages should be allowed to flow in thro' whatever channel they may find their way, rather than let the risk be incurred of checking their introduction, by confining their dissemination to any particular class of Teachers, or by too narrowly circumscribing the limits of Instruction.

My attention has lately been called to this part of the subject by the perusal of a Report from the Society for promoting Education & Industry in Canada, & I shall be glad to learn from you what is supposed to be the cause, why their efforts to establish Schools at certain Indian Villages, which are mentioned, and, in other respects, to contribute to the religious & moral improvement of the Aborigines should hitherto have been counteracted in the way which is described. I have likewise adverted in a former Despatch to the advantage of altering the nature of the Presents which Government is in the habit of making to the Indians, & of distributing to those Tribes at least, who are within the limits of the British Provinces, & who are not too remote from the settled part of the Country, such Articles as are likely to produce a taste for Agricultural pursuits, rather than such as are calculated to keep alive their passion for the chase and those warlike propensities which belong to the backward state of improvement in which they have hitherto been kept. You will have observed too, as a part of the change of system which I am desirous of introducing with regard to these People, that I have, in modifying the Indian Department, sought at the same time to place it in the several Provinces, in connexion with the Governor of each, in his Civil capacity, rather than allow it to continue, as has been heretofore the case, under the Chief Military Authority in the Province. 1830

There is still, however, another material step to be taken, as a part of the system of policy which I am anxious to establish with regard to the Indians, & this is, to induce them to settle in Townships, or upon detached Lots of Land, in a manner similar to the European Settlers or their Descendants.

I am fully aware that the accomplishment of this part of the Plan may be attended with very considerable difficulty, & that it may be probably very slow in its progress.

It may meet with opposition from the Chiefs or other influential persons in the several Tribes, as tending to withdraw the People from under their authority, & it may be obstructed by a feeling amongst the people themselves, that it has a tendency to do away the Nationality of each separate Tribe, & to amalgamate it with the general Mass of the Population. To overcome these & other difficulties, however, I have no doubt that your own experience & discretion will suggest various means; and amongst others, the allotting to the Chiefs & to the other leading individuals, more extensive grants than to other persons may perhaps have some effect. Such an arrangement in the distribution of Land would also tend to lay the foundation of a certain gradation in the scale of Property, & of perpetuating that influence which should be maintained by the Chiefs, & which will not be without its use in maintaining good order in that Society.

I shall abstain, however, from entering into any further details at present, the object of this Despatch being rather to open the subject generally for your consideration, & to elicit such observations as may offer themselves to you upon the subject, than to lay down a complete plan for your adoption." p. 206

Murray to Kempt. No. 124. Stating intention, with view to economy, of combining offices of Commissioner of Crown Lands and Surveyor of Woods and to continue Felton with salary of £600 per annum and fees of 5% on net sum collected by him up to £600 per annum additional. On future vacancy in this office, salary would be £500 with percentage fees up to additional £500. Report required as to allowance to Mr. Davidson until opportunity arose for employing him in public service. Board for management of Jesuits Estates should be abolished, and duty performed by Commissioner of Crown Lands; also office of Inspector General of King's Domain. Office of Auditor of Land Patents appeared superfluous. Report required on these subjects, also as to why Court of Escheats had not come into operation. In New Brunswick where revenue from land and timber greatly exceeded that from Lower Canada, all land offices had been placed in charge of one officer. Report required as to why same system should not be adopted in Lower Canada. At most, two departments all that were necessary. Contingencies of offices should be settled. Murray to Kempt. (Confidential.) (Duplicate.) With reference to foregoing confidential despatch of same date, it was stated that in order that conduct should be consistent with argument, Lower Canada should exercise uninterrupted jurisdiction over Fief of Madawaska, which was described. New Brunswick, as proved by trial of John Baker, exercised actual jurisdiction over Madawaska Settlement, but this settlement extended along St. John River above and below confluence of Madawaska River, and no jurisdiction had been exercised de facto by New Brunswick up Madawaska River where grant was made to Simon Hebert by New Brunswick in 1825. Jurisdiction should therefore be exercised by Lower Canada over Lake Temiscouata and Madawaska River down to Baker grant at its mouth. New Brunswick would exercise jurisdiction as heretofore in disputed territory. (Reed. Aug. 9.) p. 434

Murray to Kempt. No. 126. Agreement expressed that whole revenue from Jesuits Estates should be devoted to education, and that salary of Rev. Mr. Sewell in Quebec should no longer be paid from that source but should be made item in Ecclesiastical Establishment. Regret at difficulties in way of forming separate committees of Royal Institution composed respectively of Protestants and Roman Catholics for management of moiety of revenue for maintenance of each, but as legal difficulties had cropped up and Roman Catholic Bishop was averse, plan must be dropped. He was of opinion that there should be college at Montreal to serve both provinces, and would favor endowment by Crown. Revenues from Jesuits Estates and those of the Sulpicians (if found to belong to Crown) might be well employed for that purpose. It should be established on principle of wide toleration for all Christian denominations. No religious tests should be imposed on either students or professors. Early measures to this end should be set on foot, most influential Roman Catholics and Protestants to be consulted. In case of difficulties owing to strength of religious feeling appearing, it might be necessary to establish two colleges, one Roman Catholic, the other Protestant. In that case share of superintendence of Roman Catholic College should be allotted to clergy of that denomination. (Reed. June 21.) p. 449

Murray to Aylmer. No. 1. Conveying information on certain points in which Government and Assembly have been at issue. The most important is Militia Law. Course of Assembly upon it held out little hope of amicable adjustment. Uncertainty of legal authorities as to doubts raised in Assembly as to legality of enforcing old Militia Law did not encourage belief that latter would withdraw opposition to its enforcement or consent to new enactment. But regarded as question of law, and as one in which preceding Governors have acted under legal opinion, Government cannot accept view of Assembly. If Assembly should take no steps to pass a less objectionable law than the one passed in 1829, there would be no alternative to acting under old Militia law, doing so in manner least inconvenient to province. The act for ascertaining and confirming the Parochial divisions of various parts of province surrounded by difficulties and liable to legal objections. It would have been better if object in view were entrusted to a Commission, but the expense would have prevented the adoption of this course. The only alternative therefore seemed to be to allow the bill. As regards the three bills Nos. 681, 682 and 683, which were reserved by Kempt, the Attorney General's objections were far from unimportant, but the bills might not, nevertheless, be disallowed. "I have the honor herewith to transmit to Your Lordship An Order made by His Majesty in Council dated the 5th Inst. revoking the Orders in Council of the 21: of July 1823 and the 27: of July 1826, and so much of the Order in Council of the 16: of July 1827 as relates to the United States of America, or to the Vessels of those States; and authorizing the admission into all His Majesty's Possessions abroad of American Ships arriving from the United States with Goods the growth produce or manufacture of that Country.

The enclosed Order has been drawn up in a compendious form in order to avoid the obscurity which seemed inseparable from a recital at length of the various Acts of Parliament and Orders in Council to which it refers. It will, therefore, be convenient to state, for your Lordship's information, that the authority under which this Order is issued is derived from the Statutes 4 Geo. 4 Cap. 77. Sec. 4; 5 Geo. 4 Cap. 1, Sec. 6; 6 Geo. 4 Cap. 118, Sec. 4; and 7 and 8 Geo. 4 Cap. 56. Secs. 41.42.43, but especially from the first of those Enactments.

As the Ports of His Majesty's North American Provinces have never been closed to the Vessels of the United States, the enclosed Order in Council will not be productive of any change in that particular course of Trade. But the Tonnage duty of four shillings and three pence per Ton, & the duty of ten per cent ad valorem on the Cargoes of American Ships imposed by the Orders in Council of the 21 of July 1823, and the 27 of July 1826 will henceforth cease throughout the British Possessions on the Continent of North America.

It has seemed right that the decision of His Majesty's Government respecting the Commercial relations between the British Colonies, & the United States of America should be communicated to the parties immediately concerned with the least possible delay. I, therefore, avail myself of the present opportunity of transmitting the recent Order in Council to Your Lordship, together with a letter from the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade, stating the reasons which have induced His Majesty's Government to accept the proposals which have been made by the Legislature and Government of the United States.

His Majesty's Government have not adopted the present measure without the most anxious and deliberate attention to the interests of the British North American Provinces. They have been deeply impressed with the magnitude and importance of those interests, and of the claims which His Majesty's North American Subjects have to every degree of protection which can be afforded to them consistently with the general welfare of the Empire at large.

It will be my duty fully to explain to Your Lordship in my next despatches what is the precise nature of those measures of protection to which the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade refer in the enclosed letter."

Louis M. Lane to Aberdeen.

"The Undersigned, &c., has the honour to transmit herewith to the Earl of Aberdeen, &c., a Proclamation issued by the President of the United States on the 5th October last, and also a letter of Instructions from the Secretary of the Treasury in conformity thereto, to the several Collectors of the United States, removing the restrictions on the Trade in British Vessels with the Ports of the United States and the Colonial Possessions of Great Britain and the U.S. takes leave to add, that though these papers appear to be sufficiently explicit and clear, he will take much pleasure in making any further personal explanation of their import, that may be considered desirable.—

It will be perceived however, that by virtue of the foregoing Proclamation, and the operation of the Act of Congress of the 29 May 1830, the restrictive Acts of the United States are absolutely repealed; and that the Ports of the United States are opened to the admission and entry of British Vessels, coming from any of the British Ports mentioned in both Sections of the said Act, with the same kind of British Colonial produce as may be imported in American Vessels, and upon the same terms; that the Alien Duties in the Ports of the U.S. on British Vessels and their cargoes, and also the restrictions in the Act of Congress of the U.S. of 1823, to the direct intercourse between the U.S. and the British W. India Colonies are abolished.—

The U.S.¹ has the honour to state further that these Acts have been performed by the President in conformity with the letter of the Earl of Aberdeen of the 17th of August last, and that by accepting the assurance of the British Government, with the accompanying explanation, as a compliance with the requisitions of the Act of Congress of the 29th May 1830, and doing all that was necessary on the part of the United States to effect the proposed arrangement, he has adopted without reserve the construction put upon the Act of Congress both by the Earl of Aberdeen and the Undersigned.—

In communicating these documents to the Earl of Aberdeen, the U.S. is instructed to inform him that the President has derived great satisfaction from the candor manifested by His Majesty's Ministers in the course of the Negotiation; and that having thus given effect to the arrangement on the part of the United States, he does not doubt that Great Britain, acting in the spirit and terms of the proposition submitted by the Undersigned, and accepted in the Letter of Lord Aberdeen of the seventeenth of August last, will as promptly comply with those terms on her part, and remove the existing obstructions to the renewal of the intercourse between the Ports of the United States, and the British Colonial Possessions.

In conclusion the Undersigned takes leave to state that from the date of the Proclamation of the President, the Vessels of Great Britain have been, and are actually in the enjoyment of all the advantages of the proposed Arrangement, while the Vessels of the United States are, and must remain, excluded from the same, until the requisite measures shall be adopted by this Government—The Undersigned has the honor to ask, therefore, that the Earl of Aberdeen will enable him to communicate the adoption of those measures to his Government, by the opportunity which will offer for that purpose on the 6th instant."

"By the President of the United States of America:

A PROCLAMATION

Whereas, by an Act of the Congress of the United States, passed on the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and thirty, it is provided, that, whenever the President of the United States shall receive satisfactory evidence that the Government of Great Britain will open the ports in its colonial possessions in the West Indies, on the Continent of South America, the Bahama Islands, the Caicos, and the Bermuda or Somer Islands, to the vessels of the United States, for an indefinite or for a limited term; that the vessels of the United States, and their Cargoes, on entering the Colonial Ports aforesaid, shall not be subject to other or higher duties of tonnage or impost, or charges of any other description, than would be imposed on British Vessels, or their Cargoes, arriving in the said colonial possessions from the United States; that the vessels of the United States may import into the said colonial possessions, from the United States, any article or articles which could be imported in a British vessel into the said possessions, from the United States; and that the vessels of the United States may export from the British Colonies aforementioned, to any Country whatever, other than the Dominions or Possessions of Great Britain, any article or articles that can be exported therefrom in a British vessel, to any country other than the British Dominions or Possessions as aforesaid—leaving the commercial intercourse of the United States with all other parts of the British Dominions or possessions on a footing not less favorable to the United States than it now is—that then, and in such case, the President of the United States shall be authorized, at any time before the next Session of Congress to issue his Proclamation, declaring that he has received such evidence; and that, thereupon, and from the date of such Proclamation, the ports of the United States shall be opened indefinitely, or for a term fixed, as the case may be, to British vessels coming from the said British Colonial possessions, and their Cargoes, subject to no other or higher duty of tonnage or impost, or charge of any description whatever, than would be levied on the vessels of the United States, or their Cargoes, arriving from the said British possessions, and that it shall be lawful for the said British vessels to import into the United States, and to export therefrom, any article or articles which may be imported or exported in vessels of the United States; and that the Act, entitled "An Act concerning navigation," passed on the eighteenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and eighteen, an Act supplementary thereto, passed the fifteenth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and twenty, and an Act, entitled "An Act to regulate the commercial intercourse between the United States and certain British ports," passed on the first day of March one thousand eight hundred and twenty three, shall, in such case, be suspended, or absolutely repealed, as the case may require—

And Whereas, by the said Act, it is further provided, that, whenever the ports of the United States shall have been opened under the authority thereby given, British vessels and their cargoes shall be admitted to an entry in the ports of the United States, from the Islands, Provinces, or Colonies of Great Britain, on or near the North American Continent, and north or east of the United States.

And Whereas, satisfactory evidence has been received by the President of the United States, that, whenever he shall give effect to the provisions of the Act aforesaid, the Government of Great Britain will open, for an indefinite period the ports in its colonial possessions in the West Indies, on the Continent of South America, the Bahama Islands, the Caicos, and the Bermuda or Somer Islands, to the vessels of the United States, and their cargoes, upon the terms, and according to the requisitions, of the aforesaid Act of Congress—

Now, therefore, I, Andrew Jackson, President of the United States of America, do hereby declare and proclaim that such evidence has been received by me; and that, by the operation of the Act of Congress passed on the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and thirty, the ports of the United States are, from the date of this Proclamation, open to British vessels coming from the said British Possessions, and their cargoes, upon the terms set forth in the said Act, the Act, entitled "An Act concerning navigation," passed on the eighteenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and eighteen, the Act supplementary thereto, passed the fifteenth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and eighteen, the Act supplementary thereto, passed the fifteenth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and twenty, and the Act, entitled "An Act to regulate the commercial intercourse between the United States and certain British ports," passed the first day of March, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-three, are absolutely repealed; and British vessels and their cargoes are admitted to an entry in the Ports of the United States, from the Islands, Provinces, and Colonies of Great Britain, on or near the North American Continent, and north or east of the United States.

Given under my hand, at the City of Washington, the fifth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty, and the fifty-fifth of the Independence of the United States.

ANDREW JACKSON "

By the President
M. Van Buren,
Secretary of State."

"At the Court at St. James's, the 5th day of November 1830,

PRESENT,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

Whereas by a certain Act of Parliament, passed in the sixth year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Fourth, intituled "An Act to regulate the trade of the British possessions abroad," after reciting, that "by the Law of Navigation foreign ships are permitted to import into any of the British possessions abroad, from the countries to which they belong, goods, the produce of those countries, and to export goods from such possessions to be carried to any foreign country whatever, and that it is expedient that such permission should be subject to certain conditions," it is, therefore, enacted, "that the privileges thereby granted to foreign ships shall be limited to the ships of those countries which, having colonial possessions, shall grant the like privileges of trading with those possessions to British ships, or which, not having colonial possessions, shall place the commerce and navigation of this country, and of its possessions abroad, upon the footing of the most favoured nation, unless His Majesty, by His Order in Council, shall in any case deem it expedient to grant the whole or any of such privileges to the ships of any foreign country, although the conditions aforesaid shall not in all respects be fulfilled by such foreign country:"

And whereas by a certain Order of His said late Majesty in Council, bearing date the twenty-seventh day of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, after reciting that the conditions mentioned and referred to in the said Act of Parliament had not in all respects been fulfilled by the Government of the United States of America, and that therefore the privileges so granted as aforesaid by the law of navigation to foreign ships, could not lawfully be exercised or enjoyed by the ships of the United States aforesaid, unless His Majesty, by His Order in Council, should grant the whole or any of such privileges to the ships of the United States aforesaid: His said late Majesty did, in pursuance of the powers in Him vested by the said Act, grant the privileges aforesaid to the ships of the said United States; but did thereby provide and declare, that such privileges should absolutely cease and determine in His Majesty's possessions in the West Indies and South America, and in certain other of His Majesty's possessions abroad, upon and from certain days in the said Order for that purpose appointed, and which are long since passed:

And whereas by a certain other Order of His said late Majesty in Council, bearing date the sixteenth of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven, the said last mentioned Order was confirmed: And whereas in pursuance of the Acts of Parliament in that behalf made and provided, His said late Majesty, by a certain Order in Council, bearing date the twenty-first day of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty-three, and by the said Order in Council, bearing date the twenty-seventh day of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, was pleased to Order that there should be charged on all vessels of the said United States, which should enter any of the ports of His Majesty's possessions in the West Indies or America, with articles of the growth, produce, or manufacture of the said States, certain duties of tonnage and of customs therein particularly specified:

And whereas it hath been made to appear to His Majesty in Council, that the restrictions heretofore imposed by the laws of the United States aforesaid upon British vessels, navigated between the said States and His Majesty's possessions in the West Indies and America, have been repealed, and that the discriminating duties of tonnage and of customs, heretofore imposed by the laws of the said United States, upon British vessels and their cargoes entering the ports of the said States from His Majesty's said possessions, have also been repealed, and that the ports of the United States are now open to British vessels and their cargoes coming from His Majesty's possessions aforesaid, His Majesty doth, therefore, with the advice of His Privy Council, and in pursuance and exercise of the powers so vested in Him as aforesaid by the said Act so passed in the sixth year of the reign of His said late Majesty, or by any other Act or Acts of Parliament, declare, that the said recited Orders in Council of the twenty-first day of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty-three, and of the twenty-seventh day of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, and the said Order in Council of the sixteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven (so far as such last mentioned Order relates to the said United States), shall be, and the same are, hereby respectively revoked:

And His Majesty doth further, by the advice aforesaid, and in pursuance of the powers aforesaid, declare that the ships of and belonging to the said United States of America, may import from the United States aforesaid into the British possessions abroad, goods the produce of those states, and may export goods from the British possessions abroad to be carried to any foreign country whatever.

JAS. BULLER."

Thomas Lack to R. W. Hay.

"The Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade have considered with an attention proportioned to the lively Interest which they take in the Welfare of His Majesty's North American Possessions, the several Memorials transmitted to them by direction of Secretary Sir George Murray (with Your Letters of 12th and 16th March—21st of May—and 19th of June last) in relation to the contemplated renewal of the Intercourse between the West India Colonies, and the United States of America.—

Committee of
P.C. for Trade,
Nov. 8.

The view which Their Lordships have taken of the Interests which have been created and extended in the Northern Colonies, during the Cessation of the Intercourse; and of the Interests of the West India Colonies, will be most conveniently explained to Sir George Murray by the accompanying Extracts from the Communications of this Committee with the Earl of Aberdeen.—

I am to add that a Schedule of Duties intended for the protection of the Interests of the Northern Colonies, in reference to the supplies furnished by, or through them, to the West India Islands; and also for the relief of the West India Colonies, in reference to some Articles of prime necessity to the Negro Population, which are not furnished to them by the Northern Colonies, will be proposed to Parliament without delay.—

Sir George Murray cannot fail to perceive, that unless the prohibition of Intercourse, with the United States were to be perpetual, the difficulty of adjusting these Colonial Interests would have been continually augmented: His Majesty's Government have decided, upon a general view of the Political, as well as commercial Interests of this Country, that upon the entire abandonment by the American Government, of their former inadmissible pretensions; and upon their opening their Ports to British Ships engaged in the Colonial Trade, without the restrictions imposed upon them by their Acts and Proclamation of 1823, that Intercourse should be renewed upon the Terms offered to all other Nations; and the Lords of the Committee are satisfied, that under the intended Arrangement, the Northern Colonies will preserve a Share of the Trade newly opened to them, amply sufficient for the preservation of vested Interests; and that the West India Planters will be supplied upon reasonable Terms." p. 121

"Extract of Letter from Mr. Lack to Mr. Backhouse, dated 31st May 1830"

"If, under these Circumstances, and with these views of the question, His Majesty's Government should deem it advisable to give such encouragement to Mr. McLane's Overture, as would lead to a Renewal of the suspended Intercourse, it may be proper to consider in what manner the newly created Interests of the North American Colonies could, in that case, be protected against the Rivalry of the United States.—

The Lords of the Committee are of Opinion, that this requisite Protection could be afforded by a well regulated system of protecting Duties.—

The Schedule of Duties contained in the Act of 1825, whereby a certain protection is given to Importations into our Colonies from any other British Possessions, by means of higher Rates imposed on the like Importations from Foreign Countries, is subject to such Variations as the Legislature of this Country may, from time to time, think proper to adopt;—and my Lords are of opinion that it would not be expedient, if the Intercourse between the United States and the West Indies were renewed, under existing Circumstances, to leave the Duties specified in that Statute, on their present footing.—

The Schedule might be so modified as to adjust itself to the respective Interests of the Parties concerned, by affording the highest Protection in those particulars, in which such protection would be most beneficial to the North American Colonies, and least detrimental to the West Indies; and by pressing less heavily on those Articles of Consumption which the West Indies have the deepest Interest in procuring, at the cheapest Rate.—

In any view of the question, purely commercial, My Lords consider that, a protection, by a System of Duties thus adjusted to the peculiar Interests of all Parties, would be much more effectual in fostering the Industry, and in promoting the growing Strength and Prosperity of the Canadas and Nova Scotia, than a continuance of the existing Interdict.

It would not only effect it's purpose with less pressure upon our other Colonies, but it would have the great Advantage of being less exposed to the danger of Sudden Change—it has been already observed, that the continuance of those Benefits which our North American Colonies derive from the Interdict is precarious, because the termination of those Benefits is in the power of the Government of the United States—The Changes which might be effected, at once, by measures which are entirely in the power of that Government, might be very disastrous to our Colonists; while, on the other hand, a System of protecting Duties would be accompanied by such a reasonable probability of a permanent and stable Course of Policy, as would be the most likely to encourage the further Investment of Capital in the growing Concerns of the British Possessions, on the Continent of North America—

Entertaining these Opinions, their Lordships take leave to suggest, that if it should be the Determination of His Majesty's Government, upon a view of the Political, as well as the Commercial bearings of this important question, to make any Communication to Mr. McLane, of a disposition to entertain his proposal, that Minister may, at the same time be apprized of the probability of some Alterations being made, in the Schedule of Duties annexed to the Act of 1825.—

As these Alterations would not have reference exclusively to Articles imported from the United States, the Government of that Country could have no reasonable Ground, much less any strict right, to complain of them,—But it is the Opinion of this Committee that these Duties should not be the subject of Stipulation, and that the right of varying them, in any way, and from time to time, should be distinctly understood.”—

“Extract of a Minute of the Lords of the Committee for Trade, dated 24th July 1830

The Committee have already upon former Communications from Mr. McLane stated their opinion upon general grounds of Commercial Policy, as to the expediency of yielding to the Application of the United States, to be placed on the same footing as all other Nations, with respect to our Colonial Trade; and they have pointed out the protective Regulations by which, in their Judgment, such a Measure should be accompanied—

On that occasion they expressed their conviction that the particular Interests of the North American Colonies of Great Britain, fostered as they have been, incidentally by the suspension of the Intercourse between the United States and the British West Indies, might, in the event of a renewal of that Intercourse, be protected by a system of discriminating duties to the utmost extent that would be consistent with a due regard to the Interests of our West Indian Possessions.—The present Communication from Mr. McLane, has suggested nothing calculated to create a change in their opinions.—

The material reduction which has been made in the Duties payable in the United States, on the Importation of certain Articles of Colonial Produce, must be regarded as an Indication of a disposition in that Country to cultivate a Commercial Intercourse with our Colonies upon a footing of greater freedom and reciprocal advantage than has hitherto existed.—But it does not appear to this Committee, that in the general Consideration of the question now to be determined, any particular weight ought to be assigned to the reduction of these duties, as forming any part of the grounds on which the re-establishment of the Intercourse should be acceded to.—These charges are a part of that general scheme of Taxation which the Government of America may at all times impose or modify with the same freedom as that which Great Britain may use in the regulation of any part of its system of duties; and it is the more essential that the Government of this Country should not by implication, contract any Engagement towards that of the United States in respect of this alteration, inasmuch as, if the views of this Committee be correct, it would be expedient to accompany any measure for opening the Trade between the United States and the British West Indies, by a re-modelling of the Schedule of Duties attached to the Act of 1825, conformably to the principle which they have pointed out, and also by a distinct reservation of the right to vary those duties from time to time, unfettered by any Engagement expressly implied towards the United States or any Country.—

This ought to be distinctly understood on both sides; so that no doubt should exist of the right of Great Britain to vary those duties from time to time, according to her own views of expediency.—”

It might be pointed out to Legislature that British experience indicates expediency of having duties of Auditor fixed by Act of Parliament, in which salary is fixed permanently; for No. 5 (part of salaries of Judges of Gaspé and St. Francis districts), no estimate need be made; the office of Advocate General (No. 7) does not appear to be necessary, but report desired on point; No. 8 (salary of clerk of St. Francis Court) could not be proposed with any prospect of success; Nos. 9, 10, 11, 12 (salaries of chairmen of Quarter Sessions at Quebec, Montreal, Three Rivers and Gaspé). It is understood these offices had been discontinued, but if effect is prejudicial to administration of justice, Legislature would surely remedy the evil, particularly as rejection of votes was on personal grounds; Nos. 13, 14 & 15 (pensions) could not be again proposed with success. It was not easy to see upon what fund they could be charged. However the whole subject of pensions would be reconsidered. No. 16 (Sundry items of contingent expenses) should not be proposed again. Hope expressed that course pointed out will show sincere desire of Government to meet wishes and feelings of Province, whenever it appears practicable without impairing efficiency of service.

This did not appear to have been the case. It was impossible, therefore, with every disposition to assist Indians, to grant more than £250 for the purpose. Indians must understand that sum was given, not in virtue of a right, but as bounty from Crown. As regards Indian Church at Lorette, sum stated as necessary for repairs—£346—could not be sanctioned. REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS

In compliance with the requirements of section 4, subsection 4, of the Civil Service Act, Revised Statutes, 1927, the Civil Service Commissioners submit their Twenty-second Annual Report, covering the transactions and affairs of the commission for the calendar year 1930.

EXAMINATIONS

During the year the commission conducted more than nineteen hundred individual examinations, at which the qualifications of more than twenty-six thousand persons were tested. This was an increase over the preceding year of almost ten per cent in the number of applicants tested. Examinations took the form of general entrance examinations numbering one hundred and forty-nine (149), which were Dominion-wide competitions; local entrance examinations numbering nine hundred and sixty-six (966); and promotion examinations numbering nine hundred and twenty-five (925).

The striking increase in the number of candidates, referred to above, has rendered it difficult to handle some of the examinations, particularly at the larger centres; and the commissioners desire to call attention to the amount of work which devolves upon the supervising examiners, and to express their appreciation of the uniformly satisfactory service received from them. There have been as many as thirteen hundred candidates at one examination in Montreal, and the work of preparing for the examination, answering inquiries, making the necessary seating arrangements, etc., and in preparing the papers afterwards for return to the Civil Service Commission office, is actually greater than the time required for writing the examination itself. A slight extra remuneration is allowed for this additional service.

As in former years the commission has been assisted in its examinations by the services of scientific and professional experts and business administrators outside the Government departments, as well as by departmental officers. In a list given on page xviii, the commission expresses its appreciation of these services, which in all cases were given without remuneration of any kind. Through this active interest and assistance the application of the merit system has been greatly facilitated.

Eligible Lists.

In connection with the examination system, a change should also be noted in regard to the establishment of eligible lists. In the past, it has been the practice to include in the eligible list the names of all candidates who have been found to possess the necessary qualifications for the class of position for which the list is established. This is still the practice followed in the general entrance examinations where the eligible list includes all who obtain the minimum percentage required to pass the written examination. There is another class of positions, however, of a more or less specialized nature, for which standing eligible lists are not maintained, as appointments are few and infrequent. When a position of this nature falls vacant, and there is no eligible list in existence, it becomes necessary to advertise the vacancy and call for applications. In most cases of this sort there is but one position to be filled, and it is extremely unlikely that another vacancy will occur before the eligible list lapses at the expiration of a year from the date of establishment. It has been found that the placing of a name on the eligible list tends to create false hopes of appointment, and that a considerable amount of disappointment is caused if the appointment does not materialize. The commissioners feel, moreover, that when only one position is advertised, only one person can properly be called the successful competitor, and a change in procedure has therefore been authorized whereby in all cases where the number of appointments likely to be required can be estimated, only a sufficient number of eligibles is listed to fill the estimated number of vacancies which will ensue within the following twelve months. The commission reserves to itself the right, if it be found necessary and desirable, to establish supplementary eligible lists from the same competition within the twelve months for which they are valid, rather than to hold a new competition for the same class of position.

Irregularities.

The commission has become cognizant of various irregularities during the past year, and has taken prompt action to remedy such conditions. The number of candidates who misrepresent their age for the purpose of being admitted to civil service examinations is continually increasing, and it has been necessary to deal drastically with all such offenders in an effort to stamp out the practice. The commission has now made a rule that any candidate who is guilty of misrepresentation of age, whether intentionally or otherwise, shall have his examination cancelled, and shall be debarred from taking part in any other competition for a period of one year. Due to the introduction of the taking of finger-prints at large examinations, and comparing them with finger-prints taken when the candidate receives an appointment, some cases of impersonation have been discovered. Not only have candidates engaged others to write the examination for them, but in one case a candidate who wrote the examination successfully under his own name and received an appointment, resigned his notice of assignment to his brother-in-law, and allowed him to report in his place to the department. In all cases where impersonation was suspected a careful investigation was conducted, the guilty parties, if employed in the Service, were dismissed, and the commission trusts that sufficient publicity was given to the occurrence to dissuade others from following the same practice. The commission has refrained from prosecuting the guilty parties, although empowered by the Civil Service Act to do so, as in every case the offender was young and it was thought that he was not aware of the seriousness of his offence.

VETERAN AND DISABILITY PREFERENCE

The statutory preference in entrance examinations extended to veterans and pensioners of the Great War under section 29 (4) of the Civil Service Act has been faithfully administered by the commission. Of the twenty-three hundred and thirty (2,330) males appointed to permanent positions during the year, nine hundred and thirty-one (931) were ex-service men. Of the thirty-eight hundred and sixty-seven (3,867) males assigned for temporary employment, eleven hundred and thirty-nine (1,139) were ex-service men. In this connection the commission is glad to express its appreciation of the co-operation and assistance which has been rendered by the ex-service men's organizations in Canada.

APPOINTMENTS, PROMOTIONS AND TRANSFERS

Tables showing the appointments, promotions and transfers made by the commission will be found in the appendix, where detailed tables are printed. The commissioners desire to point out that vacancies are not initiated by the commission but are filled by the commission only on receipt of requisitions from the departments concerned.

The tables show that twenty-eight hundred and three (2,803) appointments of a permanent character were made, including two hundred and twenty-nine (229) rural postmasters, and that there were five thousand and fourteen (5,014) assignments for varying periods of temporary employment. Certificates were issued also for twenty-one hundred and fifteen (2,115) promotions and two hundred and ninety-two (292) transfers.

In addition to the above, a total of seventy-nine (79) certificates have been issued by the commission under Section 17 of the Civil Service Act, Chapter 22, R.S. 1927, covering the payment of additional salary to permanent officers who are performing separate duties for departments or branches other than those in which they are regularly employed. These include various employees of the Department of National Revenue acting as part-time immigration inspectors; lightkeepers doing duty as radio beacon operators, and employees of the Radio Branch, Department of Marine, who perform duty as weather observers for the Meteorological Branch; postmasters who also act as caretaker of the public building in which the post office is situated; and other positions of a like nature.

TRANSFER OF NATURAL RESOURCES

In connection with the transfers, it will be noted that a great number have been made from the Department of the Interior to other departments. Early in the year the transfer of the natural resources to the provinces and the effect which this would have upon the personnel of the Departments of the Interior and of Fisheries, began to engage the attention of the commission. It was realized that certain branches would practically cease to exist, and that such provision as was possible should be made for the employees engaged therein. In the months of April and May lists of surplus employees were furnished to the commission, which were carefully studied with a view to their absorption into other departments if possible. On the 9th June, 1930, an Order in Council was passed, as follows, directing the co-operation of other departments:—

"The undersigned has the honour to report that the transfer of the natural resources to the provinces will cause the work of a number of employees of the Department of the Interior to disappear.

"The Department of the Interior has furnished lists of such employees to the Civil Service Commission for the purpose of transferring them to vacancies in other departments.

"The undersigned would therefore respectfully recommend that the names of these surplus employees be considered ahead of any eligibles on the Civil Service Commission's eligible list other than lay-offs (as described in section 54 of the Civil Service Act) for transfer to vacant positions in the other departments of the Government service for which the employee is qualified.

"The undersigned therefore recommends that all Departments of the Government service be directed to co-operate to the fullest extent in placing these employees in vacancies in their departments and that before advertising any vacancy in any department every effort be made by the Civil Service Commission and departments of the Government service to fill such vacancies by transfer from the Department of the Interior of surplus employees of the same or other classification who may be considered qualified for such vacancy."

Thereafter, whenever a requisition for an appointment was received by the commission, recourse was had to the lists of surplus employees of the Department of the Interior to ascertain whether any employee possessing the required qualifications was available. Some classes were quickly absorbed. It was found possible to transfer all the clerks, grade 1, all the stenographers, grade 1, practically all the stenographers, grade 2, and a great number of the male clerks, grade 2, and clerks, grade 3. The Department of the Interior did its utmost, by rearranging the work of various sections, to spare the employees for loan to other departments, in order that they might be tested and tried out before the transfer was finally consummated. Some employees were tried in two or three departments before a niche was found into which they fitted. The work in the Department of the Interior was in many ways different from that of the other departments, and the age of the employees, their length of service, and many other factors had some bearing upon their adaptability for other posts. As stated above, however, positions were found for the greater number of those in the junior grades. Those in the higher grades were not so fortunate. The Civil Service Act provides that vacancies shall be filled, as far as is consistent with the best interests of the public service, by promotion; and departments having employees in direct line of promotion for higher grade positions were loath to set them aside for the transfer of an employee from another department who must learn all the routine of the new work before he could become a useful member of the staff. For this reason, transfers in the higher grades were limited. It will be noted, also, that the majority of the transfers were made in Ottawa, owing to the limited number of vacancies occurring in outside centres where a qualified employee was available in the Department of the Interior. All of the employees of the Department of Fisheries affected by the situation belonged to special classes to which there was no equivalent in other departments, and it was found impossible to consider them at all. A great number of employees still remain on the surplus list who, in all probability, will be laid off on account of abolition of position and, therefore, will be placed on the commission's eligible lists for reassignment, if possible. Many have already been retired, either with or without an annual allowance, dependent upon length of service, and their positions have been abolished. Some few have been absorbed into other branches of the Department of the Interior itself, and the Civil Service Commission is now undertaking the reorganization of the branches thus affected.

CHANGE IN POST OFFICE ENTRANCE EXAMINATION

In the course of the year 1930 it was found that the class postal helper, which had been established as the entrance class for the postal service, with a view to furnishing beginners in all kinds of work, was not meeting the needs of the department. The better-educated class of candidate, required for recruiting the higher supervisory positions in the city post offices, was not forthcoming from this examination, and such positions, requiring a complete knowledge of the routine of the office, must necessarily be filled by promotion rather than from outside. It became evident, also, that a higher standard of physical fitness was required for the letter carrier and mail porter work. The Civil Service Commission therefore thought it advisable to abolish the class postal helper, and revert to the former system of holding separate examinations for letter carrier, mail porter, and postal clerk. Anticipating that the Governor General in Council, when apprised of the facts, would approve of the proposed change, examinations for these classes were actually held at certain centres where the eligible lists were almost or quite exhausted; and promotional competitions were advertised in every post office which was on a staff basis throughout the country with a view to filling the postal clerkships with the best available candidates. Unfortunately the Governor General in Council did not see eye to eye with the commission and the Post Office Department in this matter, and the recommendation for a change in class was not approved. The commission still feels that it is a desirable step, which will result in improved efficiency, and trusts that the Government's approval has only been postponed. In the meantime, however, some inevitable confusion has resulted in the assignment of successful candidates from the examinations above-mentioned; and the promotional competitions have had to be set aside for the time being.

A difficulty arose also with the Post Office Department in connection with the temporary help required from time to time. Claiming that an eligible list had not yet been established for the class postal clerk, the department took on several employees under the provisions of section 39 of the Civil Service Act. It was found that these persons, although referred to as postal clerks, were employed and paid as postal helpers, that they had passed no examination whatever and that there was a considerable list of qualified candidates for the class postal helper awaiting employment. The commission therefore found it impossible to issue certificates for the persons selected by the department.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF STAFF

In September, after the Special Session of Parliament a letter was received from the Honourable Senator Robertson, Minister of Labour, pointing out that a small organization must of necessity be established for the purpose of administering the $20,000,000 grant which had been passed by Parliament for the purpose of relieving unemployment. The minister stated that this staff would function only until March 31, 1931, that it would be kept within as narrow limits as possible and that it must of necessity be more than usually efficient. In the absence of an eligible list, the minister was given authority to select the Director of Federal Unemployment Relief and nominated for that office Mr. Harry Hereford who had been for some years connected with the Department of Labour and whose experience, it was felt, eminently fitted him for the position. The minister was informed that the commission had on its eligible lists sufficiently well qualified stenographers and clerks for assignment to the other positions on the staff. However, the minister, being in urgent need of a staff, made his own selections and reported them to the commission. Their qualifications were duly considered; in most cases they were found to be sessional employees with whose qualifications the commission was thoroughly familiar, and it was accordingly decided that, rather than delay the work, certificates should be issued for those chosen by Senator Robertson who were already on duty, on the understanding that the balance of the staff would be recruited through the regular channels. The minister was also allowed to select men for inspecting the works to relieve unemployment carried on throughout the various provinces of Canada, as no eligible list was in existence for this class of employment. Such officers were classified as wage investigator and mediator. The small staff recruited by the Minister of Labour has done excellent work. It has recently been depleted by the return of four members to the sessional staff of the House of Commons and Senate, but the commission is advised that the work is so well in hand that it is expected that these employees need not be replaced.

SEPARATIONS

During the year, eighteen hundred and eight (1,808) separations from the public service took place. Of these fourteen hundred and seventy-six (1,476) were from permanent positions, two hundred (200) from seasonal, and one hundred and thirty-two (132) from postmasterships.

SUPERANNUATION

Under the Civil Service Superannuation Act of 1924, chapter 24 of the Revised Statutes of 1927, the Civil Service Commission is required to report as to whether the granting of superannuation or retiring allowances will be in the public interest. During the year the commission approved the granting of annuities in connection with one hundred and seventy-one (171) retirements. These retirements were consummated for the following reasons: ill health eighty-three (83); abolition of position eighty-eight (88), of which eighty-six (86) were in the Department of the Interior.

EXEMPTIONS

Exemptions of Positions and Services by Recent Legislation.

It is noted by the commissioners that in the past few years the following statutes have, in whole or in part, exempted certain positions from the operation of the Civil Service Act:—

CUSTOMS APPRAISERS PREVENTIVE SERVICE, ETC.

18-19 Geo. V, Chapter 37, 1928.

"Section three of the Department of National Revenue Act, chapter one hundred and thirty-seven of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927, is amended by adding thereto the following subsections:—

"(4) The minister may, after such examination as he may prescribe, select and nominate suitable persons for appointment by the Civil Service Commission, to positions appertaining to any of the following classes of officers:—

"(a) Customs appraisers of all classes whether serving at the various ports and places of entry or as Dominion appraisers;

"(b) All officers in the Customs Excise preventive service;

"(c) All officers assigned to duty as investigators of values and claims for drawback."

PENSIONS REGISTRARS

20-21, Geo. V, Chapter 35, 1930

"10E (1) Notwithstanding anything in the Civil Service Act or any other statute, the Governor in Council may appoint a registrar of the Pension Appeal Court and a registrar of the Pension Tribunal who shall have their offices at Ottawa."

PENSIONS ADVOCATES

20-21, Geo. V, Chapter 35, 1930

"10D(1) Notwithstanding anything in the Civil Service Act, the Governor in Council may on the recommendation of the Commission appoint a chief commission counsel, and on the like recommendation a number of commission counsels not exceeding seven."

CERTAIN GRAIN COMMISSION EMPLOYEES

R.S., 1927, Chapter 86, Part III, Section 112, ss. 3 and 4

"112. (3) Any elevator of His Majesty may be managed and operated by such person or by such body as may be appointed or created for such purpose by the Governor in Council, and such salaries as may be fixed by the Governor in Council shall be paid to such person or to such body operating such elevators.

"(4) Such other officers and employees as may be required for the proper operation of all such elevators may be appointed by such person or body as may be appointed or created under the preceding subsection."

EMPLOYEES OF THE RESEARCH COUNCIL

R.S., 1927, Chapter 177, Section 2 (b) and 10 (f)

"2 (b) "'Committee' shall mean the Committee of the Privy Council on Scientific and Industrial Research;

"10. Without limiting the general powers of the Council conferred upon or vested in it by this Act, it is hereby declared that the Council may exercise the following powers, namely:—

"(f) With the approval of the Committee, to appoint such scientific, technical and other officers as shall be nominated by the President, and to fix the tenure of such appointments, to prescribe the several duties of such officers, and, subject to the approval of the Governor in Council, to fix their remuneration."

INCOME TAX

R.S., 1927, Chapter 97, Part X, Section 76

"76. The Governor in Council may from time to time appoint officers and other persons to carry out this Act or any Order in Council or regulations made hereunder.

"2. The Governor in Council may assign the names of office of such officers and other persons, and prescribe such salaries or pay for their services and responsibilities as he deems necessary and reasonable, and may appoint the times and manner in which the same shall be paid."

True, it is not the office of the Civil Service Commission to criticize the actions taken by Parliament, but the commission believes it to be its duty to point out that it will be a matter of only a few years until a situation as regards classifications and salaries will prevail again as chaotic as that which existed prior to the passing of the Civil Service Act, 1918.

EMPLOYMENT OF LABOURERS IN CLERICAL AND OTHER CLASSIFIED POSITIONS

It is the duty of the Civil Service Commission to issue certificates of classification for employees appointed to exempt positions. In some instances it has been observed that departments are employing persons without reference to the Civil Service Commission to do work which is of a clerical nature or the work of a classified non-exempt position. Such cases as come to the commission's attention and in which it is the opinion of the commission that persons are being employed by departments contrary to the provisions of the Civil Service Act will be reported to the Auditor General with the request that the pay of such employees be withheld, pending the proper filling of the positions.

ORGANIZATION

Organization of Departments

The commissioners again wish to draw attention to the fact that departments are still building up offices and positions in their respective jurisdictions which duplicate functions carried on by other departments. In the requests which the departments make of the commission for staff for these offices very substantial and conclusive arguments are put forth as reasons as to the necessity for these positions, and under the present distribution of departmental work it is almost impossible for the commission not to acquiesce in the departments' requests.

As an illustration the commission would draw attention to the legal staff in several departments. Good reasons are always advanced for the creation of such positions. The commission's views are that all such work should be done by the Department of Justice, and if a legal officer is required full time by a department, that the services of such an employee should be detailed for duty to the particular department from the Justice Department. The same condition holds good as regards architects, engineers, surveyors, etc. It might serve as an actual illustration of decentralization to state that at this time there are architectural staffs employed in the following departments:—

- Public Works,
- National Defence,
- Indian Affairs,
- Justice,
- Health (in the Health Division and in the Pensions Division),
- Interior, Parks Branch,
- Agriculture, Experimental Farms Branch,
- Marine.

Complete Survey of Departmental Organizations

Section 4 (e) of the Civil Service Act provides as follows:—

"4. The duties of the Commission shall be

"(c) to make an annual report on the organization and staff, including the duties and salaries of such staff, of each portion of the civil service;"

Because of lack of staff and work consequent upon bringing into existence and maintaining a new system, up to the present time it has been impossible for the commission to carry on any more than a general review rather than a detailed one as is provided by the Act. It is the commission's view that this work can now be undertaken and a careful survey made of several departments each year, so that in the course of two or three years every department of Government will have been carefully reviewed and reported upon.

The work involved in such a survey requires infinite patience and tact on the part of those making the survey and good results can be attained only when the active co-operation of the chief departmental officers is enlisted. To this end the commissioners will approach each department head before proceeding with such work.

Organization Work Completed

Surveys of a considerable number of branches of departments have been completed during the year and establishments of positions completed for these branches. In addition to many minor organization changes, establishments for complete units have been authorized during the year for the following:—

Civil Service Commission:

A complete review of the work and staff of the commission.

External Affairs:

Establishment of positions for the Canadian Legation at Washington.
Partial reorganization, Passport Office.

Finance:

General review of establishment of positions.

Immigration and Colonization:

A complete establishment of positions for the Accounts Branch; accompanied by changes in procedure and the installation of a double entry system for keeping accounts.

Interior:

An establishment for the office of the Supervisory Mining Engineer.

Partial establishment for Preferred Class Penitentiary, Collin's Bay

Marine:

Partial reorganization of Records Branch. Establishment for Meteorological Service.

National Defence:

General review and new establishment for the Accounts Branch is being proceeded with.

National Revenue:

The drawing up of a new establishment for the Inspection Service is being proceeded with.

Pensions and National Health:

Establishment of positions for Pensions, Tribunals, and so forth.

Return of Natural Resources, Department of the Interior

The recent agreements by which the natural resources have been given to the provinces will result in the disbanding within the next year of practically the whole of the Lands Branch of the Department of the Interior. This means that something over six hundred (600) employees will become surplus to requirements. A considerable number of these employees will be absorbed by the province. Those who have reached or nearly reached superannuation age will be retired. To the end of the year the commission has approved of the superannuation of eighty-six (86) employees and has been able to effect the transfer of about sixty-five (65) employees to other branches of the service. During the last three months of this fiscal year it may be possible for the commission to effect other transfers; a certain number will no doubt be retained for a period as a continuing staff, to carry on necessary closing out work, but it would seem inevitable that a considerable number will have to be retired due to the abolition of their positions. It seems unfortunate that the services of such employees should be lost to the Service, many of them being comparatively young men and women who have had for the most part most excellent training.

Requisitions for Permanent Appointment

It is the opinion of the commissioners that a very careful investigation should be made of all requisitions received, requesting new permanent appointments. In the report of the Special Committee of the Senate on the Civil Service, 1924, the following recommendations were made:—

“Your Committee therefore recommends:

- “(1) That when a vacancy occurs in the public service by reason of death, resignation or otherwise, such vacancy be filled by promotion or otherwise except on report of the Civil Service Commission after consultation with the Minister or Deputy Minister. In case of disagreement the facts should be referred to the Governor in Council for decision, and a report should be made to Parliament respecting all such decisions with the reasons therefor.
- “(2) That an Order in Council be passed instructing the Civil Service Commission to proceed with the reorganization of those departments of the public service which have not been reorganized within recent years, and enjoining deputy heads to render the Commission the fullest co-operation and assistance. This order should further require the Commission to report to the Governor in Council and to Parliament all instances where their work is hampered or delayed by lack of co-operation upon the part of Deputy Ministers or their chief officials.
- “(3) That by carefully checking all requests for appointments, by absorbing surplus personnel through transfer, and by any other means in its power, the Civil Service Commission use all its endeavours to obviate the necessity of filling vacancies with new personnel; and further that the Commission endeavour to reduce the number of existing positions by having those which are not essential abolished.
- “(4) That with a view to decreasing staffs and increasing the efficiency of the service the Government should consider the advisability of proceeding as soon as practicable with the construction of suitable departmental buildings to be erected on property now owned by the Dominion.”

These recommendations appear to the commissioners to be worthy of consideration at this time.

CLASSIFICATION

Continual Pressure of Departments to have the Classification of Positions revised for higher rates of compensation.

Although the pressure to obtain higher rates of compensation has not been so marked during the past year, the drive to obtain higher classification for individual positions has been almost as pronounced as ever. There are any number of cases on record where a department has requested upward revision for the same position for two or three years in succession. Usually, to be perfectly fair to the departments, it is the case of a particularly conscientious and worthy employee that is brought up, but such qualifications do not alter the value of the work of the employee as compared with parallel positions in other departments. The request of the department under such circumstances can only be refused.

The commission has refrained from recommending any revisions in compensation for positions which were dealt with in the Beatty Commission report.

Appeals against Classification, Department of Pensions and National Health:

As a result of the classification of some eighteen hundred (1,800) positions in the Department of Pensions and National Health, Pensions Division, which were reported upon in the commission's report for 1929, the commission received a considerable number of appeals against the gradings granted individual positions. These appeal cases were carefully investigated, the investigations necessitating a visit by one of the commission's officers to each of the district offices of the department. As a result of these appeals eighty-nine (89) positions in the department proper, and sixteen (16) in the Board of Pension Commissioners, were granted revised classifications.

Investigation of a situation regarding Annual Increments

A very careful study of this matter was made during the year, as a result of which the commission recommended, that all classes in the Classification of the Civil Service of Canada with a maximum salary of $1,800 or more which were then entitled to $60 annual increments should have their annual increments increased to $120. As yet no decision has been reached in this matter.

LEGISLATION

Private Secretaries

It would seem that a retrograde step was taken, in so far as civil service legislation is concerned, when Chapter 38, 19-20 George V, was placed on the statutes. Legislation of this character has a tendency to dishearten the conscientious, hardworking employee whose chances of advancement are blocked by the preferment of an ex-Minister's private secretary, and the lowering of interest in the personnel is reflected inevitably in the character of the work performed.

It is also open to question whether, from the point of view of efficiency and economy, the departments are benefited by having their higher supervisory positions filled by persons who are unfamiliar with their work. In many instances, no doubt, the private secretary is a capable official who may, if he has had years of experience as private secretary in a department, speedily become of value to the staff. On the other hand, the tendency is to create in some departments unnecessary higher-grade positions, or to fill those already vacant with a view rather to the interest of the private secretary than to that of the department. It may be pointed out, further, that the legislation in question is contrary to the whole spirit of the Civil Service Act, inasmuch as private secretaries are appointed without competition, and the section of the Act requiring that vacancies be filled as far as possible by promotion is contravened.

Superannuation

While the Civil Service Superannuation Act, 1924, is not administered by the Civil Service Commission, it has, nevertheless, a certain bearing upon the work of the commission's office, particularly in connection with the granting of retiring leave, and the Commissioners feel it their duty, therefore, to call attention to certain anomalies in the application of the Act which make it difficult for the commission to deal justly with all parties.

Subsection 2 of section 10 of the Civil Service Superannuation Act reads as follows:—

"No contributor shall be retained in the Civil Service beyond the age of seventy years: Provided that if the deputy head of any department reports, within two years after the nineteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four, in respect of any contributor in such department who, whether before or after the coming into force of this Act, attains the age of seventy years, or not less than thirty days before the attainment of the said age by any contributor, that on account of his peculiar efficiency and fitness for his position the continuance in office of such contributor beyond the said age is in the public interest, and if such report is concurred in by the head of the department and the Treasury Board, the Governor in Council may extend annually the service of such contributor beyond the said age for a period not exceeding five years."

The Department of Justice has ruled, with reference to the above section, that this provision does not operate automatically to remove from the service a contributor, whose service has not been extended, upon his attainment of the age of seventy years, but only imposes a duty upon the Governor in Council to retire the officer from the service within a reasonable time of his attainment of the given age. The responsibility for determining what is a reasonable time within which a contributor should be retired after his attainment of the given age rests not in any respect upon the Civil Service Commission, but primarily upon the department concerned and ultimately upon the Governor in Council who may be called upon to justify to Parliament the retention of a contributor in the service beyond the given age when his service has not been extended. It will be seen, therefore, that if a department overlooks the necessity for recommending to Treasury Board the extension of an employee's service, or if such recommendation is not made within the limit of time prescribed by the Act and cannot, in consequence, be accepted by the Treasury Board, there is no absolutely mandatory provision for discontinuing the employee's services, and the department may, if it sees fit, and frequently does retain the said employee's services for a considerable time, sometimes amounting to four or five years.

On the other hand, the Department of Justice has ruled that the annual extension of service (under the section of the Act above quoted) is tantamount to an appointment for the period of a year, and that the employee's connection with the service is automatically terminated on the expiry of the said year's extension, if a further extension has not been previously granted. This has the effect of putting a definite period to the employment of a contributor in whose case the provisions of the Act have been observed, while in cases where the Act is ignored the employment may, as stated above, be continued indefinitely.

The commission is, therefore, at a loss to know what may be the probable term of employment of any employee who is nearing seventy years of age, and is therefore hampered in its efforts to deal judiciously with applications for leave of absence. Moreover, the unfairness of the provision has been clearly manifested lately in connection with retiring leave, the Government having found it inadvisable to accept any applications from the departments for extension of service. Employees whose service had not been extended were found, under the above rulings, to be eligible for the full amount of retiring leave which they might be granted, in accordance with length of service, under the provisions of the Civil Service Regulations. Employees whose service had been extended, and for whom further extension could not be secured, were perforce separated from the service on the expiry of the extension which had been granted, and in a great many cases could be given only a fraction of the retiring leave which from their length of service and enviable record they had a right to expect.

In the opinion of the commission it is most advisable that the Civil Service Superannuation Act should be amended to give the same treatment to all, and that the section above quoted should provide definitely for the retirement of an employee at the age of seventy if he is not being continued in office on account of peculiar efficiency and fitness.

CIVIL SERVICE ACT AND REGULATIONS

Extended Sick Leave

In the course of this year exception was taken by the Auditor General's office to the practice followed by many departments of granting extended sick leave prior to retirement. Before being taken up with the Civil Service Commission, the question had been submitted to the law officers of the Crown and rulings had been obtained to the effect that the Civil Service Commission had discretionary authority, under section 73 of the Civil Service Regulations, to refuse in any particular case to approve the granting of retiring leave; that sick leave could not properly be granted to an employee if the department had information that he did not intend to return at the termination of such leave; and that retiring leave could not properly be granted in addition to sick leave to an employee who, with the knowledge and approval of the department, did not intend to return to his duties at the termination of his sick leave. The Auditor General took the stand, in which he was upheld by the Department of Justice, that sick leave was intended to benefit the service as well as the individual and that it should be granted solely for the purpose of allowing the employee's health to be so far restored as to make it possible for him to resume his duties in the department. He held that to grant sick leave, when it was known that the employee did not intend returning to his duties, was virtually granting him additional retiring leave to that which he might be allowed under the regulations. The Civil Service Commissioners, having the matter laid before them in this way, found it incumbent upon them to circularize the deputy heads of departments, inasmuch as sick leave up to a limit of six months within a fiscal year may be granted by the deputy head without reference to the commission; and accordingly, on the 17th of October, 1930, a letter was issued to all departments advising them that, in all cases of extended sick leave, careful inquiry should be made as to the likelihood of the employee's complete recovery and that sick leave should not be allowed if retirement were contemplated. The departments were further informed that in all applications to the commission for the granting of retiring leave in cases where extended sick leave had already been allowed, a certificate would be required of the department to the effect that the application was made as soon as it was known that retirement was contemplated, and that such sick leave as had already been granted was granted in good faith on the understanding that the employee in question would eventually be restored to health and able to resume his duties in the department. Inquiry has been made into various cases since that time but no serious violation of the Regulations has been observed.

Salary Increases

A change has been made in the method of dealing with annual salary increases in certain cases. Hitherto, all employees who had reached their maximum salary prior to receiving a promotion were not considered eligible for salary increase until one year from the date of promotion notwithstanding the fact that their promotion itself might not have given them any immediate increase. In cases where the compensation of the class was increased, without any change in class title, however, no promotion certificate was required and the employee who had been in receipt of the former maximum salary for one year or more was considered eligible to be increased to the next rate in the range from the effective date of the increased rate of compensation—that is to say, that an employee whose rate of compensation was increased might be eligible for immediate increase, while an employee whose classification was changed was not eligible for increase.

In many cases the duties and responsibilities of certain employees increase in the ordinary development of work which they undertake and, because proper relativity would be upset by increasing the remuneration of the class as a whole, a new class title must be provided for the individual. The commissioners considered that an employee in this position was entitled to the same treatment as one whose rate of compensation had been increased and accordingly the procedure which had hitherto been followed was amended to provide therefor. Effective the 1st of April, 1929, the commissioners revised their ruling and adopted the following: "In cases where the compensation of a class is increased or a new class is created for a position occupied by an employee who is himself reclassified without competition in the new class, employees who have been in receipt of their former maximum salary for one year or more and whose said salary is not immediately increased by the above change by more than half the regular increase rate of the new class shall be eligible for annual increase, if recommended therefor, from the effective date of the change."

An immediate protest was raised by various departments and individuals, not against the ruling itself so far as it went, but on the ground that it did not go far enough. It was claimed that all employees whose positions were reclassified in a higher grade were on the same footing and that no difference should be made between those who were reclassified from one established grade to another and those for whom an entirely new class of compensation was provided. The commission feels that there is justice in this contention and would itself have recommended a wider application of the principle enunciated in the ruling given above if it had not felt that the additional cost would require the sanction of the Government. The ruling as given above affected not more than sixty-five positions. If applied to all classified positions, it would run into the hundreds. Accordingly it was decided to submit the matter to the Governor General in Council for decision and a recommendation was prepared, covering an amendment to section 83 (a) and (b) of the Regulations, which would permit of more generous treatment. This recommendation was forwarded to Council on the 18th of December last but has not yet been approved.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF THE UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE FOR EXTERNAL AFFAIRS, OTTAWA

The Rt. Hon. R. B. BENNETT, K.C., M.P.,
Secretary of State for External Affairs,
Ottawa.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the customary annual review of the business of the department for the calendar year 1930.

I regret to report the departure of the Hon. Jean Knight, the first diplomatic representative of the French Republic in Canada, consequent on his appointment to a high post in the Foreign Office of his country. In the interval between M. Knight's departure and the arrival of his successor, M. Henri Coursier has acted very acceptably as Charge d'Affaires.

Canada has had the honour during 1930 of welcoming the Hon. Hanford MacNider, Minister of the United States of America, in the place of the Hon. William Phillips whose retirement was noted in the previous annual report.

By an exchange of notes of August 8 and November 5, 1930, the Government of Norway formally recognized the Canadian title to the Arctic islands commonly known as the Sverdrup group, comprising Axel Heiberg, Ellef Ringnes, Amund Ringnes, and King Christian. This friendly action on the part of the Norwegian Government has removed the one possible ground of dispute as to Canadian sovereignty in the whole Arctic sector north of the mainland of Canada.

OFFICES ABROAD

To refer to the work of the offices operating under the Secretary of State for External Affairs outside of Canada:

London

I regret to record the death on February 3, 1930, of the Hon. P. C. Larkin, who had served as High Commissioner for Canada in the United Kingdom since 1922. Mr. Lucien Pacaud, the Secretary of the Office, has performed the duties of Acting High Commissioner in the interval between the death of Mr. Larkin and the arrival in London of the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, who has recently been appointed to the vacancy created by the resignation of the Hon. Vincent Massey.

As representative and resident agent of Canada in the United Kingdom, the High Commissioner's functions are manifold and various. In addition to his statutory duty of supervision and control of the immigration offices and agencies in Great Britain, his office has become a channel for maintaining the necessary detailed relations between His Majesty's Governments in Canada and the United Kingdom.

The High Commissioner is charged with carrying out the Government's instructions respecting the commercial, financial, and general interests of Canada in Great Britain. The purchase of military and air equipment and supplies, the requisition of naval stores, the general supervision of governmental expenditure and contracts in the United Kingdom, and the collection of interest and amortization charges on debts due the Government of Canada, constitute a great part of the routine business of the office which naturally does not vary greatly in character from year to year. During the eleven months ending November 30, 1930, aggregate expenditure administered on behalf of departments of the Canadian Government by the High Commissioner's Office amounted to $3,605,880. Reparation payments received for the Government totalled $5,422,130 and collections of principal and interest on post-war loans to various European Governments were $1,524,030 in the same period. Ancillary financial activities of the Office included arrangements for the issue, transfer, and redemption of Grand Trunk Pacific new debenture stock, the collection from the Pacific Cable Board of the Canadian Government's share of the proceeds of the Imperial Atlantic cables under the Board's control, and the checking of securities held in London in accordance with the provisions of the Canadian Insurance Act.

Arrangements for the interchange of naval and military personnel, preparations for the flight of the dirigible R100, and plans for the more effective co-operation of educational institutions in Canada and the United Kingdom, all engaged the attention of the High Commissioner's Office. Members of its staff have served from time to time on the Imperial Economic Committee, the Imperial Shipping Committee, and the Empire Marketing Board, and have co-operated with the Imperial War Graves Commission and the Imperial Institute in their undertakings affecting Canada.

The Office has continued to serve as a centre for Canadians in the United Kingdom and as a bureau of information in its contacts with the press, in answering inquiries regarding Canadian laws and regulations, and in the provision of general and specific information regarding Canada.

The High Commissioner's Office has earned a useful reputation as a reliable source of information on every phase of the economic development of the Dominion. Its reference files of official and other publications, relative to Canadian natural resources and industrial opportunities, are always available and widely used by banks and business houses interested in the development of inter-Imperial commerce. During the year a collection of photographs, illustrative of the mines, forests, manufacturing, farming, and other industries of Canada has been enlarged and revised with the co-operation of the National Development Bureau and is now an extremely useful supplement to the documentary material of the files. This work of the Office has been extended during recent years by the circulation to a selected mailing list of regular press bulletins disseminating information about Canadian industrial and business conditions that might not otherwise be readily available to the British investor and industrialist interested in Canada. These regular bulletins include Canadian Natural Resources and Industrial Notes, Canadian Official Mining News Record, Canadian Mining and Metallurgical Notes, and Canadian Official Fruit Export Cablegrams. These special services have been supplemented by a wide distribution of the press bulletins and publications of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and the National Development Bureau and have helped appreciably in the accurate presentation of Canadian activities and opportunities throughout the United Kingdom.

Washington

During July the Hon. Vincent Massey relinquished his position as Canadian Minister in Washington, after a successful tenure of office which lasted for three and a half years. Pending the appointment of a new minister, Mr. Hume Wrong, Counsellor of the Legation, has since then been in charge of the Legation.

During most of the year the activity at the Legation reached the same high level as in 1929. In the later months there was some falling off in activity, the main cause of which was that Congress was in recess from July to December, while during 1929, it was in almost continuous session. The chief single field of work at the Legation consists in reporting to the Department of External Affairs concerning the activities of the Government of the United States which have a direct or indirect interest to Canada; by reason of the contiguity of the two countries and of the similarity between many governmental problems in them both, the purely domestic activities of the Government of the United States are often of concern to the Canadian authorities.

In the field of international negotiation, the principal achievement was the signature on May 26 of a revised Convention for the Protection and Preservation of the Sockeye Salmon Fisheries in the Fraser River System, by the Hon. Vincent Massey and the Hon. H. L. Stimson, Secretary of State of the United States. Problems connected with international waterways, aviation, fisheries, radio broadcasting, extradition, deportation, smuggling, claims, and other matters have also been the subject of diplomatic correspondence with the Government of the United States; many other questions have been taken up in a less formal manner.

Numerous reports have been submitted on legislation by Congress and on the activities of the administration. The principal single question was the new Tariff Act, which passed into law on June 17. In addition, there have been important developments in the United States during the year on the following subjects: farm and drought relief, unemployment, merchant shipping, postal subsidies, the regulation of electric power, war pensions, prison administration, and inland waterway development. The limitation of naval armaments, the movements of political opinion in the United States, the course of the prohibition controversy, the trading relations between the United States and the Soviet Union, the series of problems raised by the economic depression, the United States system of representation abroad—these and other subjects have been made the subject of careful study and report.

The Legation has continued to perform its usual duties in serving the interests of individual Canadians. Alterations in the tariff, both in the United States and in Canada, gave rise to an unusually large volume of commercial inquiries. Many cases of Canadians under order of deportation from the United States have also been investigated and, when circumstances warranted, made the subject of representations to the proper authorities. Personal inquiries and grievances concerning immigration, pensions, the securing of clemency, customs seizures, passports, and many other matters have been dealt with or referred to the proper authority.

Paris

During its second year as a Legation, Canadian diplomatic representation in Paris has been occupied to an increasing extent with questions and inquiries of interest to Canada and to Canadians and with the further development of friendly Franco-Canadian relations. Evidence of the range and diversity of the Legation's activities is seen in the summary of its official duties during the past year. Diplomatic correspondence has taken place between the Governments of Canada and the French Republic and reports have been addressed to the Secretary of State for External Affairs on the following, among other, subjects: French customs classification of Canadian products, reciprocal exemption of shipping profits on income tax, regulations affecting the importation of Canadian wheat into France, double taxation of banks and industrial concerns, negotiation of a postal agreement between Canada and France, the allocation of radio wave lengths on the continent of Europe, and fishing rights and regulations.

In various formal and informal ways, attention has been given to international ceremonies, official visits, the issue of diplomatic and courtesy visas, and the extension of courtesies to private visitors from Canada to France. The permanent colony of Canadians, resident in France, and the numerous company of students continuing their studies in Paris, have come to rely on the Legation for advice and assistance in many fields where quasi-consular aid is needed.

During the year the staff of the Legation supplemented the Canadian representation at several international conferences, including the Conference on the Codification of International Law at the Hague from March 12 to April 13, 1930, where the Hon. Philippe Roy was head of the Canadian Delegation and the Counsellor of the Legation served as a technical delegate; the Conference on the Limitation of Naval Armament in London where M. Roy relieved the Minister of National Defence as chief Canadian delegate, and signed the resulting Treaty for Canada; the Eighteenth Session of the International Commission for Air Navigation at Antwerp in June which the Minister attended in company with representatives of the Department of National Defence and the International Congress on Air Navigation Safety in Paris in December, where the Counsellor of the Legation was the principal Canadian representative. The Trust Agreement between the Bank of International Settlements and the creditors of Germany was signed for Canada on May 22 by the Minister, and the Counsellor represented the Canadian Government in the technical discussions preceding the mobilization of German Reparation Bonds provided for by the Hague Reparations Conference of January, 1930.

As in the past, the Canadian Legation has been represented at the regular meetings of the International Institute of Intellectual Co-operation and the Institut International du Froid.

Tokyo

Of first importance among the activities of the year has been the inauguration of the new method of control over Japanese immigration into Canada in which the Legation has worked in close co-operation with the Department of Immigration. The introduction of the visa system, which has entailed additional clerical work in the Legation, promises to eliminate much of the friction inseparable from restrictive legislation.

The growing interest of Canadians in the possibilities of trade expansion in the Orient has enabled the Legation to increase its usefulness as a source of accurate and detailed information relative to the social and economic situation which conditions further the development of Canadian business in the Far East. Inquiries from Canadian individuals and organizations have received the careful attention of the Minister and steps have been taken to introduce a wider appreciation of Canadian business opportunities in trading and commercial circles in Japan. In particular, the Legation has been studying the prospects of increasing the demand for Canadian wheat and flour in Japan and China, and negotiations have recently been commenced with the Chinese Government with a view to assuring a favourable market for wheat in that country. An outstanding feature of the year was the highly successful visit to Japan of the delegation of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce for which practically all the arrangements were made by the Legation.

During the past year diplomatic correspondence has arisen between the Governments of Canada and Japan and reports have been addressed to the Government of Canada on the regulations governing, and the returns received from the seal fisheries in which Canada has a monetary interest; the reciprocal exemption of Canadian and Japanese shipping profits from the payment of income tax; the extradition of violators of the Canadian Narcotic Drugs Act; and the rights of certain classes of Canadian and Japanese to land temporarily in the ports of the other country without being in possession of passport visas.

The Legation has become the centre of a growing Canadian community in Japan and has co-operated with the educational, missionary, and trading interests in the fostering of friendly understanding between the Canadians and Japanese to the general advantage of Canadian interests in the Orient.

Geneva.

As noted in the last annual report of the department, the work of the Canadian Advisory Office at Geneva, as the established channel of communication between the Government of Canada and the League of Nations, has continued to grow with the responsibilities involved in the place in the League's organization which has been attained by the Dominion. During the year 1930 Canada's tenure of a non-permanent seat on the Council of the League came to an end; at the Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Sessions of the Council, Canada was represented by Senator Dandurand, and at the Sixtieth Session in September, by the Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Borden. At the meetings of the Governing Body of the International Labour Office, of which Canada is a permanent member, Dr. Riddell, the Canadian Advisory Officer, represented the Minister of Labour. In addition to attending, as adviser, the meetings of the Council, and, as alternate delegate, the Eleventh Session of the Assembly, he has represented Canada on the Sub-committee of Agricultural Experts examining the international aspects of the agricultural depression, the Committee on Security and Arbitration, and the Preparatory Commission for the General Disarmament Conference which met in Geneva from November 6 to December 9. Dr.

Riddell also attended as an observer the Conferences for Concerted Economic Action held under the auspices of the League at which Canada was not officially represented. Reports on the various questions before the League have been forwarded to the Secretary of State for External Affairs, and an increasing measure of information as to League activities furnished Canadian correspondents and the growing number of Canadians who visit Geneva each year.

REPORT
DEPUTY MINISTER OF LABOUR
FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDING MARCH 31, 1930

To the Hon. Senator G. D. ROBERTSON, LL.D., Minister of Labour.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit a report on the work of the Department of Labour for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1930.

Business activity, which moved steadily forward during the first few months of the fiscal period, slackened as it became evident that the western crops would, owing to the drought, be much smaller than in any of the four preceding years. Other retarding conditions then developed. Not only was the volume of grain harvested in Western Canada substantially less than in 1928, but an unprecedentedly large percentage of what was produced remained unsold in Canadian elevators. The smaller crop, coupled with the increased use of farm machinery, resulted in no demand being made upon Eastern Canada for harvest workers for the Prairie Provinces: consequently, for the first time in a quarter century, no harvest trains were run to the West.

This crop condition instantly resulted in a reduction of purchasing power, the rise of doubt concerning trade stability, and the reduction of employment opportunities for railway workers. Following sharply upon this situation came the stock market crash, in which was registered the effects of the unfavourable world-wide economic conditions which have continued to the present time to depress industry and create an unhealthy state of employment.

Statistics compiled by the department reflect the unfavourable influence which the existing trade depression has exercised upon employment opportunities. During the preceding fiscal year the offices of the Employment Service of Canada found employment for 472,977 workpeople, while the total placements made during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1930, were only 401,509. Unemployment among trade unionists as reported by labour organizations to the Department of Labour, as at March 31, 1929, was 6 per cent, while the percentage as at March 31, 1930, was 10·8.

The cost of living as computed by the Department of Labour was slightly higher during the winter of 1929-30 than at any time since 1925. This advance was largely due to the influence exerted upon prices by the decline in the current crop yield, the index for the food group reflecting the greatest seasonal increase over the preceding years.

Wage rates showed an upward tendency in all trades concerning which the department compiles index numbers, with the exception of coal mining, which was stationary, and reached a point exceeded only in 1920 and, in the case of common factory labour, 1921. The most general and pronounced advance was in the building trades. Increases secured in the steam railway industry were by shop employees and maintenance-of-way men, and some classes of train crews on certain lines. Substantial increases took place in the wages paid the metal, printing, and electric railway trades, while slight increases occurred in logging, saw-milling, miscellaneous factory trades and common factory labour.

The record as to strikes and lockouts in Canada measured by time loss during 1929 showed a marked improvement, the time loss in the ninety disputes in existence amounting to but 154,936 working days, the lowest figure recorded since 1915. The numbers of employers and workers involved were also much lower than in any year since 1915, while the disputes which did occur were of brief duration, over 71 per cent lasting less than fifteen days.

The value of the conciliation service of the department was evidenced during the year in successful mediation in a large number of industrial controversies which had threatened to assume grave proportions. A list of the more important labour troubles in which mediatorial service was rendered will be found in the chapter on Conciliation Work. Much of the real negotiations must necessarily remain unrecorded, however, as publicity is apt to retard the work of the department's representatives and often affects adversely the relationship of those concerned even after the differences have been adjusted.

FAIR WAGES POLICY

Fair wages conditions were prepared or sanctioned by the Department of Labour during the fiscal year 1929-30 for insertion in 434 contracts for Dominion public works executed by various departments of the Government, and in 14 contracts awarded by certain harbour commissioners for works aided by Dominion public funds. These conditions for the protection of the labour to be employed were prepared in accordance with the terms of the Fair Wages Policy of the Government of Canada as set forth in an Order in Council adopted on June 7, 1922, and amended April 9, 1924.

Fair wages conditions in water-power development were made the subject of an Order in Council adopted on December 3, 1929, on the recommendation of the Minister of the Interior. This order requires the insertion in the regulations governing the mode of granting and administering Dominion water-power rights in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta and in the Northwest Territories, of conditions for the protection of labour employed in the construction, alteration, extension, maintenance and operation of works authorized by licence. The conditions in question are similar in terms to the fair wages conditions which apply to contracts for the construction of Dominion public buildings and other works, the Minister of Labour being named as the authority to determine for the purposes of the licence what are the current or fair and reasonable rates of wages and the current and fair and reasonable hours. The Order in Council also stipulates that in all cases preference shall be given to the employment of Canadian labour.

FAIR WAGES AND EIGHT-HOUR DAY ACT

During the 1930 session of the federal Parliament a law was enacted respecting fair wages and an eight-hour day for labour employed on public works of the Dominion of Canada. This measure, the short title of which is the Fair Wages and Eight-Hour Day Act, 1930, gives statutory effect to the Fair Wages Policy of the Government in so far as concerns the construction, remodelling, repair or demolition of any works for the Government of Canada, whether carried out under contract or by workmen employed by the Government who are exempt from the operation of the Civil Service Act. In providing for the observance of current rates of wages, which have been applicable since the Fair Wages Resolution was adopted by the House of Commons in March, 1900, the important proviso is added that in all cases wages to be paid shall be such as are fair and reasonable, and, further, that the working hours shall not exceed eight hours per day except in special cases as the Governor in Council may otherwise provide, or in cases of emergency.

The Bill was introduced in the House of Commons on April 1, 1930, and became law on May 30. Although not coming within the period covered by this report, the text of the statute is, because of its importance, quoted herewith.

Following is the text of the Fair Wages and Eight Hour Day Act:—

EIGHT-HOUR DAY FOR GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES

The eight-hour day was, on the recommendation of the Minister of Labour, established for Dominion Government employees by Order in Council P.C. 670, approved by His Excellency the Governor General on March 27, 1930. The order provided that, except in cases where the work of employees was intermittent in character or the application of the rule was not deemed to be practicable or in the public interest, the hours of work of any federal Government employees who had up to that time been required to work more than eight hours daily should be reduced to eight hours a day, with a half-holiday on Saturday.

CONTRACT LABOUR

Representations reached the Government during the summer of 1929 that labour had been brought into Canada under contract or promise of employment, which was not needed, and resulted in the displacement of Canadian workers. An Order in Council was accordingly adopted on August 7, 1929, on the recommendation of the Minister of Immigration and Colonization, amending the Immigration Act so as to prohibit the landing in Canada of any immigrant under contract or agreement, express or implied, to perform labour or service of any kind other than agriculture or domestic unless the Minister of Immigration and Colonization is satisfied that his services are required in Canada.

In enforcing the provisions of the Order in Council, the Department of Immigration and Colonization inquires carefully into the circumstances of the many requests for admission which fall within the scope of this prohibition. Such cases are regularly referred to the Employment Service Branch of the Department of Labour for advice as to whether or not the admission of petitioners to follow the employment in question would be prejudicial to the interests of available Canadian labour. From the time the Order in Council was passed to the close of the fiscal year the Employment Service was required to pass upon some 200 cases falling in this category and the work incidental to these inquiries has entailed a considerable volume of additional duties for this branch of the department.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

Employment offices were conducted by the Dominion-Provincial Employment Service during the year in sixty-six centres of chief industrial activity, and continued to prove of value in the task of finding suitable employment for all classes of workmen. These offices supplied workers not only locally, but also to adjoining districts.

Persons placed in employment during the fiscal year 1929-30 numbered 401,509. Of these placements 256,690 were for a period in excess of seven days, while in 144,819 placements the duration of employment was seven days or less.

NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE COUNCIL

On the recommendation of the Minister of Labour an Order in Council was approved by His Excellency the Governor General on May 7, 1930, making provision for the setting up of a committee, representing both the Government and the Civil Service organizations, to draft a constitution for a National Civil Service Council. The House of Commons, in adopting a report of the Select Standing Committee on Industrial and International Relations on March 27, 1928, had endorsed the principle of the establishment of such a council, "composed of representatives of the Government and the organized Civil Service in equal numbers, to consider and advise the Government upon matters of mutual concern to the Government and civil servants in their respective capacities as employer and employees, also as to the establishing of any other consultative and advisory machinery that may be required".

OLD AGE PENSIONS

When the fiscal year was entered upon old age pensions were being paid in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, and in the Northwest Territories. Two additional provinces, Alberta and Ontario, had, during the closing months of 1928-29, enacted legislation giving effect within their respective territories to the federal Old Age Pensions Act. During the period now under review, 1929-30, each of the two latter provinces adopted regulations which were approved as the provincial schemes of administration, and agreements were executed between the federal and provincial authorities whereby pensions became payable in Alberta on August 1, 1929, and in Ontario as from November 1, 1929.

In Alberta administration is vested in the Workmen's Compensation Board of the province. Also a Board of Review is established, the duties of which are to investigate doubtful cases brought to its attention by the pension authority and issue a ruling accordingly. The provincial Act provides that ten per cent of the amount payable for pensions in each municipality shall be repaid to the provincial treasury by such municipality. Fifty per cent is repaid by the Dominion, leaving a balance of forty per cent to be supplied from the provincial exchequer.

Under the scheme of administration in Ontario local pension boards are established and are charged with the consideration of all applications for old age pensions in the first instance. From any decision of the local board an appeal may be made to the Old Age Pension Commission of Ontario which administers the provincial Act. The Ontario Act provides that thirty per cent of the contributions to pensions shall be borne by the province and twenty per cent by the municipality, except in provisional judicial districts (including the provisional county of Haliburton) other than the cities or towns of ten thousand or more population, in which case no municipal or local contribution is required, fifty per cent being contributed by the province. The Dominion reimburses the province the remaining fifty per cent.

In accordance with the conditions set forth in the federal Old Age Pensions Act, a pension is payable to any British subject of seventy years and upwards who is not in receipt of an income of as much as $365 a year and who has resided in Canada for the twenty years preceding, and has also resided in the province in which the application is made for the five years immediately preceding the granting of the pension. The maximum amount of pension payable under the Act is $240 yearly. In the event of a pensioner having a private income, the amount of the old age pension is subject to a reduction by the amount, if any, that the private income exceeds $125 a year. The administration of old age pensions is entrusted to the authorities appointed by the respective provincial governments. The Department of Labour of Canada pays quarterly to each province one-half of the total amount of the pensions paid by the provincial pension authority during the preceding three months. The accompanying table gives particulars of the expenditures under the Old Age Pensions Act and the various provincial concurrent Acts during the fiscal year 1929-30 and since these Acts became severally effective.

COMBINES INVESTIGATION ACT

Reference was made in the last annual report to the unanimous decision of the Supreme Court of Canada, on April 30, 1929, in favour of the constitutional validity of the Combines Investigation Act. An appeal from this judgment was entered, but at the close of the fiscal year the appeal had not been heard by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

The most important case dealt with under the Act during the fiscal year was that of the Amalgamated Builders' Council and other related organizations in the plumbing and heating industry. An investigation by a commissioner, Mr. Gordon Waldron, K.C., was begun in July, 1929, and completed in December, when the commissioner reported that in his opinion a combine existed. The Attorney-General of the province of Ontario, to whom the report was remitted, declined to take proceedings, and action was therefore instituted by the Federal Department of Justice. Counsel were appointed in February, 1930, but informations were not laid until after the close of the fiscal year. The report of proceedings under the Combines Investigation Act, which appears as part of this present volume, contains reference to court decisions growing out of this case, one of them affecting the constitutionality of the Trade Unions Act, and also to the cancellation of two certificates of registration issued under the latter statute to organizations of contractors against which the commissioner reported.

Preliminary inquiries into a trade association of electrical contractors in Toronto, an alleged combine in the motion picture industry, and an alleged combine of milk producers in Montreal, were among the more important matters dealt with under the Act. Other investigations were also in progress during the year.

GOVERNMENT ANNUITIES

Various forms of advertising were used to acquaint the people of Canada with the advantages of the Canadian Government Annuities system, and many thousands of inquiries regarding annuities reached the department. Although not quite up to the record achieved in 1927-28 and 1928-29, the amount of purchase money received for Government annuities during 1929-30 reached the large figure of $3,156,475.24, while the number of contracts issued, 1,257, was exceeded only in 1928-29.

INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES INVESTIGATION ACT

Proceedings under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act during the fiscal year were along the usual lines. Twenty-six applications for Boards of Conciliation and Investigation were dealt with and boards were granted in fourteen cases. Ten boards reported during the year. It is pleasing to be able to record that no strike or lockout developed following reference of a dispute under the terms of the statute.

This legislation, it will be remembered, was enacted on March 22, 1907. During the twenty-three years that have since elapsed applications under its provisions number 729; Boards of Conciliation and Investigation have been established in 499 cases, leaving 230 disputes which were either settled by other agencies than those of a Conciliation Board or in which it was found that the machinery of the statute could not be utilized.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION

The Technical Education Act was passed in 1919 and provided for the distribution of ten million dollars to the provinces over a period of ten years. Owing to the fact that eight of the provinces were unable to earn their full appropriations during this period, the Act was extended at the 1929 session of Parliament for a term of five years in order that those eight provinces might have a further opportunity of earning the balance to which they were entitled under the provisions of the Act.

Ontario had already earned its entire allotment when the ten year period terminated. During the year under review three other provinces, namely, British Columbia, Alberta and Quebec, earned and received the entire balance of their appropriations and no further payments on account of this work may be made to those provinces.

INTERNATIONAL LABOUR ORGANIZATION

Canada sent delegations comprising representatives of the Government, employers and workers, to both the twelfth and thirteenth sessions of the International Labour Conference which were held during the fiscal year at Geneva, Switzerland.

The twelfth conference was in session from May 30 to June 21, 1929, the main subjects considered being the prevention of industrial accidents, the protection against accidents of workers engaged in loading or unloading ships, the problem of forced labour, and the hours of work of salaried employees.

The thirteenth session of the conference, which extended from October 10 to 26, 1929, confined its time entirely to the study of maritime matters, namely, the regulation of hours of work on board ship, the protection of seamen in case of sickness, the promotion of seamen's welfare in port, and the establishment by each maritime country of a minimum requirement of professional capacity in the case of captains, chief engineers and navigating and engineer officers in charge of watches on board merchant ships.

The decisions of the two conferences on these various subjects are summarized in the chapter of this report devoted to the International Labour Organization.

GRANT TO CANADIAN NATIONAL SAFETY LEAGUE

A grant of $10,000 was again made by the Dominion Government in 1929-30 to the Canadian National Safety League to assist in the campaign of education in accident prevention work carried on by this private organization. The Canadian National Safety League acted during the year as a co-ordinating agency for the provincial safety leagues of British Columbia, Manitoba, Ontario, Quebec, and the Maritimes. The national organization also carried on a general campaign of safety in those provinces not yet organized.

DEPARTMENTAL PUBLICATIONS

The usual annual volumes were compiled and published by the department as follows: (1) Nineteenth Annual Report on Labour Organization in Canada; (2) Eighth Report on Organization in Industry, Commerce and the Professions in Canada; (3) Second Report on Co-operative Associations in Canada, and (4) Report on Labour Legislation in Canada, 1929. The latter report is the first annual supplement to the consolidated report showing all labour legislation in existence on December 31, 1928.

The Labour Gazette, the official monthly journal of the department, completed its twenty-ninth year of publication and followed in the main the lines of former years. Two supplements appeared with the Labour Gazette for January, 1930. The first related to Wages and Hours of Labour in Canada, 1920 to 1929, including the following trades: building, metal, printing, electric railways, steam railways, cartage, longshoremen, grain elevators, civic employment, electric power, telephone, lumbering, mining, laundry and factory labour in various industries. The second supplement, "Prices in Canada and Other Countries, 1929," had reference to the movement of wholesale and retail prices and changes in cost of living in Canada and various other countries during 1929 and recent years. Reprints were made of an article appearing in the issue of the Labour Gazette for February, 1930, on "Strikes and Lockouts in Canada and Other Countries, 1929."

A bulletin was issued by the Technical Education Branch in January, 1930, describing the manner in which the Dominion Government assisted the provinces in the development of vocational education under the provisions of the Technical Education Act for the ten-year period 1919-1929.

The department also published a booklet containing full information concerning old age pensions in Canada and giving some account of pension systems in other countries.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion I am pleased again to record my appreciation of the diligent manner in which the departmental staff performed its duties during the year.

I have the honour to be, sir,

Your obedient servant,

H. H. WARD,

Deputy Minister of Labour and Registrar of Boards of Conciliation and Investigation.

September 25, 1930.

I. INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES INVESTIGATION ACT

This chapter covers proceedings under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1930, and constitutes the twenty-third annual report of the Registrar of Boards of Conciliation and Investigation.

Applications for the establishment of Boards of Conciliation and Investigation received during the fiscal year numbered twenty-three; twenty-six disputes figure, however, in the record, proceedings having been continued over from the preceding fiscal period in three cases. Over 28,000 employees were directly concerned in these disputes, which were distributed amongst different industries as follows: steam railways, 12; street and electric railways, 4; shipping, 2; telegraphs, 2; light and power, 2; and disputes not falling clearly within the direct scope of the statute 4. Fourteen boards were established, one of which dealt with two applications. Ten boards reported during the year. No interruption of work occurred following the award of a Board of Conciliation and Investigation.

All reports and minority reports made by boards or members of boards established under the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act were, as required by the statute, published in the Labour Gazette, the official monthly journal of the Department of Labour.

In addition to its application to industrial disputes in mines and public utility industries coming within the jurisdiction of the federal authorities, the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act is operative in respect to similar disputes falling within the provincial sphere in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia, these provinces having taken the necessary legislative action. Three boards established during the year came within this category. The provinces of Ontario, Quebec, and Prince Edward Island have not yet enacted enabling legislation on the subject.

Proceedings also took place during the year in connection with a board which had functioned during 1927.

With respect to ten cases before the department in which boards were not granted, settlements were effected by departmental mediation in three instances and negotiations were still in progress in one dispute at the close of the fiscal year. In three cases falling outside the direct scope of the statute consent to the establishment of a board was withheld by the employer. One application was held in abeyance at the request of the applicants, and in the two remaining disputes it was not possible to apply the provisions of the statute.

The features of the year's proceedings are briefly noted.

STEAM RAILWAY DISPUTES

Twelve applications dealt with during the fiscal year related to disputes in the steam railway industry. Eight boards were established, one of which dealt with two applications.

In last year's report reference was made to two boards which dealt with disputes involving the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and its engine crews on eastern lines concerning certain amendments desired by the locomotive engineers to the tripartite agreement in existence between the company and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Similar disputes between the Canadian National Railways and its locomotive engineers and locomotive firemen and enginemen as to amendments to the tripartite agreement in effect between the railway and the two brotherhoods were referred to two Boards of Conciliation and Investigation during 1929-30.

The board which dealt with the locomotive engineers' request for revision of certain rules made a unanimous report and expressed the opinion that, where joint schedules were in effect, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers possessed the power to enter into an agreement with the Canadian National Railways respecting the terms of employment of its members, independent of any other organization. The report also contained certain recommendations with respect to the proposed revision of the clauses of the schedule rules concerning mileage, promotion and representation.

The second board, which dealt with the protest of the locomotive firemen and enginemen on failure to reach accord on the perpetuation of the existing rules, recommended as a settlement of the dispute the adoption of the principles of an agreement reached at Cleveland in November, 1928, between the Grand Officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The report was signed by the chairman and the board member nominated by the firemen and enginemen. The company's nominee dissented from this conclusion.

Following the reports of these two boards the Canadian National Railways entered into separate agreements with its locomotive engineers, making changes in rules and working conditions, similar to those put into force during the preceding year on the Canadian Pacific Railway, effective on eastern lines as from September 1, 1929, and on western lines from November 1, 1929.

Another dispute between the Canadian National Railways and its locomotive engineers referred to a Board of Conciliation and Investigation related to certain changes desired by the employees in the agreement concluded in Montreal on May 1, 1926, between the Canadian National Railways, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, concerning seniority rights of engineers on the various railway lines amalgamated into the Canadian National system. The board considered the objection taken by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen to any disturbance of the Montreal agreement without their concurrence and, while deciding that the engineers had the right to contract separately with the management, took heed that in negotiating an agreement the rights of the firemen, hostlers and helpers were not infringed or trespassed upon. The report of the board was unanimous and was accompanied by an agreement consummated between the railway and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

A board was established in June, 1929, to deal with differences between the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and its conductors on eastern lines. The Order of Railway Conductors desired certain changes in wage rates and a separate agreement with the railway instead of a tripartite agreement to which the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen was also a party. The trainmen's organization objected to the proposed abrogation of the tripartite agreement. The board made an interim report upholding the right of the Order of Railway Conductors to enter into an agreement with the company independent of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and adjourned to allow the parties concerned to negotiate a separate schedule. These negotiations were successful and an agreement was reached, effective July 16, 1929, providing for an increase of 5.6 per cent in the wage rate for passenger conductors. A copy of the agreement was attached to the final report of the board.

Wage increases recommended by a board in the case of conductors, trainmen and yard service employees on western lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway and Canadian National Railways were accepted by the two railways and the employees concerned, and became effective October 1, 1929.

Reference appeared in last year's report to a board which, during the latter part of 1927, dealt with a dispute between the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and certain of its employees in the Mechanical Department at the Angus Shops, and which was reconvened on January 9, 1929, for the purpose of expressing an opinion upon a question which had arisen respecting the meaning of one of the recommendations contained in its award. On June 8, 1929, the department received the board's interpretation of its recommendation, signed by all three members.

Clerks, freight handlers, station and stores department employees on the Dominion Atlantic Railway and on the Canadian Pacific Railway submitted applications under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, the discord in each case arising out of the employees' request for increased wages and changed working conditions. Two boards were established, neither of which had yet reported at the end of the fiscal year.

Two applications received from checkers employed on the Montreal wharf by the Canadian National Railways and Canadian Pacific Railway, respectively, were referred for consideration to one board which was being constituted when the fiscal year closed.

The Chief Conciliation Officer of the department visited Winnipeg on two occasions to inquire into a dispute between the Canadian National Railways and certain of its employees in the rail plant at Fort Rouge, members of the Fort Rouge Unit of the One Big Union. Investigation showed that rates of pay and working conditions were already the subject of an existing agreement between the railway company and the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and that the latter organization had negotiated a wage increase for the men concerned as from June 1, 1929. A board was not established, but the company promised the applicants that, in the event of a grievance arising, they would be prepared to meet any employee individually or accompanied by one or more fellow employees.

Through the efforts of the Chief Conciliation Officer negotiations were also resumed in the case of a controversy between the Sydney and Louisburg Railway (a subsidiary of the British Empire Steel Corporation) and its freight handlers, baggagemen, truckmen and clerks, and an amicable adjustment was effected.

STREET AND ELECTRIC RAILWAY DISPUTES

Street railway disputes were made the subject of four applications under the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act during the fiscal year.

Three of the applications emanated from employees of the Ottawa Electric Railway Company. Two of these were received during April from conductors, motormen, shedmen, etc., the employees submitting the first application being represented by the Ottawa Railway Employees' Union, and the employees in the case of the second application being members of Division 279, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America. A board was established on April 30 to deal with the disagreement concerning wages as set forth in the application from the latter organization, which represented the majority of the employees. The application from the Ottawa Railway Employees' Union related in the main to the desired revision of working shifts, i.e., alternating shifts instead of fixed shifts to enable night workers to have a share in day work, the question of increased wages also being raised. The latter point was dealt with by the board established on the application of the majority of the employees, while it was pointed out that the question of alternating shifts for car men was more a difference between two bodies of employees than between the company and the employees. The report of the board which considered the dispute between the Ottawa Electric Railway Company and its employees being members of Division 279, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, was unanimous and recommended continuance of the existing wage scale for another year. Both the company and the men expressed their willingness to accept this recommendation as a settlement of the dispute.

The third application from employees of the Ottawa Electric Railway Company was received in the Department on October 24, 1929, in protest against the dismissal of nine employees who had reached the age of sixty-five years. The matter was discussed by departmental officials with the management of the company and with officers of the union representing the men, Local 279 of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, and a conference was arranged between representatives of the two parties at which an understanding was reached that the nine men whose services had been dispensed with would be re-engaged by the company at such work in the car barns as their physical condition would permit.

A board was established at the request of trackmen employed by the Winnipeg Electric Company to inquire into a dispute arising out of an alleged reduction in switchmen's wages. The board's report was accompanied by a memorandum from the company, by which, "without abating their contention and in the interests of peace," they agreed to pay the higher rate of wages claimed by the men from the date of the dispute to the date of the expiration of the agreement.

SHIPPING DISPUTES

Grain liners' helpers at Vancouver, B.C., who had been on strike since March 26, 1929, submitted tentatively during May an application under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, suggesting at the same time that action looking to the establishment of a board be withheld pending the result of further direct negotiations. Later, the grain shipping season being practically over, procedure under the statute was, on the advice of the applicants, finally dropped.

Checkers employed on the waterfront at Halifax by the Canadian National Steamships applied on March 22, 1930, for a board to deal with the men's request for an agreement covering wages and working conditions. Officers of the department were taking the matter up with the parties concerned when the fiscal year closed.

TELEGRAPH DISPUTES

Two applications were received during the year from employees of the Canadian Marconi Company. The employees submitting the first application were members of Division No. 59, Commercial Telegraphers' Union of North America. The dispute affected approximately 300 employees who were seeking new agreements involving increased wages and improved working conditions in the marine and transoceanic services. A board dealt with this matter and presented a unanimous report, together with a draft agreement embodying its recommendations.

For coastal and ships' operators the board recommended that the annual increases for the second, third, fourth and fifth years, respectively, should be $10, instead of $5 as formerly; for the next year $12.50, instead of $10; and that the period for which annual increases are given should be extended to the ninth year. For telegraphers in transoceanic service a continuation of the annual increases during the fifth and sixth years was recommended. The board's recommendations also included payment of full maintenance allowance to coast station telegraphers temporarily assigned to ship duty for a period of three, instead of two weeks, or less; a uniform allowance to ships' operators, and time and one-half for legal holidays, maintenance allowance included.

Both the employing company and the applicants subsequently informed the department of their willingness to abide by the board's findings.

The second application related to differences between the Canadian Marconi Company and certain of its employees being members of Radio Division No. 1, Electrical Communication Workers of Canada. The dispute concerned the demands of the western operating personnel of the company for an upward revision of the wage scale and allowances, improved working conditions and union recognition. In view of the fact that a Board of Conciliation and Investigation had already dealt with a dispute between this company and its employees, as represented by the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of North America, and the company had entered into an agreement with the latter organization on behalf of its employees, the company contended that it could not at the same time enter into an agreement with a second union. The minister conferred with officials of the Canadian Marconi Company and of the Electrical Communication Workers of Canada, and secured an assurance from the superintendent of the company that the benefits of the award made by the board would extend to employees on the Pacific in common with members of the operating personnel elsewhere. The company also promised that individual employees not members of the organization with which the agreement had been made, would be at liberty to approach the local superintendent on any question relative to their rights and treatment. Moreover, if they should feel for any reason that they had not received their full rights from the local superintendent, they would be at liberty to carry their case to the headquarters of the company.

LIGHT AND POWER DISPUTES

An application submitted by linemen and cable splicers employed by the Hydro-Electric System of the city of Winnipeg was carried over from 1927. The dispute related to the men's request for the abolition or modification of the agreement governing appointment in the city's service, which prevented the applicants from associating themselves with a trade union organization. As stated in last year's report, the city authorities had promised that the question would be dealt with by a special committee of Council which was being appointed to study the whole situation relating to conditions of service of civic employees, and the department accordingly withheld action under the statute in the hope that favourable advice would come to hand in due course. However, upon word being received from His Worship the Mayor of Winnipeg in July, 1929, indicating that nothing had been done by the committee appointed in 1928, and that the matter had not been revived in 1929, and further advising that the last pronouncement of the City Council was against reopening the question, there appeared no alternative but to accede to the employees' application. A Board of Conciliation and Investigation was accordingly established, constituted as follows: the Hon. Mr. Chief Justice D. A. Macdonald, Winnipeg, chairman, appointed on the joint recommendation of the other board members; Mr. R. F. MacWilliams, K.C., Winnipeg, appointed by the minister in the absence of a recommendation from the Corporation of Winnipeg; and Mr. Ralph Maybank, Winnipeg, nominated by the employees. The report of the board was unanimous and recommended that the city allow the employees freedom of association and that the employees pledge themselves not to join in any sympathetic strike; also that the union undertake not to call out members on a sympathetic strike. Whether such modification of the agreement should relate to the applicants only, or extend to all classes of employees, was left to the decision of the Winnipeg City Council. After the close of the fiscal year, September 3, 1930, the City Council passed a resolution rescinding the agreement on the lines recommended by the board in respect to all civic employees.

When the fiscal year terminated a board was holding sessions in connection with a wages dispute between the Corporation of the City of Winnipeg and the electrical and mechanical workers of the Hydro-Electric System at Winnipeg and Pointe du Bois.

DISPUTES NOT FALLING CLEARLY WITHIN THE DIRECT SCOPE OF THE ACT

With the joint consent of the conflicting parties, a Board of Conciliation and Investigation was established in a dispute falling outside the direct jurisdiction of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, that, namely, between various shipbuilding firms at Vancouver, B.C., and their ships caulkers. A strike of shipwrights, joiners, caulkers, etc., for increased wages had occurred on March 26. As a result of mediation by the resident officer of the Department of Labour and the Deputy Minister of Labour for British Columbia, the strike was terminated on April 23, the demand of the shipwrights being conceded by the employers, and both parties agreeing to refer the question as to the caulkers' wage rate to a Board of Conciliation and Investigation under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act. The board's report was signed by all three members, the employees' nominee dissenting, however, from the recommendation of the majority of the board that no change in the caulkers' wage rate could be justified at that time.

Applications were also received from employees of the following firms: (1) London Free Press and London Advertiser; (2) Gatineau Power Company; and (3) The MacFarlane Shoe, Limited. The industry concerned in each case did not come clearly within the direct scope of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act for adjustment and a board could be constituted only with the joint consent of the parties to the dispute under section 64 of the statute. No board was established, the employer declining in each instance to join with the employees in submitting the differences to a tribunal constituted under the terms of the Act.

TWENTY-THREE YEARS' OPERATIONS

The Industrial Disputes Investigation Act became law on March 22, 1907, and had therefore been in operation for twenty-three years at the close of the fiscal year 1929-30.

During this period applications under its terms reached the total of 729. Boards of Conciliation and Investigation were granted in 499 cases, leaving 230 disputes which were either settled by other efforts than those of a Board of Conciliation and Investigation or in which it was found that the machinery of the statute could not be utilized. Of the above mentioned 499 disputes, in each of which it had been declared on oath that a strike or lockout was believed to be impending, a cessation of work was averted or ended in all save thirty-eight cases.

SUMMARY TABLES RESPECTING PROCEEDINGS UNDER THE INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES INVESTIGATION ACT

The tables here presented are arranged in several divisions, viz.: (i) showing proceedings by industries concerned during the fiscal year 1929-30; (ii) showing proceedings by industries concerned from March 22, 1907, to March 31, 1930; (iii) showing by fiscal years, 1907-1930, number of disputes dealt with; (iv) showing by calendar years, 1907-1930, number of disputes dealt with; and (v) summarizing operations under the statute for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1930.

The proceedings under the Act during the fiscal year include three cases in which certain proceedings had taken place during the preceding year, namely: disputes between (1) Canadian Pacific Railway Company and certain of its employees in the mechanical department at the Angus shops, members of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees; (2) Canadian National Railways and its locomotive engineers, members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; and (3) Corporation of the City of Winnipeg and linemen and cable splicers employed by the Hydro-Electric System of the city.

The figures contained in the above table may be thought to show discrepancies as compared with those appearing in the yearly summary. A closer examination will, however, show the respective statements to be in agreement. A complete statement of proceedings for a year must show all disputes dealt with during the fiscal year. The figures of the yearly statement include, therefore, disputes carried over from the previous year and which are counted in the summary of that year's proceedings. Thus the same dispute may properly figure in the annual statement for each of two years. In the statistical recapitulation covering several years, as above, it is necessary that no dispute shall be counted more than once, and account is taken of the number of applications received during the year and thus brought within the purview of the statute.

The minister conferred with the parties here concerned and secured from the company an assurance that the benefits of the board's award received in the department on June 14 would extend to the employees making the present application; also that individual employees not members of the organization with which the agreement had been made would be at liberty to approach the local superintendent on any question relative to their rights and treatment, and, if full rights were not then received, to carry the case to the headquarters of the company.

Sept. 4, 1929	Nov. 30, 1929	Shortly after receipt of application city authorities promised that matter would be dealt with by a special committee of the City Council and action under the statute was accordingly withheld in hope of favourable advice being received. However, in July, 1929, word reached the department from the mayor that nothing had been done by the committee appointed in 1928 and that the matter had not been revived in 1929, and further that the last pronouncement of the City Council was against reopening the case. The department therefore proceeded with the establishment of a board. The board's report was unanimous and recommended that the city allow the employees concerned freedom of association, and that the employees pledge themselves not to join in any sympathetic strikes; also that the union undertake not to call out their members on a sympathetic strike. After the close of the fiscal year, Sept. 3, 1930, the City Council passed a resolution rescinding the agreement on the lines recommended by the board in respect to all civic employees.

II. CONCILIATION WORK

During the past twelve months the services of the Department of Labour were utilized in connection with the adjustment of a number of labour disputes. In some of these cases strikes or lockouts had already occurred, and in others cessation of work appeared to be imminent or there was difficulty in carrying on negotiations in connection with wages and working conditions. In most cases the proceedings were under the provisions of the Conciliation and Labour Act, which empowers the minister to inquire into the causes and circumstances of a dispute, to take such steps as seem expedient for the purpose of bringing the parties together, and to appoint a conciliator or an arbitrator when requested by the parties concerned. In some disputes occurring in industries coming directly under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, namely, mines and public utilities, preliminary inquiries by officers of the department resulted in the settlement of the matters in dispute without the necessity of the establishment of Boards of Conciliation and Investigation under the Act.

Labour troubles in the coal mining fields of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Alberta and British Columbia, which in past years have been very pronounced, with the exception of the year 1929, were almost entirely eliminated during the year under review and coal mining operations were continuing throughout Canada without interruption. Strikes in other industries have been few, of short duration and of minor importance.

In recent years there has been a marked tendency on the part of employees to bring their grievances to the attention of the department before resorting to strike measures. Where such opportunities have been afforded, departmental officers have been highly successful in bringing about an amicable adjustment of the difficulty. Experience in such matters has very clearly demonstrated that it is much easier to negotiate successfully in a friendly atmosphere and more satisfactory results are obtained under such circumstances. Settlement of disputes under these conditions means that there is no loss of wages to the employees concerned and no stoppage of work or inconvenience to the industry. It is therefore to be hoped that the tendency in this direction may be even more marked in succeeding years.

The Department of Labour has on its staff conciliators and mediators who are stationed at Vancouver, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal and Halifax. The territory of the officer resident in Vancouver comprises the four western provinces. The Conciliation Officer resident in Toronto confines his activities to Ontario, while the officer in Montreal covers the province of Quebec. The territory of the officer residing in Halifax includes the three Maritime Provinces. The headquarters of the Chief Conciliation Officer are at Ottawa.

These officers are also charged with certain duties arising out of the administration of the Fair Wages Policy applying to contracts let by the Dominion Government and to works aided by federal funds as referred to in Chapter III of this report.

The following is a list of the more important cases in connection with which mediation work was performed during the year by the department on request of one or both parties to the dispute and which indicates the good results being obtained by this service.

BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION

Toronto, Ont.—During April, 1929, a dispute arose between the plumbers and one section of the Master Plumbers' Association which finally developed into a cessation of work involving a large number of workmen. Through direct negotiations by the Minister of Labour an agreement was finally reached and the men returned to work.

Montreal, P.Q.—A dispute between carpenters and building contractors in Montreal, in connection with which work ceased on April 24, the carpenters demanding an increase in wages from 75 cents per hour to 85 cents with a reduction in hours from nine hours per day to eight, was settled as the result of the mediation of a representative of the Department of Labour. It was agreed that the wage rate should be 80 cents per hour until September 30, 1929, with nine hours per day, and that from October 1, 1929, until April 30, 1930, the wage rate should be 85 cents per hour with eight hours per day. Work was resumed on May 7 under these terms. No agreement was signed between the contractors' association and the union, but the terms of settlement were set forth in an interchange of correspondence between the officers of the two organizations. It was also arranged that overtime from five p.m. to midnight, Monday to Friday, should be paid at the rate of time and one-half, and also work from one p.m. to midnight on Saturday, double time to be paid for work after midnight and on certain holidays.

Montreal, P.Q.—Approximately 800 painters and decorators employed by various firms in Montreal declared a strike in April, 1929, demanding a wage increase from 70 cents to $1 per hour. A representative of the Department of Labour offered his services as a mediator. Negotiations ensued which resulted in a three-year agreement being signed by 22 employers providing for a wage rate of 80 cents, 85 cents and 90 cents for the respective years.

Halifax, N.S.—Electrical workers (inside wiremen) ceased work on May 10 to secure an increase in wages from 70 cents per hour to 80 cents and a signed agreement for three years providing for further increases later. On May 21 the dispute was terminated, an agreement having been reached between the union and the employers' association for a period of three years providing for 80 cents per hour until May 1, 1930, 90 cents during the next twelve months, and $1 per hour during the twelve months beginning May 1, 1931, as the result of the mediation of the resident representative of the Department of Labour.

Saint John, N.B.—In May, 1929, the blacksmiths employed by the Saint John Drydock and Shipbuilding Company, Saint John, N.B., solicited the help of the department in bringing about a wage adjustment. A departmental mediator was assigned to this case with the result that a mutually satisfactory agreement was reached.

Ottawa, Ont.—Officials of the Local Union of Painters and Decorators were anxious to deal directly with the Master Painters in regard to wages and working conditions but were unable to bring about a meeting with their employers. In June, 1929, they applied to the Department of Labour for assistance in this matter and an attempt was made to induce the Master Painters to meet the men in committee, but without success.

Halifax, N.S.—The building trades in Halifax in the spring of 1929 were asking for a general increase in wages. Negotiations between certain organizations and the Mechanical Builders' Exchange had resulted in a deadlock. Through the efforts of a mediator of the Department of Labour new agreements satisfactory to all concerned were reached.

Vancouver, B.C.—On June 6, 1929, plasterers' helpers employed in the building and construction industries in Vancouver went on strike for an increase in wages. These men returned to work on June 20, pending negotiations and mediation by a departmental officer.

Vancouver, B.C.—Plasterers engaged in the building and construction industries went on strike on June 6, 1929, for an increase in wages. Through departmental mediation work was resumed with a provisional agreement.

Prince Rupert, B.C.—The machinists in the employ of the Prince Rupert Drydock Company in August, 1929, threatened to strike over a wage dispute. Due to the efforts of a mediator of the Department of Labour the threatened strike did not ensue.

Halifax, N.S.—A number of common labourers in the employ of the Foundation Company of Canada engaged on the construction of the hotel and depot at Halifax struck in September, 1929, for a wage increase from 35 cents to 40 cents per hour. An officer of the Department of Labour investigated the dispute with the result that the men were reinstated and the 40-cent rate made effective.

Alert Bay, B.C.—A strike of labourers on a construction job at Alert Bay, B.C., occurred on September 13, 1929. It appeared that the employees had not been paid their wages when due and that the rates for board had been increased from $1.25 to $1.50 per day. The employer being a subcontractor, the main contractor paid the wages due and restored the rate of board to the previous figure and work was resumed on September 19. After the resumption of work a dispute arose as to some points in the settlement and these were adjusted through the mediation of the western representative of the department.

Halifax, N.S.—In October, 1929, labourers employed on work being done at Pier 27, South Terminals, Halifax, ceased work demanding an increase in wages from 35 cents to 40 cents per hour. An officer of the Department of Labour dealt with this dispute at once and a rate of 40 cents per hour, which is recognized as the prevailing rate in Halifax, was put into effect.

Halifax, N.S.—The union painters engaged on the new T. Eaton Company building, Halifax, threatened to strike in October, 1929, on account of the contractor employing non-union labour. Through the efforts of an officer of the Department of Labour the difficulty was adjusted.

Montreal, P.Q.—A dispute took place in October, 1929, between the operative plasterers and cement finishers and the Montreal Builders' Exchange in respect to wage rates. An officer of the department, acting as a mediator, arranged for arbitration proceedings and through this medium a settlement was reached.

Saint John, N.B.—Machinists employed by the Saint John Drydock and Shipbuilding Company, Saint John, N.B., notified the department in November, 1929, of their inability to reach an agreement with the company in respect to overtime rates. A mediator of the department arranged a meeting between the employers and employees and an agreement was reached.

Calgary, Alta.—Representations had been made to the Department of Labour to the effect that the wage rates on the Ghost River Power development for the Calgary Power Company were not in accordance with the prevailing rates. After thorough investigation and prolonged negotiations the Minister of Labour brought about a settlement of this dispute in December, 1929. As a result of this settlement back wages were paid to the various employees to the amount of approximately $16,000.

Lulu Island, B.C.—In March, 1930, a dispute arose involving pile drivers employed on bridge construction at Lulu Island, B.C. This matter was brought to the attention of the department and a satisfactory basis of settlement was reached.

Regina, Sask.—In March, 1930, a dispute arose in regard to the employment of carpenters' helpers on work carried on by Smith Brothers and Wilson, Limited, at Regina. Through the efforts of an officer of the Department of Labour the matter was adjusted.

Food

Halifax, N.S.—A representative of the Department of Labour was asked in May, 1929, to assist in the adjustment of a dispute in respect to wages, working conditions, and the reinstatement of certain employees between the National Fish Company and its employees at Halifax. An arrangement was arrived at, satisfactory to all concerned.

London, Ont.—Milk drivers in the employ of several companies in London struck in August, 1929, for improved working conditions and a signed agreement. The strike was of very short duration and the men's claims were granted. Previous to the strike an officer of this department was helpful to some extent and arranged conferences between employer and employee.

METAL MANUFACTURING

Oshawa, Ont.—The tool and die makers (night shift) in the employ of the General Motors at Oshawa, Ont., ceased work in April, 1929, alleging various grievances. The Minister of Labour discussed this matter directly with the officials of the company and as a result all the men who were available were reinstated.

Lachine, P.Q.—A strike occurred on May 2 of moulders in two establishments, who demanded an increase in wages to 82½ cents per hour, being the union rate. A representative of the Department of Labour was requested by the strikers to mediate and he took the matter up with the employers. The latter stated that they were paying from 75 cents to 92½ cents per hour but would not agree to any minimum rate, and that the strikers might apply individually for reinstatement. At the end of the month it was reported that there were still thirty-three involved and receiving strike pay, that some of the others had returned to work in the establishments affected and the rest had secured work elsewhere.

Saint John, N.B.—Machinists in the employ of T. McAvity & Sons, Saint John, in October, 1929, notified the department that a dispute existed between their membership and the company in respect to wage rates and asked the assistance of the department in avoiding a serious outcome. Through mediation of a representative of the department a mutually satisfactory agreement was reached which provided for a considerable increase in wages.

Toronto, Ont.—Coppersmiths in the employ of the Coulter Copper and Brass Company, Toronto, struck in October, 1929, for increased wages. A departmental mediator arranged several conferences between employers and employees at which he was present, but a settlement could not be reached and the strike continued.

Guelph, Ont.—In February, 1930, the employees of the metal polishing department of the Guelph Stove Company, Guelph, informed the department that discrimination was being shown by the company, two or more officials of the local union having been laid off. The employees complained also of a 20 per cent reduction in piece work rates, and requested the assistance of the department in bringing about an adjustment. Two mediators proceeded to Guelph to make an investigation and interviewed the management. The general manager declined to make any concessions and denied that there had been any discrimination. He also declined to allow the matter in dispute to be investigated by a Board of Conciliation and Investigation under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, although the men were quite agreeable to accepting such procedure. On March 6 the employees concerned ceased work and then negotiated with the company officials. Both parties agreed to a 10 per cent reduction in piece work rates, and the two men who had been laid off, claiming discrimination, waived their rights to reinstatement.

MINING

* Mercoal, Alta.—A dispute arose in May, 1929, between the miners and the management of the McLeod River Collieries at Mercoal, Alta., the miners alleging that their agreement had been violated, and a strike was threatened. This dispute was adjusted through the efforts of an officer of the Department of Labour.

PULP AND PAPER

Fort William, Ont.—Papermakers in the employ of the Great Lakes Paper Company, Fort William, Ont., threatened to strike over wage rates in September, 1929. Through the efforts of the Minister of Labour this strike was prevented.

PRINTING

Nelson, B.C.—Trouble developed in July, 1929, on the Nelson Daily News, with the result that certain printers ceased work, alleging violation of their agreement in respect to apprentices. This dispute was handled by one of the departmental officers, but a solution of the difficulty could not be reached.

Hamilton, Ont.—The printers employed by the Hamilton Herald and Spectator had reached a deadlock in their negotiations with the newspaper management in regard to a new agreement, the old agreement having expired during the negotiations. In February, 1930, this dispute had reached a stage where strike breakers were on hand and cessation of work appeared imminent. Through intervention of the minister both sides to the dispute agreed to accept departmental mediation. Two officers of the department were therefore sent to Hamilton and as a result of their efforts a new wage agreement covering a period of three years was signed. This agreement provided for an increase in wages and proved satisfactory to both parties.

TEXTILES

Peterborough, Ont.—During May, 1929, a strike developed involving certain plush weavers in the employ of the Dominion Worsteds at Peterborough, Ont. The strike was due to an alleged violation of wage contracts of certain employees brought from England. Two departmental mediators were assigned to this case and as a result the company agreed to reinstate the men concerned. It developed, however, that the three men involved preferred to return to England. Their wishes were acceded to, the company paying all expenses in this connection.

Hamilton, Ont.—In response to requests from employees of the full-fashioned hosiery department of the Mercury Mills, Hamilton, Ont., who had ceased work in February, 1930, over a requirement of the company that they should give advance notice in writing before becoming members of a labour organization, two mediators of the department proceeded to Hamilton and were successful in bringing about an agreement which eliminated this requirement and provided for the reinstatement of all the employees concerned without discrimination.

TRANSPORTATION

Winnipeg, Man.—The trackmen employed by the Winnipeg Electric Company, Winnipeg, advised the department in December, 1929, that their agreement with this company had been violated in connection with reduction of staff, and requested that an officer of the department should deal with the question. An officer proceeded to Winnipeg and after several conferences with a committee of the men and also with the company officials a solution of the difficulty was found.

Winnipeg, Man.—Employees in the Fort Rouge Rail Plant of the Canadian National Railways, Winnipeg, brought to the attention of the department certain grievances and asked for an investigation. A mediator of the department visited the Fort Rouge Plant and later on interviewed the company officials. As a result of his visit certain understandings were reached which, to a considerable extent, adjusted the matters of which complaint had been made.

Halifax, N.S.—A serious dispute arose in Halifax in December, 1929, between the longshoremen and the various shipping agencies in respect to wages and working conditions. After prolonged negotiations a mediator of the department was successful in bringing about a satisfactory settlement and signed agreement.

Sydney, N.S.—The longshoremen at North Sydney brought to the minister's attention in February, 1930, difficulty they were experiencing as to wage rates at that port and requested assistance in bringing about an adjustment of what they termed unfair conditions. An officer of the department was assigned to this case and as a result of his efforts an understanding was reached with a number of Steamship Agents which was reported to be satisfactory to those concerned.

MISCELLANEOUS

Saskatoon, Sask.—The electric linesmen employed by the city of Saskatoon requested the assistance of the department in April, 1929, in respect to certain alleged grievances having to do with wage rates. This matter was dealt with by one of the departmental officers, who arranged a meeting between the city commissioner and representatives of the men, and a settlement was effected.

Fort William, Ont.—The electrical workers in the employ of the Fort William Utilities Commission and Port Arthur Utilities Commission brought to the attention of the department their inability to solve certain difficulties existing between themselves and their employers. In August, 1929, a departmental mediator visited Port Arthur and interviewed all concerned in the dispute. Being unable to adjust the matter locally, he endeavoured to have the matter referred to a Board of Conciliation and Investigation under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act. The representatives of the men were quite agreeable to this procedure but the consent of the employers could not be obtained.

III. FAIR WAGES POLICY

The Fair Wages Policy of the Government of Canada* has been administered by the Department of Labour since its inception in 1900. It was based originally on a resolution of the House of Commons adopted at the session of 1900 and was later expressed in an Order in Council of June 7, 1922, with certain amendments which were made by Order in Council of April 9, 1924. The fair wages resolution of 1900 was in the terms following:—

"That it is resolved that all Government contracts should contain such conditions as will prevent abuses which may arise from the subletting of such contracts, and that every effort should be made to secure the payment of such wages as are generally accepted as current in each trade for competent workmen in the district where the work is carried out, and that this House cordially concurs in such policy and deems it the duty of the Government to take immediate steps to give effect thereto.

"It is hereby declared that the work to which the foregoing policy shall apply includes not only work undertaken by the Government itself, but also all works aided by grant of Dominion public funds."

Additional force was given to the Fair Wages Policy in 1903 by the inclusion in the Railway Act of a section requiring the payment of current rates of wages to all workmen engaged in the construction of lines of railway towards which financial aid was granted by the Parliament of Canada. The section of the Railway Act in question, which is number 244 of chapter 170 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927, reads as follows:—

"(1) In every case in which the Parliament of Canada votes financial aid by way of subsidy or guarantee towards the cost of railway construction, all mechanics, labourers or other persons who perform labour in such construction shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current for competent workmen in the district in which the work is being performed; and if there is no current rate in such district, then a fair and reasonable rate.

"(2) In the event of a dispute arising as to what is the current or a fair and reasonable rate, it shall be determined by the Minister, whose decision shall be final."

Contractors were required by Order in Council in 1907 to post fair wages schedules in a conspicuous place on any public works under construction and to keep a record of payments made to the workmen in their employ, such records to be open for inspection by Fair Wages Officers of the Government.

In order that the Fair Wages Conditions inserted in departmental contracts might be made as nearly uniform in terms and administration as possible, the Fair Wages Policy of the Government was confirmed by Order in Council on June 7, 1922 (see Annual Report, 1922, pages 42-46).

This Order in Council contains two sets of labour conditions marked "A" and "B" respectively. The former is applicable to "all contracts made on behalf of the Government of Canada for the construction or remodelling of public buildings of all kinds, railways, canals, roads, bridges, locks, dry-docks, elevators, harbours, piers, wharves, lighthouses, and other works for the improvement and safety of transportation and navigation, rifle ranges, fortifications and other works of defence, dams, hydraulic works, slides, piers, booms, and other works for facilitating the transmission of timber, and all other works and properties constructed or remodelled for the Government of Canada"; the like conditions are as far as practicable observable also by the departments of Government in connection with all agreements involving the grant of Dominion public funds in the form of subsidy, advance, loan or guarantee for any of the purposes mentioned. The conditions marked "B" are observable by the departments concerned in connection with "all contracts for the manufacture and supply to the Government of Canada of fittings for public buildings, harness, saddlery, clothing and other outfit for the military and naval forces, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, letter carriers, and other Government officers and employees, mail bags, letter boxes, and other postal stores, and any other articles and things hereafter designated by the Governor in Council."

* A statement respecting The Fair Wages and Eight-Hour Day Act, 1930 (Chap. 20, 20-21 George V), which was designed to place the Fair Wages Policy of the Government of Canada on a statutory basis, will be found in the Introduction to this report. (See page 6.)

As a result of the experience gained in the administration of the Fair Wages Policy, as set forth in the Order in Council of June 7, 1922, certain amendments were made to the "A" conditions by Order in Council of April 9, 1924, on recommendation of the Minister of Labour, which, without altering the scope and intent of the policy, are intended to make its purpose clearer and more definite.

In the case of all contracts to which the "A" conditions apply, the department of the Government concerned is required to communicate to the Department of Labour the nature of the proposed contract and the classes of labour likely to be required in its execution. The Labour Department is charged with the preparation of schedules setting forth the rates of wages and hours of labour generally accepted as current for competent workmen of the various classes required in the district in which the work is to be performed. This fair wages schedule is thereupon embodied in the contract. In any cases where the Department of Labour is unable to furnish fair wages schedules for the purpose aforesaid, authority is given for the insertion in the contract of a clause providing for the observance of the rates of wages and hours of labour which are generally accepted as current from time to time during the continuance of the work for competent workmen in the district in which the work is being performed for the character or class of work in which they are respectively engaged, or if there are no current rates or hours in the district, then fair and reasonable rates and hours.

The "B" conditions do not provide for the insertion of fair wages schedules in contracts for the manufacture and supply of the various articles and things designated in the Order in Council, but for a general fair wages clause somewhat similar to that above mentioned as being authorized with respect to works of construction, etc., that come under the "A" conditions.

In both the "A" and "B" conditions of the Fair Wages Order in Council the Minister of Labour is empowered to determine questions which may arise as to what are the current or fair and reasonable wages rates and working hours. The contractor is required to post and keep posted in a conspicuous place on the premises where the contract is being executed, occupied or frequented by the workmen, the fair wages clause or schedule inserted in his contract for the protection of the workmen employed. The contractor is also required to keep proper books and records showing the names, trades and addresses of all workmen in his employ and the wages paid and the time worked by such workmen, these records to be open for inspection by fair wages officers of the Government any time it may be expedient to the minister to have the same inspected.

It is declared that the contractor shall not be entitled to payment of any money which would otherwise be payable under the terms of contract until he has filed a statement showing that all of the labour conditions of the contract have been complied with.

All workmen employed in the execution of the contract shall be residents of Canada, unless the minister of the department with which the contract has been made is of opinion that Canadian labour is not available, or that other special circumstances exist which render it contrary to the public interest to enforce this provision.

Under the "A" conditions clerks of works or other inspecting officers appointed by the Government to ensure the due observance of the contract are specially instructed to do all in their power to see that the labour conditions are fully complied with and to report any apparent violations to the department with which the contract is made.

The "B" conditions provide that the contractor's premises and the work being performed under contract shall be open for inspection at all reasonable times by any officer authorized by the Minister of Labour for this purpose, and that the premises shall be kept in sanitary condition.

Added force was given to the Fair Wages Policy by the adoption of an Order in Council on September 10, 1928 (see Labour Gazette, February, 1929, page 117), declaring that all licences for Dominion water-power rights in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and the Northwest Territories should be deemed to be executed on the condition that the licensee or his representative should pay wages not less than those generally accepted as current for similar services for similar undertakings in the locality, and maintain conditions of labour not less favourable than those prevailing in similar undertakings in the locality. This last mentioned clause was rescinded by a further Order in Council which was adopted on December 3, 1929 (see Labour Gazette, January, 1930, page 85), providing for the insertion in the regulations governing water-power rights in the said provinces of conditions for the protection of the labour employed in the construction, alteration, extension, maintenance and operation of these works. The conditions in question are similar in terms to those which apply to contracts for the construction of Dominion public buildings and other works.

Under the terms of the Fair Wages Order in Council the departments of the Government concerned are required to furnish monthly to the Department of Labour returns showing the nature of all contracts which have been entered into during the month preceding to which these conditions apply, the names and addresses of the contractors, the dates and amounts of the contracts, and the text of the fair wages schedules, if any, inserted in such contracts. This information is published monthly by the Department of Labour in the Labour Gazette.

The present chapter deals with the operations of the Fair Wages Policy during the fiscal year 1929-1930, when the Department of Labour prepared or sanctioned Fair Wages Conditions for 434 contracts executed by various departments of the Government as follows: Indian Affairs, 5; Interior, 3; Marine and Fisheries, 24; National Defence, 55; Public Works, 310; and Railways and Canals, 37.

FAIR WAGES COMPLAINTS

Since the inception of the Fair Wages Policy in 1900, Fair Wages Officers have been employed by the Department of Labour to prepare fair wages schedules as required and to assist in the adjustment of complaints and disputes arising from time to time as to the proper rates and labour conditions observable under the terms of Government contracts. These officials are stationed at Vancouver, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal and Halifax, and, in addition to their duties as Fair Wages Officers, act as conciliators and mediators in connection with industrial disputes which are brought to the attention of the Department, as referred to in Chapter II of this report.

As in previous years, a number of complaints were received of alleged non-compliance with the labour conditions of Government contracts. The Department of Labour investigated these complaints in all cases, and if they were found to be justified, the contractors were required to make proper settlement with the workmen concerned. The following table lists the complaints which were dealt with by Fair Wages Officers or other officials of the department during the fiscal year under review:—

IV. STATISTICS

Statistical and other information relating to labour conditions has been collected and published by the Department of Labour since its establishment in 1900 as required by statute (Labour Department Act, chapter 111, Revised Statutes, 1927, section 4). In accordance with the Statistics Act (1918), chapter 190, Revised Statutes, 1927, and under arrangements with the Dominion Statistician, statistics are collected and published in co-operation with the Dominion Statistician, in close association with statistics of general social and economic conditions as organized in the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

An important feature of this arrangement is the use by the department of the classification of industries and occupations drawn up in the bureau and followed by various departments of the federal Government service in the compilation and publication of records and statistics.

The present chapter contains information as to strikes and lockouts, wages and hours, prices and cost of living, and as to fatal industrial accidents. Information as to employment, labour organization, and other subjects will be found in other chapters.

STRIKES AND LOCKOUTS

The departmental record of strikes and lockouts in Canada was begun on the establishment of the department toward the end of 1900 and particulars of industrial disputes have been given each month in the Labour Gazette, the official monthly publication of the department; also in an early issue each year a summary statement of the previous calendar year is printed in the Labour Gazette, with a statistical analysis. The figures are given for the calendar year rather than the fiscal year, because in this form they are more easily comparable with statistics on the same subject gathered in other countries, which also as a rule use the calendar year.

A special report covering the period 1901 to 1912 was issued in 1913, followed by another in 1918 giving summary tables for the years 1901-1916 with detailed tables for the five-year period 1911-1916. As these reports have been for some time out of print and as the classification of industries and occupations was altered in 1918 and again in 1922, while certain other changes in methods of compilation and analysis have been made, the record for the entire period has been revised. The accompanying tables contain revised figures.

The record of the department includes all strikes and lockouts of which information becomes available to the department and the methods taken to secure information are such as to practically preclude omissions of a serious nature. As a lockout, or an industrial condition which is undoubtedly a lockout, is rarely encountered, strikes and lockouts are recorded together in the statistical tables, and the term "dispute" or "industrial dispute" is frequently used. So far as concerns figures given with respect to duration of strikes, numbers of employees concerned, etc., it is impossible always to secure exact information, but the estimate made in such cases is the result of painstaking methods in the collection of data, and, with increasing experience in dealing with the subject, it is believed that the statistics indicate the conditions with reasonable precision.

A strike or lockout, included as such in the records of the department, is a cessation of work involving six or more employees, and lasting at least one working day. Disputes of less than one day's duration and disputes involving less than six employees were not until 1924 included in the published record, but a separate record of such disputes was maintained in the department. Since 1924, however, any disputes involving a time loss of ten working days or more have been included in the published record. In 1929 the separate record of disputes causing less than ten days' time loss included ten, involving one hundred and seventy-four employees, and resulting in a time loss of forty-one working days.

The department secures information as to the occurrence of a strike or lockout through newspapers, from correspondents of the Labour Gazette in over sixty industrial centres throughout the Dominion, from its officers in touch with disputes and negotiations, and from labour organizations and employers concerned. As soon as a strike or lockout is reported, report forms are sent to the representatives of the employers and of the employees involved in the dispute, calling for details as to dates, numbers involved, causes, negotiations, terms of settlement, etc. From these reports and any other information secured the statistics are compiled, as well as statements for publication in the Labour Gazette and in other reports. It is very unusual for either party to a strike or lockout to neglect or refuse to make out and forward to the department the desired report, all parties apparently recognizing the importance of the publication of complete and accurate information. If the dispute is of more than one month's duration, a progress report is secured at the end of each month or more frequently. Supplementary reports are secured through officers of the department and correspondents of the Labour Gazette, especially when conflicting information is furnished by the various parties to the dispute.

During 1929 the number of strikes and lockouts in Canada was relatively small, as was the case during each year since 1921, being ninety, a decrease of eight from the number recorded for 1928, while the number of employers and workers involved, as well as the time loss, was much lower than in any year since 1915. As in each year since 1924, the year was marked by the absence of disputes involving large numbers of employees, and also by the brief duration of those which did occur. The dispute of greatest magnitude was that involving pulpwood cutters in the vicinity of Port Arthur, Ont., involving eight hundred workers, lasting fifty-six days and causing a time loss of about 22,000 days, whereas the most important dispute was that involving 1,200 coal miners at Wayne, Alta., which caused a time loss of 51,000 days during 1928, and terminated early in 1929, with a further time loss of 10,000 days. Other important disputes were: cotton factory employees at Hamilton, Ont., 700 workers, lasting 28 days, 15,000 days' time loss; carpenters at Montreal, 1,000 workers, 10 days, 10,000 days' time loss; steel car riveters at Hamilton, Ont., 280 workers, 38 days, 10,400 days' time loss; painters, Toronto, Ont., 600 workers, 38 days, time loss 7,800 working days; plumbers, Toronto, Ont., 400 workers, 19 days, 7,500 days' time loss; and plasterers, Toronto, Ont., 500 workers, 12 days, 6,000 days' time loss. The industries chiefly affected by disputes were construction, which had about one-third of the disputes occurring during the year and also about one-third of the total time loss (as was the case in 1928); and manufacturing which also had about one-third of the total time loss for the year, but over forty per cent of the disputes. Logging experienced one-sixth of the time loss for the year, having three disputes, while mining had only about ten per cent of the total time loss due to ten brief disputes.

The following notes deal with the chief features in strikes and lockouts during the year 1929:—

Logging.—The three strikes in this industry occurred in northern Ontario in January, June and October respectively, the first involving tie cutters and the others pulpwood cutters. The strike in October was protracted until December and caused more time loss than any other dispute during the year. The dispute was due to demands for wage increases and spread from one logging camp to another, the strikers in each camp being replaced and seeking work elsewhere, or returning to work, within a relatively short time.

Mining.—Of the ten strikes beginning or in progress during the year, eight were in coal mining; only four caused an appreciable amount of time loss and only one lasted more than a few days, namely, that at Wayne, Alta., carried over from 1928. This dispute at the beginning involved approximately 1,200 miners in five collieries, but at the end of 1928 this number had been reduced to 250, an agreement having been reached in one colliery, where the workers' demands were conceded, while the others resumed work with partial crews. Early in 1929 in two other collieries the dispute was settled, recognition being conceded to the Mine Workers' Union of Canada. By the end of February the operators of the other two mines had signed agreements with the United Mine Workers of America. These four agreements provided for the working conditions recommended by the Board of Conciliation and Investigation appointed under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act (Labour Gazette, August, 1928, pages 827-832), which the operators had agreed to accept. The other strikes in coal mining during 1929 were of short duration and arose out of disputes as to conditions in particular mines. Two strikes of gold miners in Yukon Territory occurred owing to a delay in the payment of wages, work being resumed when the demands of the workers were met.

RESULTS OF STRIKES AND LOCKOUTS ACCORDING TO NUMBERS OF EMPLOYEES INVOLVED IN 1901-1929

Manufacturing.—Over half of the time loss in this industry was due to two strikes in Hamilton, Ont. A strike of cotton factory workers began on January 30, and lasted until March 4, due to a change in production methods under which each spinner was to tend more machines although relieved of certain duties. During the dispute the workers were organized by the United Textile Workers of America. Conciliation was attempted but no settlement was reached, and the strikers began to return to work, the dispute terminating by March 4. A strike of steel car riveters began on September 4, the employees demanding on a new type of work the same rates as on a previous job. The management claimed that, with the new production methods, earnings would be as high as on the previous work. The strikers were organized into the National Car Workers' Industrial Union. Conciliation was attempted but no settlement was reached, and, the strikers being partially replaced or returning to work gradually, the dispute was terminated by October 18. In this dispute there were some arrests and some convictions of strikers for intimidation, etc.

Most of the other disputes in manufacturing industries were of brief duration or involved relatively small numbers of employees, a number of the strikes being to secure or maintain union conditions and a number in connection with piece rate wages.

Construction.—Most of the disputes were to secure increases in wages and in some cases reductions in hours, many wage increases being effected, while on the hours question compromises were in many cases reached. The strikes involving large numbers of workers were those of labourers and carpenters near Murray Bay, P.Q., March 6; painters at Montreal, P.Q., April 1; carpenters at Montreal, April 24; painters at Toronto, May 1; plumbers at Toronto, May 1; plasterers at Toronto, May 1, the latter also involving plasterers' labourers in a sympathetic strike. All of these, except that of plumbers at Toronto, were to secure increases in wages. The strike of plumbers at Toronto was against employers who did not join an employers' association with which the union had signed an agreement. This agreement provided for the employment of union members only and that union plumbers would work only for members of this employers' association. Through the mediation of the Minister of Labour it was arranged that another employers' association should be formed which would not include among its objects certain practices which some of the employers held were not only objectionable but illegal, and that the union would sign a new agreement with this association, the object of which would be to deal with employment relations only and membership in which would be open to all Toronto master plumbers.

Transportation.—The three disputes involved small numbers of workers: on a steam railway maintenance of way near St. Thomas, Ont.; on the street railway at Winnipeg; at Vancouver, where toward the end of the grain shipping season ship liners' helpers came out during a strike of shipwrights, etc., and demanded an increase in wages also, the dispute being unsettled and lapsing at the end of the season.

Trade.—A strike of milk wagon drivers at London, Ont., for a union agreement to secure changes in conditions as to collecting accounts was partially successful, some of the employers agreeing to this.

Finance.—A strike of telegraph operators in a broker's various offices to secure the operation of automatic machines for Morse operators was unsuccessful, the strikers being replaced. A similar strike in the offices of this firm in the United States occurred at the same time.

Service.—Three strikes occurred in an Ottawa theatre to maintain union conditions, one in the spring being successful, the other two being recorded as indefinite when the theatre closed down. In the meantime the strikers had been replaced. A strike of carpenters on the maintenance staff of a hotel in Toronto for an increase in wages was unsuccessful, the strikers being replaced.

The accompanying table, giving the number of disputes, workers affected, and time loss by months since 1922, shows that there is a tendency to have more disputes in the spring and early summer months with the resulting peak in the number of workers affected and time loss occurring during the summer. In 1929, while the peak was reached in May in these three groups of statistics, during the summer months there was a very small number of workers affected and time loss recorded. On the other hand, a relatively large time loss was recorded in February due to a dispute involving 700 textile workers at Hamilton, and in November and December owing to an extended dispute of pulpwood cutters involving some 800 workers.

STRIKES AND LOCKOUTS IN OTHER COUNTRIES

It is of interest to compare strikes and lockouts in Canada with those in other countries and the accompanying table gives the figures available for the years 1928 and 1929. The authorities in the various countries do not at present follow uniform methods in compiling and publishing statistics of strikes and lockouts, so that the figures are comparable only in a general way. In some countries the number of disputes shown is the number beginning during the year, in other cases it is the number ending during the year, and in others again it is, as in Canada, the number of disputes in existence, that is, in progress during the year at some time. As regards the number of workers involved, some authorities record the number directly involved only, as in Canada, while in certain other countries the number indirectly affected, that is, thrown out of employment as a result of the strike or lockout, is included. For some countries strikes and lockouts are recorded separately, but in the table herewith figures for both strikes and lockouts have been included. In some cases no figures as to time loss are available.

The population of each country as shown by the latest census is given in the table so that the relative degree of disturbance to industry in the various countries may be noted.

WAGES AND HOURS OF LABOUR

Statistics as to wages and hours of labour are secured to a considerable extent in connection with the work of the department on strikes and lockouts, industrial agreements, conciliation and mediation in industrial disputes, proceedings under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, fair wages schedules, and reports of changes in wages and hours. Each year representative employers in the various industries are requested to furnish figures as to the wages of the principal classes of labour in their employ, hours per day and per week, and information as to any other features of conditions of employment, such as rates for overtime, Sundays and holidays, bonus, profit sharing, old age benefit or other welfare schemes, annual vacation or sick leave with pay, agreements as to wages and working conditions, etc. Labour organizations are also requested to furnish data as to rates of wages, hours of labour, other working conditions, and copies of agreements with employers or schedules of wages and working conditions in effect.

From the information so secured tables of rates of wages and hours of labour for the principal classes of workers in a number of industries are published annually as a supplement to the Labour Gazette issued in January each year, with a table of index numbers of wage rates of certain industries back to 1901, calculated with rates for the year 1913 as 100. This series of bulletins was begun with the publication in March, 1921, of a report covering a number of occupations and industries from 1901 to 1920, and certain manufacturing industries from 1911 to 1920. Since that time the scope of the report has been extended to deal with several of the industries more adequately and to cover more of the important industries, especially in manufacturing, for which comprehensive data was not available earlier. Statistics as to wages in coal mining, metal mining and in agriculture have been included, data for agriculture being secured by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics through crop correspondents.

So far as is possible, copies of agreements between employers and trade unions and other organizations or representatives of employees are secured by the department on their consummation and published in the Labour Gazette in summary form, or in full when of sufficient importance, with rates of wages, hours of labour, etc. This feature of the Gazette also includes schedules of wages and working conditions put into effect by municipalities, other public bodies, etc. The information in the Labour Gazette as to settlements of disputes also affords considerable current information as to wages, hours and other working conditions.

The information as to wages and hours of labour secured by the department is used not only for publication as above but also in connection with the settlement of disputes, the administration of the Fair Wage Policy in Dominion Government contracts, and the determination of prevailing rates of wages, hours of labour, etc., for certain classes of Dominion Government employees under the Civil Service Act, and in furnishing information as to wages rates, hours of labour, etc., in response to special requests.

The accompanying table of index numbers of rates of wages for various classes of employees published in January, 1930, shows levels of wages in 1929 as compared with 1928 and previous years. It will be seen that during 1929 there were substantial increases in building trades, metal trades, printing trades, electric railways and steam railways, with slight increases in common factory labour, miscellaneous factory trades and logging and sawmilling.

PRICES AND COST OF LIVING

Statistics of retail prices of a number of staple foods, fuel and lighting and rentals of workingmen's houses in the industrial centres of Canada, chiefly cities with a population of 10,000 and upward, have been given in the Labour Gazette each month since January, 1910, the number of articles covered and the number of localities included being increased from time to time. The changes in the cost of these items as affecting family expenditure have been shown in the form of a table of the cost of a weekly family budget calculated from the average prices in all the localities each month, the amount of each article used for the calculation being determined according to its importance or representative character in workingmen's family expenditure. As the number of items of food, fuel, etc., is relatively small and incomplete, the resulting figures are not suitable for showing either the actual expenditure of the average family or any standard of living, but the figures calculated have been issued for the purpose of showing the changes from month to month in certain items and as a basis for determining approximately the extent of changes in the cost of living. Since 1918 data have also been secured as to prices of clothing, boots, house furnishings and miscellaneous items, and since March, 1921, from time to time, usually at the beginning of each year, the Labour Gazette has contained a table of index numbers of changes in the cost of living, constructed from the figures of the weekly family budget of food, fuel and rent above mentioned, with the addition of figures for clothing and sundries groups. These figures were issued as the result of tentative calculations pending the compilation of more complete data, and in January, 1927, the department was able to issue a new series of figures for the following groups: fuel and light, rent, clothing, and sundries, and this table has been brought down to date from month to month in the Labour Gazette. These figures have been calculated only as averages for the Dominion and it is intended to make similar calculations for the provinces and some of the cities. In the calculation of these index numbers allowance is made for the importance of each article in the average expenditure of working-men's families.

The accompanying table gives the index numbers by groups, with a figure for all items, back to 1914, prices in 1913 being taken as 100. It will be observed that, while there was a steep decline from June, 1920, when the peak was reached, until the summer of 1922, prices have been relatively steady since the latter date. The index number during this period did not rise above 161 nor fall below 153, the changes occurring being principally seasonal, due chiefly to the influence of varying crop conditions on food prices. The fuel and light group was affected by strikes of coal miners in 1922 and 1925. Lower levels in recent years are apparently due to the increasing use of coke in households, and of fuel oil in industries and transportation, thus affecting the prices of coal. The development of electric current production, chiefly from water-power, has also affected the cost of fuel for cooking in houses as well as the cost of electric light.

Statistics of wholesale prices and of prices in other countries have been published in the Labour Gazette along with retail prices in Canada. Since 1924 the figures for wholesale prices are those issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Index numbers of wholesale prices in Canada compiled and issued by the Canadian Bank of Commerce and Professor Michell have also been given. The Canadian Bank of Commerce has recently discontinued the issue of its index number, while the Bank of Nova Scotia has constructed one, like that of the other bank, designed to reflect particular trade conditions, and this will appear in the Labour Gazette. A supplement to the Labour Gazette for January, 1930, contained a review of prices in Canada and other countries during 1929, with comparative figures for previous years.

FATAL INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS

A record of fatal accidents in industry is maintained by the department and a list of such accidents is given quarterly in the Labour Gazette, while a summary for each year with analytical tables is given in March in the following year. The statistics include accidents to workers during the course of or incidental to their employment and also fatalities due to industrial diseases listed with fatal accidents by the provincial workmen's compensation boards. The records are compiled from reports from Dominion and provincial authorities, from Labour Gazette correspondents, from a number of employers of labour, and from newspapers, the various reports being verified and checked to avoid duplication. The published record has in recent years been confined to fatal accidents, but it is intended to extend the compilation and publication to include non-fatal accidents.

The accompanying table shows the fatal accidents during 1929 by industries and by months, with figures as to the numbers employed in each industry and percentages of fatalities, and also a comparison with 1928. The figures given for 1928 include revisions made since their publication a year earlier.

The number of fatalities recorded for 1929 was 1,682, as compared with 1,677 in 1928. It will be seen that the transportation industry accounted for the largest number, namely, 353 or 20.99 per cent of the total, followed by construction with 289 or 17.18 per cent, manufacturing with 236 or 14.03 per cent, and mining with 226 or 13.44 per cent. The logging industry, however, showed the highest rate per thousand workers employed, namely, 5.45, followed by water transportation with 2.80 per thousand, mining with 2.52 per thousand, electricity and gas with 2.38 per thousand, construction with 1.56 per thousand, steam railways with 0.91 per thousand, rates in other industries and sub-groups being below one per thousand, except manufacture of wood products with a rate of 1.23 per thousand.

An analysis by causes of fatalities showed the largest number under the category "by moving trains, vehicles, etc.", namely, 480. Next in order came "falls of persons," causing 325 fatalities, followed by "falling objects," causing 246 fatalities. "Dangerous substances" resulted in 217 fatalities, of which 93 were due to explosions and 63 to electric currents. Industrial diseases, strains, etc., resulted in 30 fatalities.

A compilation by provinces showed 603 in Ontario, 375 in Quebec, 293 in British Columbia, 109 in Manitoba, 101 in Alberta, 91 in Nova Scotia, 54 in New Brunswick, 46 in Saskatchewan, 8 in Prince Edward Island and 2 in the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

V. THE LABOUR GAZETTE

The Labour Gazette was published regularly during the period covered by this report, the issues for 1929 forming the twenty-ninth yearly volume of the series. Its publication was one of the original functions of the department, section 10 of the Conciliation Act of 1900 (section 4 of the Labour Department Act, Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927, chapter 111) providing that the new department should issue this periodical for the purpose of disseminating accurate information in regard to labour affairs. The purpose and character of the Gazette were defined in section 10 as follows:—

With a view to the dissemination of accurate statistical and other information relating to the conditions of labour the Minister shall establish and have charge of a Department of Labour, which shall collect, digest, and publish in suitable form statistical and other information relating to the conditions of labour, shall institute and conduct inquiries into important industrial questions upon which adequate information may not at present be available, and issue at least once in every month a publication to be known as the Labour Gazette, which shall contain information regarding conditions of the labour market and kindred subjects and shall be distributed or procurable in accordance with terms and conditions in that behalf prescribed by the Minister.

In accordance with this provision the first issue of the Labour Gazette appeared in September, 1900, shortly after the department was established, and since that time it has been published each month without interruption. Twenty-nine annual volumes had been completed by December 31, 1929, this series containing an unbroken chronicle and statistical record which is of considerable value for the purposes of labour information and research.

The general policy and aims of the Labour Gazette continue as they were stated in the first number, as follows: "The Gazette will not be concerned with mere questions of opinion, nor will it be the medium for the expression of individual views. It is an official publication, and as such will seek to record only such statements of fact, and such collections of statistics, as are believed to be trustworthy. In the selection and publication of these, care will be taken to have the information as complete and impartial as possible, and so to arrange it that, while furnishing from month to month facts and figures of current interest, these may, at intervals, be classified and compiled in such a manner as to show, over periods of time, the trend and development of the subjects dealt with. The work thus undertaken will, it is hoped, establish a basis for the formation of sound opinions, and for the drawing of correct deductions, but these, in themselves, are tasks which lie beyond the scope and purpose of the Gazette, and are ends it will seek to serve, not to meet."

The range of subjects treated in the Labour Gazette has become somewhat wider in the course of the past thirty years as the result of the gradual increase in the functions and work of the Department of Labour. Prominence is now given to the department's work of conciliation and arbitration in labour disputes, especially to the work carried on under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, the official record of all proceedings being published from month to month, including the text of the reports of Boards of Conciliation and Investigation established under the Act. Full information also is given regularly with respect to proceedings under the other statutes administered by the Department of Labour, including the Employment Offices Co-ordination Act, the Technical Education Act, the Government Annuities Act, the Combines Investigation Act, and the Old Age Pensions Act, and to proceedings under the federal Order in Council providing for the payment of fair wages to workmen employed under Dominion Government contracts.

As required by section 10 of the Conciliation Act, quoted above, the Labour Gazette publishes each month "statistical and other information relating to the conditions of labour". This information includes a monthly analysis of prices, wholesale and retail, in Canada, with estimates of the average cost of living, the prices of staple articles, and index numbers of price movements over a series of years. Similar statistics compiled from records in other countries are also given for the purpose of comparison. Periodical statements and tables appear indicating the movements of employment and the extent of unemployment in Canada and in the various provinces and municipalities. This information is derived from three sources: (1) reports received from the 66 offices of the Employment Service of Canada showing the number of applications for work, vacancies listed and the number of workpeople placed in positions; (2) reports from trade unions showing the extent of unemployment among their members on the last day of each month, and (3) reports from employers throughout Canada showing the number of employees on their pay-rolls on the first day of each month. Statistical information on changes in wages and hours of labour is presented from time to time in special articles.

Monthly and annual tables of industrial disputes are given in each issue, showing the causes, extent and results of strikes and lockouts in Canada. The agreements entered into between employers and workmen are described each month in detail. Quarterly and annual statistics of the fatal accidents that have occurred in the various branches of industry are given, stress being laid on the causes of these accidents with a view to the possible elimination of some of the risks of industry; and a series of notes on industrial safety and health is also published monthly with the same object.

The labour legislation enacted by the Dominion Parliament and by the legislatures of the various provinces is outlined in the Labour Gazette on the conclusion of each session, and note is made as far as possible of the outstanding activities throughout Canada under existing Acts and regulations. Each issue contains further an account of important recent legal decisions affecting labour. The conventions and other activities of labour unions are noted from month to month, with particular reference to legislative proposals put forward by labour representatives.

Prominence is given to the work of the League of Nations International Labour Organization, the draft conventions and recommendations put forward from time to time being printed in full, and a record kept of the progress of ratifications both in Canada and in other countries. Reviews are also given of the publications of the International Labour Office at Geneva, giving the results of expert studies of labour conditions in various countries.

In addition to the regular periodical articles, each issue of the Labour Gazette contains special articles on subjects arising out of the general work of the department, as well as notes on current topics of interest to labour.

The Labour Gazette was published monthly in English and French during the year ended December 31, 1929, the twenty-ninth year of its existence, the average number distributed each month being 10,542 of the English edition and 1,708 of the French. The average monthly paid circulation was 7,240, or 6,250 of the English edition and 990 of the French. A nominal subscription of 20 cents a year, or 3 cents per copy, is charged, the purpose of the subscription being to keep the distribution within the limits of the actual demand, rather than to pay the cost of production. The subscription list includes the names of chartered banks, employing firms, and labour unions paying subscriptions in behalf of their individual officers or members. In addition to the paid circulation the Labour Gazette is issued gratuitously to certain public bodies and institutions, including Government departments, both federal and provincial, municipalities, university and public libraries, boards of trade, labour organizations, newspapers and trade journals, as well as to certain persons who from time to time supply information requested by the department. Free single copies are frequently mailed to persons seeking information on subjects dealt with in a particular issue. The average monthly distribution of complimentary copies was 5,010, or 4,292 of the English and 718 of the French edition. At the close of each year a limited number of volumes are bound, with a classified index, and sold to subscribers at $2 per volume.

VI. LABOUR ORGANIZATION IN CANADA

The Nineteenth Annual Report on Labour Organization in Canada, covering the calendar year 1929, was as usual compiled in the Labour Intelligence Branch. The report, in addition to discussing the character of the labour bodies with which the Canadian organized workers are affiliated, contains statistics of trade unionists in the Dominion, as well as references to some of the more important incidents of interest to members of organized labour and others who are interested in such matters. The report for 1929, which consists of 248 pages, points out that the labour movement of the Dominion is made up of the following groups:—

- (1) Local branches of international craft organizations, having headquarters in the United States;
- (2) The One Big Union, an international industrial union, with headquarters in Winnipeg;
- (3) Local branches of the Industrial Workers of the World, a revolutionary industrial union which seeks to abolish the wage system, with headquarters in Chicago;
- (4) Canadian central labour organizations;
- (5) Independent trade union units, and
- (6) National Catholic unions.

The international craft union group consists of the Canadian members of 85 organizations, two more than in 1928, and has 1,953 branches in the Dominion, a gain of 80, with a combined membership of 203,514, an increase of 16,597. The One Big Union reported 43 local units in Canada, a loss of 3, with a membership of 22,890, an increase of 2,861. The Industrial Workers of the World claims 6 branches in the Dominion, a loss of 1, with 3,975 members, a decrease of 425. The group of Canadian central organizations, numbering 25, a loss of 2, comprises 639 branches, a gain of 53, with a combined membership of 53,277, an increase of 1,419. The independent units number 31, a loss of 5, the combined membership of which is 10,820, a decrease of 578. The National Catholic group of unions number 106, a gain of one, their combined membership being reported at 25,000, a decrease of 1,000. The net increase in branches for 1929 was 125, and the gain in membership was 18,874, making a grand total of 2,778 branches of all classes of unions in Canada, with a combined reported and estimated membership of 319,476, which figures, according to the latest estimate of population, indicate that trade unionists represent 3.26 per cent of the people in the Dominion; adding 103,811, the number of members comprising the non-trade union associations, organized wage-earners at the close of 1929 represented 4.32 per cent of the population.

The accompanying chart, which is taken from the report, indicates the fluctuations in the number of trade unionists in Canada from 1911 to 1929, the period covered by these annual reports on labour organization.

NINETEEN YEARS OF TRADE UNIONISM IN CANADA

MEMBERS

Another chart published in the report shows that the 319,476 trade union members in the Dominion are divided by trade groups as follows:—

Railroad employees, 98,736 members, or 30·91 per cent of the total;

Building trades, 38,130, or 11·94 per cent;

Public employees, personal service and amusement trades, 32,786 members, or 10·26 per cent.

Mining and quarrying, 29,003 members, or 9·08 per cent;

Other transportation and navigation trades, 26,815 members or 8·39 per cent;

Metal trades, 18,791 members, or 5·88 per cent;

Clothing, boots and shoes, 16,076 members, or 5·03 per cent;

Printing and paper making trades, 14,576 members, or 4·56 per cent;

All other trades and general labour, 44,563 members, or 13·95 per cent.

The report points out that the railroad employees' group contains a large number of metal trades workers who are not employed in railroad shop work, and who should be included in the metal trades group, but it was impossible to secure separate figures.

The whole directly chartered and affiliated paid-up membership of the Congress was reported at 126,638.

UNION MEMBERSHIP IN CANADIAN CITIES

The report points out that there are 35 cities in the Dominion in which not less than 20 local branch unions of all classes are operating, and between them they constitute approximately 60 per cent of the local branch unions in Canada and represent 52 per cent of the entire trade union membership in the Dominion.

The appended table shows (1) the names of the cities having not less than 20 trade union branches, (2) number of unions in each locality, (3) number of unions reporting membership, and (4) number of members reported.

TRADES AND LABOUR CONGRESSES

The Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, which was originally established in 1873, is the head of the internationally organized wage-earners in the Dominion on matters pertaining to legislation, and as such is recognized by the American Federation of Labour and by 58 of the more important affiliates of that body.

The All-Canadian Congress of Labour, which was formed in March, 1927, and which absorbed the Canadian Federation of Labour, declares "the Canadian labour movement must be freed from the reactionary influence of American-controlled unions," and that "Canadian workers require a new medium through which they may collectively promote their general welfare and raise their economic and social standards."

The following table printed in the report shows the numerical strength of the two congresses and the groups from which their following is drawn:—

	Branches	Member-ship	Members affiliated with Trades and Labour Congress of Canada	Members affiliated with All-Canadian Congress of Labour
International Craft Unions.....	1,953	203,514	152,233
One Big Union.....	43	22,890		22,890

Canadian Central Labour Organizations.....	639	53,277	3,313	28,571

Totals.....	2,778	319,476	155,546	51,461

The above figures, the report points out, give the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada a membership of 28,908 greater than claimed by that body, the explanation being that the respective affiliated organizations in making returns to the department included all members who were in good standing, while the congress only reported the number of members for whom per capita had been received. Besides the affiliated membership of central organizations the Trades and Labour Congress has 45 directly chartered local unions with a combined membership of 7,087, which added to the above figures makes an aggregate membership of 162,633. The figures for the All-Canadian Congress indicate an affiliated membership of central bodies of 51,461, which with the membership of 1,471 comprised in the 22 directly chartered local unions give a total of 52,932 members, 503 more than claimed by the congress.

The report makes extended reference to the various classes of delegate bodies which have been formed as a part of the plan of labour organization in North America with a view to co-ordinating the activities of unions of closely allied or particular trades in dealing with matters of like concern to all members of the bodies represented.

ORGANIZED WORKERS IN VARIOUS COUNTRIES

In addition to the figures published in the report showing the membership of labour organizations in Canada and the United States, information is included giving the standing of organized workers in 62 other countries, the grand total for the 64 countries being 45,903,048. REVOLUTIONARY LABOUR ORGANIZATIONS

The report makes reference to the various communist organizations, chief of which is the revolutionary political body known as the Third (Communist) International, which was established in Moscow on March 6, 1919, with the object of organizing the working class for the overthrow of capitalism, the destruction of the bourgeois state and the establishment of the dictatorship of the proletariat. The theses of the Communist International declare that the trade unions represent the most important form of mass organization of the proletariat, and with a view to having a medium through which to propagate the communist doctrine among the organized workers, the Moscow organization in July, 1921, set up the Red International of Labour Unions, the official representative of which in America is the Trade Union Unity League, originally known as the Trade Union Educational League. The Canadian representative of the Communist International is the Communist Party of Canada, which was established on February 17, 1922, with head office in Toronto. An adjunct of the Communist Party is the Young Communist League, formed in July, 1922, which with its children's section, known as the Young Pioneers, declares its mission to be to penetrate the mass of working class youth by means of communist agitation and education.

INTERNATIONAL FEDERATION OF TRADE UNIONS

The report makes reference to the International Federation of Trade Unions, a body established in 1901 and reorganized in 1919, with the object among others of uniting the international working class and the promotion of the interests and activities of the trade union movement. The labour movement of the Dominion as represented by the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada is affiliated with the federation, and the president of the congress is a member of the General Council. The I.F.T.U. has in affiliation the trade union centres of 27 countries, with a combined membership of 13,579,159, as well as a similar number of international trade secretariats. The report points out that the Red International of Labour Unions, which, it has been stated, was formed for the purpose of destroying the International Federation, had attacked the last named body, declaring that it was incapable of uniting the working classes of the world and was only an appendage of the International Labour Office.

INDUSTRIAL WORKERS OF THE WORLD

Mention is made of the Industrial Workers of the World, usually referred to as the I.W.W., a body which declares itself to be an advocate of what is termed revolutionary industrial unionism, with its objective the abolition of the wage system. At its inception the organization claimed to have a strong following, but dissension arose in the ranks, and with the prosecution in 1918 of a large number of its members by the United States Government on the charge of interfering with the wartime measures of the Republic, the following of the I.W.W. has gradually decreased. In 1905, the year the organization was formed, the membership was reported at 400,000. At the close of 1929 the membership was given at 26,325, of which 3,975 members belonged to the six Canadian branches.

LABOUR IN POLITICS

The report refers to the declaration of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada in 1887 for independent political action on the part of organized labour, it being contended that "the working classes of the Dominion will never be properly represented in Parliament or receive justice in the legislation of the country until they were represented by men of their own class." Although a number of labour candidates were subsequently elected to various offices in some of the industrial districts, it was not until 1921 that the Canadian Labour Party was formed. A number of provincial sections were established, and under their auspices candidates were nominated for office, in some instances being elected. In 1927, the secretary of the party since its inception resigned, following the removal of his name by the Toronto central council of the C.L.P. (which it was alleged was dominated by communists) from the party nomination for controller in the Toronto municipal election. Since the secretary's retirement the main party has ceased to function, the British Columbia section has dissolved, and the Nova Scotia and Ontario sections failed to meet during 1929, leaving only two provincial sections—Quebec and Alberta—in existence. British Columbia, Manitoba and Ontario have independent labour parties, that in the last named province having been formed by delegates to the 1927 convention of the Ontario section of the C.L.P. who objected to the passage of a number of revolutionary resolutions. In some of the other provinces there are labour political organizations operating under different names, the activities of some of which are confined to the principal cities, and in all of which, except the sections of the C.L.P., individual membership is accepted. In the Ontario provincial election of October 30, 1929, there were three candidates designated as labour nominees, and of these one was elected. Four Communist Party candidates who contested seats were all defeated. There was formed in Regina, Saskatchewan, on October 26-27, 1929, the Western Conference of Labour Political Parties, embracing the four western provinces, for the purpose of unifying the activities of the affiliated parties, to arrange common action and to bring about the entire unification of the labour and socialist movement throughout Western Canada. In 23 localities 89 candidates were selected or endorsed by labour political parties or organized labour bodies for municipal office. Of these 32 were elected to the following offices: mayor, 1; controllers, 2; aldermen or councillors, 21; school trustees, 8. Six communist candidates who presented themselves were defeated.

A chapter of the report deals with the beneficiary features of labour organizations and indicates that of the 25 Canadian central labour bodies eleven made payments for benefits in 1929, the total amount expended being $54,214, an increase of $18,870 as compared with 1928. The following table, taken from the report, gives the names of the Canadian organizations reporting payments for benefits, together with amounts expended for the classes of benefits named:—

Of the reporting bodies whose names appear in the accompanying table death benefits were paid by 63, unemployed and travelling by 5, strike by 35, sick and accident by 23 and old age pensions by 8. The total outlay for benefits by the central bodies was $27,888,892, an increase over the preceding year of $3,091,524. The 1929 disbursements for the various classes of benefits were as follows:—

The following tables, reproduced from the report, show (1) the expenditure for benefits in detail by the headquarters of the respective international organizations, (2) the amount paid in benefits by the local branch unions from their own funds:—

NON-TRADE UNION ORGANIZATIONS

Apart from the trade unions whose names appear in the report, space has been given to a class of associations which are in no way identified with the labour movement, but which are in the main composed of wage-earners, and are considered to be of sufficient importance to warrant reference being made to them. There are 106 such bodies, the principal ones being composed of school teachers, Government employees, and commercial travellers, with a combined membership of 103,811.

The Nineteenth Annual Report on Labour Organization in Canada, like earlier volumes on the same subject, makes a most complete labour directory, containing as it does, not only the names and addresses of the chief officers of local branch unions and delegate bodies in the Dominion, but also those of the central organizations with which the Canadian organized workers are identified.

VII. ORGANIZATION IN INDUSTRY, COMMERCE AND THE PROFESSIONS IN CANADA

The Eighth Report on Organization in Industry, Commerce and the Professions in Canada was also prepared in the Labour Intelligence Branch. The first report on this subject was published in 1921 with a view to meeting the demand for information showing the extent of organization in the Dominion among persons engaged in industrial, commercial and professional pursuits. The general acceptance of the first report induced the department to issue a second volume on the same subject, and since 1923 the report has appeared annually, that for 1929 being counted as the eighth. The volume for 1929 consisted of 131 pages and contained information concerning the aims and objects of the various associations whose names are printed in the report. The organizations are grouped as follows:—

- | | |
|--|--|
| I. Manufacturing. | X. Agriculture. |
| II. Building and Construction. | XI. Dairying. |
| III. Mining. | XII. Horse, Live Stock, Sheep Breeders, etc. |
| IV. Transportation and Communication. | XIII. Wholesale Merchants. |
| V. Printing and Publishing. | XIV. Retail Merchants. |
| VI. Laundering, Cleaning, Repairing. | XV. Real Estate Dealers. |
| VII. Personal Service and Amusement. | XVI. Professional. |
| VIII. General Manufacturers and Employers. | XVII. Technical and Scientific. |
| | XIX. Funeral Service. |

According to the report, the first eight of the above-mentioned divisions are in the main made up of organizations whose members are engaged in industries in which the employment of help is essential, and contain 207 main and 190 branch associations, with a combined membership of 53,296. Some of the employers included in these groups have agreements with the corresponding organizations of workpeople covering the conditions of employment in their respective establishments. In the remaining eleven groups the employment of help is in some cases only incidental, and, with the exception of the retail merchants' section, there is no corresponding body of organized employees. While the bulk of the associations whose names appear in the report are distinctly Canadian, several are affiliated with organizations whose headquarters are in the United States. The figures presented in the report show that in 1929 there were in the Dominion 1,507 associations, with a combined membership of 964,006.

The following table, taken from the report, indicates the number of associations in each group, together with the number of branch associations, where there are such, as well as the reported membership:—

VIII. CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATIONS IN CANADA

Another publication which originated in the Labour Intelligence Branch is the Report on Co-operative Associations in Canada, the issue for 1929 being the second volume. With a view to indicating more clearly the development of the various phases of the co-operative movement in Canada the societies were in 1929 arranged differently from the plan adopted in the first report. Given first place in the list of associations is the name of the Co-operative Union of Canada, a Dominion-wide organization which was formed in 1909 for the purpose of federating co-operative bodies and to propagate co-operative principles, and with which 26 societies were in affiliation. The associations are divided into groups, which, with number of societies and membership, are as follows: (1) Productive, 70 societies, with a combined membership of 51,097; (2) Marketing, 257, with 313,049 members; (3) Productive and marketing, 11, with 3,337 members; (4) Distributive, 291, with 19,278 members; (5) Marketing and distributive, 16, with 58,261 members; (6) Credit and savings, 5, with 41,072 members; (7) Miscellaneous societies, 286, with 26,741 members, making grand totals of 936 societies and 512,835 members. Of these associations 418 furnished returns of their financial standing, sales, etc. Figures published in the report for the societies in the productive group indicate that the heaviest sales were made by the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, Limited, which body reported transactions amounting to $4,916,111.17. The next highest sales were made by the Salmon Arm Farmers' Exchange, a British Columbia society, the figures being $416,434.83, and standing third is the Farmers' Co-operative Creamery Company, Limited, of New Brunswick, with sales amounting to $132,389.91.

In the marketing group the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, which is the selling agency of the wheat pools of the three Prairie Provinces, had sales amounting to $323,847,282.41, of which the Saskatchewan Pool was responsible for $200,000,000 and the Alberta Pool for $83,356,816.85. Figures for the Manitoba and Ontario Wheat Pools were not supplied. The Quebec Federated Co-operative reported sales of $10,049,437.17. Heavy sales were made by some of the live stock marketing co-operatives, the transactions of the Alberta Co-operative Livestock Producers amounting to $5,330,375.93; the similar society for Saskatchewan is second with sales of $4,917,712.50; and the Central Livestock Co-operative, operating in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, had transactions totalling $3,063,702. The Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association of British Columbia had sales of $3,977,394.95 and the Associated Growers of British Columbia reported $3,833,619.76. One of the Ontario associations, viz., the United Dairymen's Co-operative Limited, also had sales well over the three million dollar mark, the exact figures being $3,520,574.37. The Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, Limited, with its five affiliated associations, reported sales of $1,199,999.17.

In the productive and marketing section the society with the largest sales was the Central Alberta Dairy Producers' Association, which reported transactions of $360,307; the Comox Creamery Association, of British Columbia, being second with sales amounting to $328,154.58, and the International Co-operative Trading Company of Port Arthur, Ont., third with $286,834.88.

A Nova Scotia association, the British Canadian Co-operative Society of Sydney Mines, one of the coal areas of the province, reported the heaviest sales in the distributive group, having sold merchandise aggregating $1,717,542. Next is the Workers' Co-operative of New Ontario, with sales of $437,243.41. The Melfort Grain Growers' Co-operative Association of Saskatchewan had sales of $235,314.60; the Wetaskiwin U.F.A. Co-operative Association of $214,000, and the Woodstock United Farmers' Co-operative, which is identified with the Maritime United Farmers' Co-operative Company, of $203,663.02.

The United Farmers' Co-operative Company, Limited, an Ontario body, tops the list of the associations in the marketing and distributive group with sales of $20,000,000; the United Grain Growers, Limited, whose head office is in Winnipeg, comes second with transactions amounting to $2,751,307, the Fraser Valley-Surrey Farmers' Co-operative Association of British Columbia being third with sales of $416,314.

The receipts of the co-operative people's banks in the province of Quebec for 1927, the latest year for which complete figures are available, including the balance on hand, which was $1,116,647.26, were (1) capital stock (subscribed and paid), $166,287.86; (2) savings (deposits), $13,408,563.28; (3) loans refunded, $3,624,570.58; (4) profits, $565,474.26; (5) sundries, $56,016.33; making a total of $18,937,559.57. The disbursements were (1) capital stock (returned to depositors), $88,356.09; (2) savings returned to depositors, $12,311,982.11; (3) loans and investments, $4,778,761.68; (4) general expenses, $189,019.88; (5) dividends, $94,136.21; (6) interest on savings, $252,183.10; leaving a balance of cash on hand of $1,223,120.50.

In the miscellaneous group the highest sales were reported by Lloydminster Co-operative Association, Limited, of Saskatchewan, the proceeds being $448,605.60; Cowichan Creamery Association of British Columbia comes next with sales of $422,500, the Co-operative Agriculture Association of the Yamaska Valley (tobacco growers) is third with sales amounting to $220,000, and the Pincher Creek Co-operative Association fourth with transactions totalling $215,294.44.

The table following, which is extracted from the report, is arranged in the same manner as the directory of co-operative associations and shows (1) the names of the associations, (2) paid-up capital, (3) assets, (4) sales of past year, (5) general liabilities, (6) profit or surplus, (7) loss, (8) reserve, and (9) unapportioned profits:

IX. LABOUR LEGISLATION IN CANADA

The Report on Labour Legislation in Canada, 1929, is the first annual supplement to the consolidated report for 1928, which contained all labour legislation existing on December 31 of that year.

The present volume consists of sixty-one pages and covers laws enacted by the Parliament of Canada, the legislatures of all the provinces and the Council of the Yukon. Short notes outlining the provisions amended accompany the text of certain sections of amending Acts. In addition to the statutes several Orders in Council of labour interest have been placed in the body of the report as have also certain regulations made under statutory authority.

Legislation governing wages and hours of labour includes a re-enactment, with a number of changes, of the Male Minimum Wage Act of British Columbia. The new law is administered by a Male Minimum Wage Board instead of by the Board of Adjustment established under the Hours of Work Act, 1923. An Ordinance passed by the Council of the Yukon provides for an eight-hour day in placer mining operations. An amendment to the British Columbia Hours of Work Act places further restrictions on emergency overtime and requires employers to keep records of the wages and working hours of employees. Regulations made under authority of the Act no longer require to be approved by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

A Quebec Order in Council (O.C. 800) requires the insertion in all contracts let by the provincial Government of a clause providing for the payment of wages at the rates current in the district or, if there be no current rates, then fair and reasonable rates. Customary hours of labour or fair and reasonable hours are also required. A Dominion Order in Council (P.C. 2367), providing for fair wages and hours on certain water-power developments, is referred to in another section of this report.

Under section 38 of the Immigration Act, a Dominion Order in Council (P.C. 1413) was passed prohibiting the landing in Canada of labour under contract of employment. Farmers, farm labourers and house-workers are exempt from the Order, which also authorizes the Minister of Immigration to admit any contract labourer if satisfied that his labour or service is required in Canada.

Among the laws relating to mines and quarries is a new Quarries Regulation Act in British Columbia. Amendments to the Ontario Mining Act carry out the recommendations of the commissioner appointed to inquire into causes of the disaster at the Hollinger mine. These recommendations are further implemented by a Regulation of the Workmen's Compensation Board providing for mine rescue stations.

The Ontario Factory, Shop and Office Building Act was the subject of a number of amendments, some of which merely restore provisions which were omitted or altered in the statute revision of 1927. These include the sections making the Act applicable to all establishments in which mechanical power is used, and forbidding the employment of children under 14 years of age in factories and of persons under 18 years of age as elevator operators in factories, shops or office buildings. The provision that the clause prohibiting the employment of women by Chinese should not come into force except on proclamation was restored as from December 31, 1927. The clause relating to the employment of adolescents was redrawn and provision was made that children, youths, young girls and women should be paid for overtime. The Alberta Legislature enacted a new Boilers Act, which also governs the operation of pressure vessels. In Saskatchewan a new statute provides for the licensing of electrical supply houses, contractors, journeymen and electricians.

Legislation dealing with workmen's compensation included a new law in Saskatchewan and amendments to the Nova Scotia and Alberta statutes. The Saskatchewan Act establishes a collective liability system of compensation in that province with benefits on a scale similar to that of Ontario. Changes in the Nova Scotia law included an increase in the scale of benefits under Part I of the Act from 55 per cent to 60 per cent of average earnings and an increase in the allowance for funeral expenses from $75 to $100. Provisions for medical aid were widened and injury by lightning was made compensable. The amending Act of Alberta revises the sections governing action against persons other than the employer. A regulation issued by the Workmen's Compensation Board of Ontario adds chrome poisoning to the list of industrial diseases for which compensation is payable.

An Ontario law which comes into force on proclamation prescribes precautions to be taken for the prevention of silicosis.

The Parliament of Canada amended the Technical Education Act to make available until March 31, 1934, any unexpended portion of the ten million dollars appropriated under the Act. An amendment to the Vocational Education Act of Ontario provides for the appointment of qualified officers to collect and distribute information regarding available occupations and employments and to advise pupils in the vocational schools.

Legislation dealing with pensions included amendments to the Grand Trunk Act and the Intercolonial and Prince Edward Island Railways Provident Fund Act, which were passed by the Parliament of Canada with the object of placing all employees of the Canadian National Railway System on the same basis as regards pensions. The Legislatures of Ontario and Alberta enacted laws taking advantage of the Dominion Old Age Pensions Act. These provincial laws are further described in another section of this report.

X. THE LIBRARY OF THE DEPARTMENT

The library of the Department of Labour was organized in 1900 when the department was created, and has steadily increased its collection of documents since that time. Through the exchange of publications with departments of other Governments carrying on work along similar lines, the department is kept in touch with labour matters in almost all countries of the world.

In addition to the official publications thus received, there is a valuable collection of publications of labour organizations and periodicals and newspapers published in the interests of organized labour. Included in this section are copies of the reports of Canadian labour organizations, the American Federation of Labour, the Trades Union Congress of Great Britain and central labour bodies in other countries. The department has made a special effort in recent years to obtain copies of early labour papers published in Canada and has met with some success, but, unfortunately, many of those into whose hands such documents fall are unaware of their value and, accordingly, they are discarded.

A very complete collection of volumes dealing with labour problems and legislation is supplemented by books for reference and volumes on general economic subjects, history and law, about 150 such volumes being added during the fiscal year. Since the enactment of the Combines Investigation Act in 1923, the section on industrial combinations has been greatly enlarged. There is, also, a comprehensive collection of books on vocational education and related subjects. The numerous publications of the International Labour Office provide a valuable source of information regarding the labour movements and legislation of other countries. The library receives annually about 630 periodicals, many of which are kept in bound form for permanent reference. A large number of these are British and foreign Government publications and are received free of charge in exchange for the Labour Gazette.

The primary purpose of the library is to serve as an information centre for the officers of the department and the library staff assumes the task of putting before the officers concerned the current information of interest to them which is contained in the publications received in the library. In addition to sending daily to the various branches of the department the Government reports, pamphlets and periodicals received, according to their subject-matter, the library furnishes a newspaper service. About 160 newspapers are clipped, including, besides Canadian papers, the London Times and Manchester Guardian, three New York dailies, and one each from Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa. The compilation of information on special subjects has been greatly facilitated in recent years by the detailed indexing of the entire library collection with the exception of the publications of labour organizations. The library catalogue, containing some 121,000 typed cards, permits ready reference on a large variety of subjects to all sections of the library, including periodicals, Government reports, pamphlets and press clippings.

Subject to the requirements of the departmental officers, the services of the library are at the disposal of the general public, and frequent use is made of its material by students from the Canadian universities and by others interested in labour problems. Books are sent by mail, wherever possible, to any persons wishing to borrow them and special information and bibliographies are compiled when required.

XI. COMBINES INVESTIGATION ACT

The following report, constituting the seventh annual report under the Combines Investigation Act, summarizes proceedings under the statute for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1930.

The Combines Investigation Act, chapter 26 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927, was passed in 1923. It provides, as its title indicates, "for the investigation of combines, monopolies, trusts and mergers," and in its definition of a "combine" includes only such combinations as have operated or are likely to operate against the interest of the public. Every one is guilty of a violation of the statute "who is a party or privy to or knowingly assists in the formation or operation of a combine within the meaning of this Act."

CONSTITUTIONAL VALIDITY OF THE ACT

Reference was made, in the sixth annual report, to the unanimous judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada, delivered on April 30, 1929, which declared the Combines Investigation Act and section 498 of the Criminal Code to be intra vires the Parliament of Canada. This judgment followed a reference by the Governor General in Council of the following two questions:—

"Is the Combines Investigation Act, R.S.C., 1927, chapter 26, ultra vires the Parliament of Canada, either in whole or in part, and, if so, in what particular or particulars, or to what extent?"

"Is section 498 of the Criminal Code ultra vires the Parliament of Canada, and, if so, in what particular or particulars, or to what extent?"

To each question the formal answer given by the court was no. These answers were supplemented by reasons for judgment written by Acting Chief Justice Duff (in which Mr. Justice Rinfret and Mr. Justice Smith concurred) and by Mr. Justice Newcombe (in which Mr. Justice Mignault and Mr. Justice Lamont concurred).

Both judgments treat the question from two points of view, the responsibility of the Dominion with respect to criminal law as well as the regulation of trade and commerce. Section 91 (27) of the British North America Act gives the Dominion exclusive jurisdiction in relation to criminal law and criminal procedure, and the same authority, to quote from Mr. Justice Duff's reasons for judgment, "would appear to confer upon the Dominion, not as an incidental power merely, but as an essential part of it, the power to provide for investigation into crime, actual and potential."

Dealing with the argument that the present combines law, though described as criminal legislation, is an encroachment upon the exclusive right of the province to legislate respecting property and civil rights in the province, Mr. Justice Duff says:—

"You cannot create a new criminal offence without directly affecting civil rights. The characteristic rules of the criminal law, rules designed for the protection of the State and its institutions, for the security of property and the person and public order, rules for the suppression of practices which the criminal law notices as deserving chastisement by the State, and so on, all are rules restricting the liberty of action of the subjects of the State, and in that sense affecting civil rights; but such acts and neglects are not as a rule viewed by the criminal law in their juristic aspect, but in their actual effects, physical or moral, as harmful to some interest which it is the duty of the State to protect. They are concerned primarily not with rights, with their creation, the conditions of their exercise, or their extinction; but with some evil or some menace, moral or physical, which the law aims to prevent or suppress through the control of human conduct.

"Fraud, for example, may be of such a character as to constitute an actionable wrong or a criminal offence. The law in relation to civil rights, while necessarily concerned with defining the elements of the wrong entailing the civil responsibility of the wrong-doer, is primarily concerned with the victim's right of reparation, while the criminal law deals with the fraud as such, as something deserving of punishment at the hands of the State. So in the case of contracts. An agreement involving bribery of a public official may be a criminal offence because the law marks such acts of corruption as criminal and punishes them. The law in relation to civil rights, the law of contracts, takes note of the elements of the transaction which give it character as bribery, but solely for the purpose of denying to the parties the legal right of enforcing it.

"The matter of section 498 is not property and civil rights. It strikes at agreements, no doubt, but not at those agreements as juridical acts, as having effects in point of law, in creating rights between the parties. The legislation aims at suppressing certain practices calculated, in the view of Parliament, to limit competition and produce the evil of high prices. Agreements of defined classes are dealt with from that point of view and from that point of view only."

Much was made, in the argument before the court, of the apparent similarity of section 498 and the Combines Investigation Act, on the one hand, and the Board of Commerce Act and the Combines and Fair Prices Act of 1919, on the other, both of which latter statutes were declared ultra vires by the Privy Council decision of 1921. Mr. Justice Duff's judgment points out that the 1919 legislation sought to regulate matters of a "merely local or private nature" within the provinces, whereas the matter of section 498 is not thus limited:—

"The combinations struck at, rarely, in their origin or in their operation, take account of provincial boundaries. There is in this respect little if any resemblance between section 498 and the enactments which were the subjects of decision in the Board of Commerce case or in Snider's case. In the enactments in debate in those cases, the penal provisions were merely incidental. There was an attempt, in each case, in the substantive provisions of the impeached enactment, to regulate matters which were unquestionably 'merely local' or 'merely private' in each of the provinces in a manner which could, it was held, not be justified, as an exercise of the powers conferred by the residuary clause or the second head of section 91."

Other points of difference are emphasized in the following concluding references to the present Combines Investigation Act and the former Combines and Fair Prices Act:—

"There is no doubt that parts of the present statute are taken from the earlier Act, but the provisions of the earlier Act which gave character to that Act have disappeared.

"The former statute in its substantive enactments on the subject of combines, conferred upon the Board of Commerce, a board created by Dominion legislation, composed of persons named by the Dominion Government, the authority and the duty to inquire into the existence of combines and plans for the formation of combines, and to suppress, by order of the board, the combines themselves, and practices associated with combines, in so far as the board might think it right and in the public interest to do so. The present Act gives no such power of regulation."

From the point of view of the responsibility of the Dominion in respect of trade and commerce, Mr. Justice Duff says:—

"It is hardly necessary to observe that trade combinations and their effect upon competition and the results of competition have a special importance and significance in view of the settled policy of this country in the matter of protective duties. To the general belief that such duties, when imposed upon the scale on which they are maintained in this country, tend in their effects to facilitate the operation of plans for reducing competition and maintaining prices, there can be little doubt that legislation such as section 498 in the Criminal Code and the statute we are now considering is very largely due.

"It appears to me that legislative authority over trade and commerce with foreign countries, and particularly over such aspects of those subjects as are related to the economic conditions and tendencies arising from the law in force on those subjects, must embrace the authority to legislate for such investigations as those authorized by this Act."

An appeal from the judgment of the Supreme Court was entered in the summer of 1929, but at the close of the fiscal year the argument had not been heard by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

REGISTRATIONS UNDER TRADE UNIONS ACT

As recorded in the sixth annual report, certain trade associations whose operations had been questioned under the Combines Investigation Act applied for registration under the Trade Unions Act, a statute passed in 1872 and administered by the Secretary of State. It was the design of the applicants by this action to place themselves beyond the reach of prosecution under section 498 of the Criminal Code and the Combines Investigation Act, if not even beyond investigation under the latter statute. The section of the Trade Unions Act under which they sought this exemption is as follows:—

“The purposes of any trade union shall not, by reason merely that they are in restraint of trade, be deemed to be unlawful, so as to render any member of such trade union liable to criminal prosecution for conspiracy or otherwise, or so as to render void or voidable any agreement or trust.” (Section 29.)

Two such trade associations, in 1928, secured certificates of registration: one of them the Associated Distributors of Canada, an organization of wholesale and retail druggists; another, the Amalgamated Builders' Council, an organization of plumbing and heating contractors and dealers. A third application, received from the Amalgamated Clothing Industries Council in August, 1928, was refused. In May, 1929, the Toronto Plumbing and Heating Contractors' Union, an organization limited in its purposes to the carrying out of an agreement between employers and employees, was registered. The certificates of registry of this association and of the Amalgamated Builders' Council were cancelled by the Secretary of State on December 31, 1929, following the report of Mr. Gordon Waldron, K.C., on his investigation into the Amalgamated Builders' Council and other related organizations.

A claim for protection under the Trade Unions Act was made by the Amalgamated Builders' Council shortly after the preliminary inquiry into its operations was started by the Registrar of the Combines Investigation Act, in June, 1929. The appeal was in the form of a motion for an interlocutory injunction restraining the Registrar and the Minister of Labour from proceeding with the investigation, and for a declaration that neither the A.B.C. nor any of its members was subject to investigation under the Combines Investigation Act. The case was heard by Mr. Justice Raney, who dismissed the motion with costs. In his written judgment, Mr. Justice Raney declared that no attempt had been made to conceal the fact that the objects of the association were in restraint of trade. “There is no pretense,” he said, “that, apart from the Trade Unions Act, there is not a violation by the plaintiff association of the Combines Investigation Act. The Trade Unions Act is obviously a flimsy foundation for an interlocutory injunction.”

Another development in connection with the Trade Unions Act was the declaration of its constitutional invalidity by Mr. Justice Middleton, following an action for libel instituted by the Amalgamated Builders' Council against the proprietor of the Border Cities Star (A.B.C. v. Herman). The defendant Herman moved to stay the action, contending that owing to the cancellation of the certificate the plaintiff had no longer any status in court, and that, in any case, the Trade Unions Act was constitutionally invalid and therefore could confer no right to sue. Mr. Justice Middleton delivered judgment on this case on March 25, 1930, and made an order “forever staying the action.” He concluded his analysis of the Trade Unions Acts in Canada and in England as follows:—

“This analysis of the acts makes it plain to me that the Dominion Act is nothing but a statute dealing solely with property and civil rights and therefore ultra vires, and for that reason quite ineffectual to confer any valid status upon the trade union.”

AMALGAMATED BUILDERS' COUNCIL

On May 3, 1929, immediately after the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada declaring the Combines Investigation Act to be constitutionally valid, a preliminary investigation into the Amalgamated Builders' Council and other related organizations was begun by the registrar. The A.B.C. had at that time established four local sections in the plumbing and heating trade, in Toronto, London, Windsor and Fort William and Port Arthur; one local section of sheet metal contractors in Windsor; and steps were being taken to organize the electrical contractors in Windsor into another local. It was clear, from the stated purposes of the A.B.C., that the intention was to bring within the membership of the council contractors in every branch of the building trades, not only in Ontario but throughout the Dominion. The preliminary inquiry was not pressed until the latter part of the month of May owing to a strike situation in Toronto which had developed because of the refusal of a score or more of the larger plumbing contractors to join the A.B.C. The A.B.C. had secured an agreement with the employees' union whereby the members of the latter engaged to work only for members of the A.B.C. In accordance with this agreement, which came into effect on May 1, the employees of the larger plumbing contractors ceased work on that date. The Minister of Labour was asked to intervene, and, after negotiations extending to May 23, secured a settlement of the strike through the establishment of the Toronto Plumbing and Heating Contractors' Union and the registration of this organization under the Trade Unions Act. Its purposes were limited to the carrying out of a new labour agreement with the employees' union, and its membership included both groups of employers.

The preliminary investigation which followed met with opposition by the A.B.C., and an application was made for an injunction to prevent its continuance, as referred to in the last preceding section on the Trade Unions Act. The injunction was refused on June 28. The preliminary inquiry was completed and disclosed prima facie evidence of a combine. The Government thereupon appointed Mr. Gordon Waldron, K.C., of Toronto, a commissioner to make the more exhaustive investigation for which the Combines Investigation Act provides. Mr. Waldron's commission, dated July 19, 1929, directed him to investigate the businesses of the Amalgamated Builders' Council, the Canadian Plumbing and Heating Guild, and the Dominion Chamber of Credits, as well as the business of their members and of any other person believed to be a party to the alleged combine. Mr. F. W. Griffiths, K.C., of Niagara Falls, Ont., was named by the Minister of Justice as counsel to conduct the investigation before the commissioner.

Of the three organizations under investigation the first to be formed was the Canadian Plumbing and Heating Guild, which was organized in the summer of 1927, and which originally included in its membership manufacturers and wholesalers as well as plumbing and heating contractors. Later its membership was limited to plumbing contractors, while manufacturers and wholesalers were represented in the Dominion Chamber of Credits, an allied organization, formed in the fall of 1927. It would appear that the failure of these organizations to be as effective as their members had hoped led to the formation of the A.B.C. on April 30, 1928, and its subsequent registration as a trade union, on June 8, 1928, under the Trade Unions Act.

The first step in the investigation was taken on July 22, 1929, when Commissioner Waldron called upon Mr. Louis M. Singer, K.C., as head of the three organizations being investigated, to produce the books and give evidence. Mr. Singer, on the advice of his counsel, Mr. W. F. O'Connor, refused to produce records, to answer questions, or to be sworn. Thereupon the commissioner, exercising powers conferred upon him by section 22 of the Combines Investigation Act, committed him to the common gaol for contempt of court to be detained until such time as he purged his contempt. Mr. Singer was released next day on bail of $100,000, by order of Mr. Justice McEvoy, of the Supreme Court of Ontario. On July 24, the books and papers of the three organizations were sequestered and transferred to Osgoode Hall, by an order of Mr. Justice Jeffrey, to whom application had been made for a writ of habeas corpus. Mr. Justice Jeffrey delivered judgment on August 1, declaring that Mr. Singer had committed a wilful contempt, studied and deliberate, and that the commissioner's jurisdiction had been properly exercised. Accordingly he refused the application and remanded Mr. Singer to custody. Application on the same day to Mr. Justice Orde met with refusal to grant bail. A further application to Mr. Justice Newcombe of the Supreme Court of Canada was also refused on August 8, on the ground that the Supreme Court Act did not contemplate the Supreme Court exercising jurisdiction in a case of the kind. On August 17, Mr. Justice Logie granted the release of Mr. Singer on bail of $75,000 pending the hearing of an appeal from Mr. Justice Jeffrey's order of August 1. The Court of Appeal heard argument on September 16, granted bail, and adjourned the case for two weeks to give Mr. Singer an opportunity to purge his contempt at the Toronto hearings of the commission, which began on September 23. Mr. Singer's examination was not completed at the expiration of the two weeks, and the hearing before the Court of Appeal was adjourned from time to time. Finally, on November 12, the appeal was dismissed with costs, the order of dismissal not to issue until November 18, 1929. On the following day Mr. Justice Meredith, Chief Justice of the Common Pleas Division, allowed the same appeal and ordered the discharge of Mr. Singer from custody. The periods during which Mr. Singer was actually confined in the Toronto gaol were July 22-23 and August 1-17.

The first hearings in the investigation, which by the minister's authorization were held in public, commenced on August 12 in the County Court House at Sandwich, Ont. Sixty witnesses, from Windsor and the other border cities, were heard at this point, the hearings continuing for fourteen days. Public hearings were resumed on September 9, in London, Ont., where evidence was given by twenty-seven witnesses, including operators, jobbers and manufacturers, most of them represented by counsel. The London hearings occupied nine days and were concluded on September 20.

The Toronto sittings, which opened at Osgoode Hall on September 23 and ended on November 15, occupied twenty-eight days. During this period, seventy-six witnesses were examined and statements on behalf of witnesses were made by fourteen counsel. An adjournment from October 28 to November 8 was arranged to permit of inquiry into the operations of the Canadian Plumbing and Heating Guild and the Amalgamated Builders' Council in Fort William and Port Arthur. Mr. F. W. Griffiths, K.C., acting for the commissioner, took evidence in private at these points, examining twenty-five witnesses. In all, one hundred and eighty-eight witnesses were examined or made statements during the investigation, twenty-five counsel appeared for witnesses, and 7,300 pages of evidence were taken.

On October 31, Commissioner Waldron made an interim report dealing exclusively with certain alleged frauds discovered in the city of London during the course of the investigation. The commissioner expressed the opinion that they were in violation of section 444 of the Criminal Code as well as of the Combines Investigation Act. Section 444 of the Code provides that "Everyone is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to seven years' imprisonment who conspires with any person, by deceit or falsehood or other fraudulent means, to defraud the public or any person, ascertained or unascertained, or to affect the public market price of stocks, shares, merchandise, or anything else publicly sold, whether such deceit or falsehood or other fraudulent means would or would not amount to a false pretence as hereinbefore defined."

Mr. Waldron's final report was submitted on December 18, 1929, and together with the interim report, was made public by the Minister of Labour on December 21.

The final report stated that a combine in violation of the Combines Investigation Act had been found to exist among certain persons engaged in the plumbing, heating, and sheet metal trades in Ontario. In the opinion of the commissioner, all persons who had joined the Canadian Plumbing and Heating Guild, the Dominion Chamber of Credits and the Amalgamated Builders' Council, together with the officers operating the Toronto Plumbing and Heating Contractors' Union, were parties to the combine. Of these persons, one hundred and thirty-seven were listed as having been given an opportunity to make representations on their own behalf. The list contained the names of one hundred and three individuals and thirty-four companies, located in Windsor, London, Toronto, Port Arthur and Fort William.

Mr. Waldron reviewed in his report the evidence taken in the course of the investigation, outlined the organization and operation of the different groups, and reported in detail the methods and amounts by which prices were enhanced and the means by which trade was otherwise restrained or injured to the detriment of the public. His finding was that the combine existed from the date of the convention at Hamilton at which the Canadian Plumbing and Heating Guild was organized, June 11, 1927.

"There was agreement at Hamilton to remedy the alleged conditions of the plumbing and heating trade, and there was agreement as to the methods or means of remedy. These were to raise the prices of materials and work to be paid by the public, to limit competition among operators in and out of the Guild, and to compel the jobbers and manufacturers, members and non-members, to respect the so-called sales policy or doctrine of the channels of trade. . . .

"I find and report that there was, during the A. B. C. period, a combine detrimental to the public in contravention of the Combines Investigation Act and section 498 of the Criminal Code. The Guild was maintained and operated through this period and its character and membership were not altered by the registration and operation of the A. B. C. The changes made after the registration of the A. B. C. were (1) the abandonment of the pretence of individual action, and (2) the making of agreements with the labour unions of Windsor and Toronto by which these professed to contract that their members would not work for any but members of the A. B. C., that is, members of the Guild. I reject the contention made before me in the course of the investigation that registration of the A. B. C. as an employers' union under the Trade Unions Act of 1872 rendered the members immune from criminal responsibility for all that was done because all that was done was in restraint of trade. It is impossible to conclude, in the absence of compelling language in the Act, that Parliament, which has subsequently enacted the Combines Investigation Act, and section 498 of the Criminal Code, intended by the Trade Unions Act to warrant employers' or employees' unions to do, with impunity, anything which might be injurious to the trade of non-members or to the people in general or any section of them."

The report dealt with the alleged boycotting of jobbers and manufacturers by operators, and of operators by jobbers and manufacturers. This was accomplished by the sending out of lists of the members of the organizations. On this method the commissioner commented as follows:—

"A more unfair weapon in the circumstances could hardly be invented. When these lists were received, a jobber finding an operator not on the list would have notice that he might not sell to him, and an operator finding the name of a jobber or manufacturer not on the list would have notice that he was not to buy that jobber's or manufacturer's wares."

The position of the jobbers and manufacturers was dealt with further:—

"It is just to say, on behalf of the jobbers and manufacturers, that in the formation and operation of this combine, their position was extremely difficult. They were pursued, dogged and threatened by members of the Guild with boycott, if they disregarded the sales policy or channels of trade. . . .

"It is quite clear that any jobber or manufacturer who had resisted this combine and refused to sign acceptance of the sales policy would reasonably have regarded himself as in danger of great financial loss. He ought, of course, to have stood out; he ought to have gone to the Crown Attorneys and officers of the law higher up for protection, but it is not to be doubted that in taking such a course he would have reasonably anticipated possibly his ruin before the law brought him relief."

The findings as respects the registrations under the Trade Unions Act were summarized in the concluding paragraphs as follows:—

"I find also and report that the registration of the A.B.C. was a sham and a fraud, that its true purposes shown clearly by the evidence were not those set out in the petition to the Secretary of State for registration, but were to enable the Guild to effect, in violation of the statutes, an unlawful oppression or 'discipline' of the public and the persons engaged in the plumbing and heating trade, whether members or not members of the Guild. I advise, therefore, that the registration of the Amalgamated Builders' Council was null under section 6 and ought to be so declared at once.

"I advise also, and for similar reasons, that the registration of the X.Y.Z., that is, the Toronto Plumbing and Heating Contractors' Union, is null and ought to be so declared at once. It was undoubtedly a sham and a fraud. It was, with the amazing strike of May 1, 1929, and the negotiations arising out of that, a part of the activity of the Guild or combine. The purposes were not those set out in the registration, but the true purposes were to oppress unlawfully the public and the manufacturers, jobbers and operators of the plumbing and heating trade in and out of the Guild or combine. Registration was accomplished by what may be fairly called duress as well as by adventurous cunning. An intolerable power of oppression seems to have been acquired by the registration of a rule that this union may expel members for any reason. The operators have been forced in to obtain union labour and they may be forced out to limit competition."

As a result of these findings respecting the registrations under the Trade Unions Act, immediate action was taken by the Secretary of State. A proclamation issued on December 31, 1929, declared that, since the purposes of both organizations were found to be unlawful, the registrations were void, and the certificates were therefore cancelled.

The interim and final reports of the commissioner were remitted by the Minister of Labour to the Attorney-General of Ontario on November 8 and December 27 respectively, for such action as he might choose to institute. On the ground, however, that the province was at that time contesting the validity of the Combines Investigation Act, the Attorney-General decided not to act and recommended that the Dominion should take whatever steps were deemed necessary in the circumstances. Accordingly the Minister of Justice, in February, 1930, appointed Messrs. A. G. Slaght, K.C., and J. C. McRuer, K.C., to institute proceedings. An account of the prosecutions will be recorded in the report for the next fiscal year.

Reference may be made here, however, to a judgment by Mr. Justice Orde, delivered on May 5, 1930, following an action for slander taken by Mr. W. F. O'Connor against Mr. Waldron. Mr. Justice Orde's judgment was made on a motion to dismiss, and declared that proceedings before a commissioner appointed under the Combines Investigation Act are absolutely privileged, and commissioner, counsel, witnesses and parties are entitled to the same protection as in a court of law. It was announced subsequently that the judgment would be appealed.

ELECTRICAL ESTIMATORS' ASSOCIATION

A preliminary inquiry into an alleged combine of electrical contractors in Toronto, known as the Electrical Estimators' Association, disclosed that the public was being injured by a combination which had the effect of lessening competition and enhancing prices. The Electrical Estimators' Association began operations early in 1927; it included in its membership the largest electrical contractors in Toronto.

Briefly described, the principal method used had been for each of the members, before tendering on a job, to submit a statement of his costs of material and labour to the secretary of the association, who averaged the costs thus submitted and declared the contractor whose costs were nearest to the average to be entitled to the job. This contractor then added an agreed-upon percentage to cover his overhead costs and net profit, usually between 25 and 30 per cent, and his tender price was therefore made known to the other contractors, who saw to it that none of their tenders was submitted to the architect or owner below that price. The tenders of those whose estimated costs were below the average were therefore greatly increased; they were fictitious bids, and the owner had no means of protecting himself against the combination, no means of securing fair bids from contractors whose costs were low. The successful tenderer paid 2 per cent of the contract price into the funds of the association.

In other instances, where a member had considered himself entitled to a job, because of business connections or for some other reason, he had requested the other members either to refrain from bidding altogether or to quote above his tender. For such protection the member paid into the association 2 per cent of his tender price.

While it was true that the membership of the association represented only a few of the electrical contractors, it appeared that these members had virtually a monopoly of the larger contracts in Toronto. The volume of their business was greater by far than that of all the other electrical contractors together. Only contracts amounting to over $1,000 were dealt with by the association, but of these there were approximately sixty between 1927 and 1929, including contracts for school, library, and factory buildings. Difficulty was found, in the preliminary inquiry, in completing the records because of the disappearance of certain of the association's record books. However, with the working sheets of the individual members and the co-operation of the architects concerned, a fairly satisfactory record of the association's operations was compiled.

The appointment of a commissioner in this case was not made until after the close of the fiscal year.

MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

An application was received during the fiscal year calling for an investigation of an alleged combine of certain motion picture film distributors and exhibitors. It was alleged by the applicants that the Famous Players Canadian Corporation held virtually a monopoly of moving picture theatres in most Canadian cities and in many smaller centres, and that it used this monopoly unfairly, by enhancing prices of admission, by restricting the circulation of films, or at least the best of the films, to theatres in its own group, and in other ways by using unfair methods of competition to the disadvantage of rival independent theatres as well as the theatre-going public. It was further alleged that the buying power of this corporation gave it a large measure of control over the ten motion picture exchanges in Canada, distributors of films, and that these exchanges assisted in securing and keeping monopoly control and were therefore parties to the combine. Final disposition of this case had not been made at the close of the fiscal year.

ALLEGED COMBINE OF MILK PRODUCERS

An application was made in the fall of 1929 for an investigation of an alleged combine of milk producers in the vicinity of Montreal. It was alleged that the producers had combined to enhance the price of milk to the detriment of the public. Shortly after the application was received it was observed that the provincial Government had appointed a committee to investigate the cost of producing milk supplied to the Montreal market. It was assumed that the committee would deal with the question of the reasonableness or unreasonableness of the price increase asked for by the producers. Under the circumstances, and in view of the pressure of other investigations, it was considered advisable to await the report of this committee. The final report had not been received at the end of the fiscal year.

OTHER COMPLAINTS AND INQUIRIES

The above summary outlines the more important matters which have been dealt with during the fiscal year. A brief reference may be made to other complaints and inquiries which have received attention without requiring, or without so far receiving, the assistance of commissioner or counsel outside the department. It has been departmental policy in the administration of the Combines Investigation Act, in dealing with inquiries in the preliminary stage, to give no publicity to the complaint or to the fact that an inquiry has been asked for. Occasionally the applicants themselves have disclosed such information, as was the case with respect to the inquiries into the motion picture industry and into the alleged combine of Montreal milk producers.

During the investigation into the Amalgamated Builders' Council reference was made to the operations of several trade associations of manufacturers of metal products, and comment on them was made in the report of the commissioner. No evidence was given to prove that they were operating against the public interest, but the records of the associations were secured for examination. In view of the fact that other inquiries were more urgent and that the associations in question were reported as no longer operating, the examination of these records was not proceeded with immediately and had not been completed at the end of the fiscal year. The same considerations applied in the case of an association of wholesale dealers in plumbing and heating supplies.

In two other cases private inquiries were made following complaints that certain trade associations had made it impossible for certain wholesale dealers to secure supplies from manufacturers at usual trade prices. The circumstances appeared to be such as to bring these cases within the scope of the Combines Investigation Act. In both instances, however, matters were adjusted satisfactorily by negotiation. Many other complaints involving the refusal of manufacturers to sell have been dealt with, and each case has been considered carefully on its own merits. The principle which underlies the Act, of governmental interference only when the public interest is involved, has been maintained, and the right of a manufacturer to choose his own customers (so long as the element of monopoly is not present and so long as such sales policies are determined without outside collusion, coercion or influence) has been respected. It has been made clear to the complainants in all such cases that the provisions of the Combines Investigation Act apply only where the public interest has been or is likely to be detrimentally affected.

The fixing of resale prices continues to be a vexed problem in many branches of Canadian business. The principle has been involved in a number of cases dealt with during the year. There are many evidences that the findings in the case of the Proprietary Articles Trade Association have been taken into consideration by manufacturers and others in deciding sales policies, and that they have had weight in their decisions. More than one scheme similar in aim to that of the Proprietary Articles Trade Association, if not similar in methods, and possessed of possibilities of injury to the public, has been abandoned or has become ineffective partly, if not largely, through the influence of the findings in the P. A. T. A. case. It is impossible to estimate the effectiveness, as preventive factors, of that decision and others and of the publicity given to the Act through the different investigations which have been held. The public hearings in the recent A. B. C. case have served a highly useful purpose in this respect, in creating greater public interest in the Combines Investigation Act and in making its provisions more widely known, better understood, and therefore more generally observed.

XII. GOVERNMENT ANNUITIES ACT

The Government Annuities Act, formerly chapter 5 of the Statutes of 1908, with amendments, has been incorporated in chapter 7 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927, and is the enabling legislation under which the Canadian Government Annuities System is operated.

The purpose of the statute is to encourage and aid the people of Canada in the formation of habits of thrift, so that provision may be made for old age, and the Canadian Government Annuities System was carefully designed with this object in view.

The cost of administration is borne by the Dominion Government and there is no charge made on this account against the annuitant. There is, of course, no loading of the rates for profits, and the annuitant, therefore, receives full benefit for every dollar paid in.

The minimum amount of annuity purchasable on the life of one person, or on the lives of two persons jointly, is $10 a year, and the maximum amount, $5,000 a year.

A Canadian Government Annuity, which is a fixed yearly income paid by the Government of Canada, is generally purchased to be payable in quarterly or monthly instalments for life, but contracts are also issued under which the annuity is payable for a specified number of years if the annuitant should so long live.

Although in the vast majority of cases annuities issued on the lives of individuals are purchased by the individuals themselves, provision is also made in the Act whereby employers may contract for the purchase of annuities on behalf of their employees, or associations on behalf of their members.

There are two distinct classes of annuities, under both of which several plans of contract are available:—

(1) Deferred Annuities, designed to meet the requirements of young persons who desire to provide for old age by securing for themselves a safe, steady, and dependable income to begin when their earning days are over. Deferred Annuities may be purchased by making a single cash payment but in practically all cases they are secured by younger persons by making annual, semi-annual, quarterly, monthly or weekly premium deposits.

(2) Immediate Annuities, planned to meet the needs of older persons who have accumulated savings and who desire to retire from active employment. Immediate annuities are purchased by paying in a lump sum and the annuity commences three months or one month from the date the purchase money is received.

During the fiscal year ending March 31, 1930, different forms of advertising were used for the purpose of acquainting the people of Canada with the advantages of the Canadian Government Annuities System. A national newspaper advertising campaign was inaugurated and, through the co-operation of the Post Office Department, slugs advertising annuities were used in postal cancelling machines at Post Offices in the larger centres of population. The explanatory talks given over the coast to coast chain of Canadian National Railways radio broadcasting stations were resumed, and, as a result of these efforts, thousands of inquiries regarding annuities were received.

Further appointments were made of special representatives for the sale of Canadian Government Annuities and representatives who devote full time to this work are now located in the following cities: Halifax, Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Cornwall, Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver and Victoria.

The full-time special representatives referred to in the foregoing are appointed only in places where the postmasters are employed on a salary basis. Postmasters in charge of money order offices who are not employed on a city office basis are allowed a commission on all applications secured or payments received for the purchase of Canadian Government Annuities. During the year efforts were continued to secure increased co-operation from these postmasters, who are, generally speaking, located in smaller centres of population.

The interest displayed by the Canadian people in the Government system of making provision for old age would appear to be steadily increasing and the number of contracts sold each year shows continued improvement. The decline in security prices and bank deposits which occurred during the fiscal year under review, as well as the prevalence of unemployment, somewhat retarded the progress made during the two years preceding the fiscal year ending March 31, 1930. Twelve hundred and fifty-seven contracts were issued and the amount of purchase money received during the same period was $3,156,475.24.

XIII. OLD AGE PENSIONS ACT

The present chapter constitutes the fourth annual report on the administration of old age pensions in Canada under the provisions of the Old Age Pensions Act, chapter 156, R.S.C. 1927, being for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1930.

During the year old age pension legislation was made effective by Royal Proclamations in the provinces of Alberta and Ontario. On July 22, 1929, an agreement was entered into between the Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labour, representing the Government of Canada, and the Hon. J. E. Brownlee, Provincial Secretary, representing the province of Alberta, whereby old age pensions became payable in that province as from the first day of August, 1929. On June 11, 1929, the Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labour, on behalf of the Dominion Government, and the Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Prime Minister of Ontario, on behalf of the province, signed an agreement under which old age pensions became payable in Ontario from and after November 1, 1929.

Section 5 of the Old Age Pensions Act of Canada provides that the scheme for the administration of pensions proposed to be adopted by a province shall be approved by the Governor in Council before any agreement made pursuant to the Act comes into operation. Under the provisions of this section approval of the scheme of administration of old age pensions in the province of Alberta was given by Order of His Excellency the Governor in Council (P.C. 1820) dated September 18, 1929, and by Order in Council (P.C. 949) dated June 1, 1929, the Ontario scheme of administration was approved.

The second meeting of the Interprovincial Board established under the provisions of section 19 (r) of the Dominion Act was held in Ottawa on January 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th. In addition to the members representing the Dominion Government and the provinces of British Columbia, Manitoba, and Saskatchewan, there were present Mr. Alex. Ross, Chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board, Edmonton, Alta., and Dr. David Jamieson, Chairman of the Old Age Pensions Commission, Toronto, Ont., who were appointed as members of this board by Order in Council (P.C. 2260) dated November 14, 1929. On January 16, 1930, the board submitted a report to the Minister of Labour recommending the following amendments to the Old Age Pensions Regulations:—

1. That in Regulation No. 10 the words "shall, in the absence of evidence to rebut such presumption" be struck out and that the word "may" be inserted in lieu thereof.

2. That in Regulation No. 11 the words "shall, in the absence of evidence to rebut such presumption" be struck out and that the word "may" be inserted in lieu thereof.

3. That the following Regulation be made and inserted after Regulation No. 12:—

13. Absence from Canada for a period of less than one month shall not be deemed to have interrupted residence therein.

4. That Regulations 13, 14 and 15 be renumbered 14, 15 and 16.

5. That Regulations 16, 17 and 19 be rescinded.

6. That the following Regulation be made as No. 17:—

17. For the purpose of determining income regard may be had to the following:—

(a) annuity at the amount thereof;

(b) real property at the rate of 5 per cent of the assessed value thereof, exclusive of encumbrances;

(c) the amount of the annuity purchasable by the personal property of the pensioner after making due allowance for reasonable household furniture;

(d) salary, wages or other means of livelihood, whether in money or in kind, which the pensioner may reasonably be expected to receive; and such other methods as may be deemed equitable.

7. That Regulation 20 be renumbered as 19 and the succeeding regulations be renumbered accordingly.

The recommendations of the board were approved and the regulations accordingly amended by Order in Council (P.C. 311/991) dated May 13, 1930. This order was published in the Canada Gazette on May 24, 1930. The text of the consolidated regulations is appended hereto as Schedule "A".

During the year ending March 31, 1930, the total sum of $5,614,301.54 was paid as old age pensions, including the sum of $557.74 to pensioners on account of residence in the Northwest Territories. The Dominion Government refunded to the various provinces one-half of the amount paid out in such provinces for old age pensions as follows:—

ALBERTA

The Old Age Pensions Act of Alberta, passed at the 1929 session of the Provincial Legislature, was brought into force by Proclamation on August 1, 1929, and under date of July 22, 1929, an agreement was entered into between the Dominion Government and the Government of the province whereby old age pensions are payable in Alberta from August 1, 1929. The text of this agreement is appended hereto as Schedule "B". Provincial regulations were provided for by order of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council (O.C. 819/29) dated July 10, 1929, and were approved as the provincial scheme of administration by Dominion Order in Council (P.C. 1820) dated September 18, 1929. The text of these regulations appears as Schedule "C" hereafter.

For the period of eight months up to March 31, 1930, the province of Alberta paid out $267,420.04, one-half of which was repaid to the province by the federal Government. The following table is compiled from returns made to the Dominion Government by the Alberta authorities:—

The total net amount paid for pensions in this province up to March 31, 1929, was $1,061,585.94, and during the last fiscal year there was paid out $988,051.10, making a total of $2,049,637.04 paid for pensions since the inception of the Act in the province. One-half of this amount was repaid to the province by the federal Government.

The following table is compiled from returns made to the Dominion Government by the Government of British Columbia:—

MANITOBA

The Manitoba Old Age Pensions Act, passed at the 1928 session of the Legislature, was brought into force by Proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor on September 1, 1928. This Act was amended at the 1929 session of the Provincial Legislature, and at the close of the fiscal year 1929-30 a Bill to further amend the Act was under consideration.

The total amount paid for pensions in this province up to March 31, 1929, was $484,607.70, and during the year under review there was paid out $1,164,687.97, making a total of $1,649,295.67 paid for pensions since the inception of the Act. One-half of this amount was repaid to the province by the Dominion Government. The following table is made up from returns made by the Government of Manitoba:—

	March 31, 1929	June 30, 1929	September 30, 1929	December 31, 1929	March 31, 1930

NORTHWEST TERRITORIES

Old age pensions have been paid to residents of the Northwest Territories since January 25, 1929, in accordance with the provisions of Order in Council (P.C. 114). The following table with reference to the Northwest Territories is compiled from information in the department:—

	September 30, 1929	December 31, 1929	March 31, 1930

NOVA SCOTIA

In this province a Royal Commission was appointed in August, 1928, to inquire into the subject of old age pensions. An interim report of the commission was made in February, 1929, and the final report was made public in April, 1930. According to the estimate made the total amount payable for pensions would be approximately $3,800,000, one-half of which would be payable by the Dominion Government. The concluding paragraph of the report states that unfortunately the proportion of the population seventy years of age or over is very large and the number in the productive age groups relatively small, and therefore the introduction of an old age pension system in this province would constitute a very serious burden. No further action has been taken in the matter.

ONTARIO

At the closing of the last fiscal year there was in the course of preparation an agreement to provide for the payment of old age pensions in this province. This agreement was duly signed on June 11, 1929, by the Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labour, representing the Government of Canada, and the Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Prime Minister of Ontario, representing the province of Ontario, whereby old age pensions are payable in the province from November 1, 1929. The text of the agreement appears as Schedule "D" of this report. Regulations were passed by the provincial Government and approved as the provincial scheme of administration by Dominion Order in Council (P.C. 949) dated June 1, 1929. These regulations appear hereafter as Schedule "E." During the 1930 session a Bill was introduced in the provincial Legislature to amend the Old Age Pensions Act. This Bill received the Royal Assent shortly after the close of the fiscal year. The text of the Bill follows:—

- (a) "Municipality" shall mean county, union of counties, city, separated town, or town of 10,000 or more population in a provisional judicial district.
- (b) "District" shall mean a provisional judicial district (excluding the cities and towns of 10,000 or more population therein) and the provisional county of Haliburton.

2. The board appointed for the purposes of the Act by the council of a municipality shall consist of five members. After the first appointment the members of such board shall be appointed annually by the municipal council at its first meeting in each year. The members of such boards shall hold office until their successors are appointed. At the first meeting, and thereafter at the first meeting in each year, a chairman shall be appointed.

3. In a district the Local Authority shall be a board composed of three persons to be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, one of whom shall be appointed by the members of the board as chairman. The members of such boards appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council shall hold office until their successors are appointed.

4. Application for a pension shall be in the form annexed hereto. With each application there shall be furnished the proofs as to age mentioned in such form and in the Dominion regulations, together with such other evidence and proofs of claim as the commission may from time to time prescribe.

5. Applications must be made to the Local Authority of the municipality or district where the applicant resided on 1st July, 1929, and after 1st July, 1930, to the Local Authority of the municipality or district where the applicant then resides.

6. With regard to all applications received by a Local Authority on or before 1st July, 1930, the residence of a pensioner shall be deemed to be the municipality or district where the pensioner resided on 1st July, 1929, and after 1st July, 1930, such residence shall be deemed to be the municipality or district where the pensioner then resides.

7. In case of the removal of a pensioner from a municipality such municipality shall be liable to contribute to the pension for one year after such removal, and after this period the municipality to which the pensioner has removed shall become liable to contribute towards such pension.

8. In case of the removal of a pensioner from a district to a municipality the municipality shall become liable to contribute towards such pension one year after such removal.

9. Where there is a dispute as to the residence of a pensioner such dispute shall be determined by the commission whose decision shall be final and binding.

10. Where a pensioner moves outside a municipality or district where the pension was granted the Local Authority shall notify the commission of the date of such removal and of the place to which the pensioner has gone.

11. The Local Authority shall investigate the circumstances connected with each application, and give its decision in writing upon each application. All original applications and proofs shall be forwarded to the Old Age Pensions Commission at Toronto. Each applicant for a pension shall within seven days of the decision of the Local Authority having been given be notified in writing by the Local Authority of such decision.

12. An appeal may be filed with the commission by any applicant for a pension within one month from the date of the decision of the Local Authority. The commission may in its discretion extend the time for appealing where it is shown that through incapacity or other reasonable circumstances it was not possible to give notice of appeal within the time mentioned.

13. There shall be the same right of appeal as provided for in the preceding regulation to the commission from any Local Authority by any person who objects to the allowance of a pension or any part thereof.

14. Upon an appeal being made to the commission notice in writing thereof shall be given to the Local Authority by the commission. The commission shall make such investigation as it deems necessary, and shall notify the person appealing and the Local Authority in writing of its decision.

15. Where an application has been received before 1st November, 1929, and a pension has been granted the pension will be payable monthly thereafter by bank cheque. After that date every pension granted shall commence on the day after the application is received by the Local Authority, and in the event of the pension commencing on a day other than the first day of the month the first payment shall include such proportion of the pension as the balance of the month bears to the whole month.

16. In the event of the death of a pensioner any part of the pension unpaid may be paid to such person as the commission considers equitably entitled thereto.

17. The commission shall render monthly to the corporation of each municipality an account for twenty per centum of the pensions for which such corporation is liable.

18. Any pension or part thereof granted may be paid to any statutory or other committee or trustee of the estate of the person to whom the pension is granted, or with the consent of the pensioner to any person or trust or corporate body undertaking or liable for the maintenance and care of any person to whom a pension is granted under the Act.

19. The Local Authority must notify the commission of the death of any pensioner, or of any change that may occur in the family or financial condition of a pensioner, immediately upon becoming aware of same.

20. The commission shall be entitled to recover from a pensioner any sum improperly paid by way of a pension whether as the result of the non-disclosure of facts, innocent or false representations or any other cause.

21. The commission and any Local Authority shall be entitled to obtain without charge from any Government department of Ontario any available information deemed necessary in the administration of the "Old Age Pensions Act, 1927," Chapter 35, Statutes of Canada, and the "Old Age Pensions Act, 1929," Chapter 73, Statutes of Ontario.

XIV. EMPLOYMENT OFFICES CO-ORDINATION ACT

The fiscal year ended March 31, 1930, was the twelfth in which the Employment Service Branch, set up under the Employment Offices Co-ordination Act, co-operated with the provincial Governments to maintain the Employment Service of Canada.

FUNCTIONS OF THE BRANCH

The primary function of the Employment Service Branch is administrative—that of administering the Employment Offices Co-ordination Act (chapter 57, R.S.C. 1927). This Act empowers the Minister of Labour

- (a) to aid and encourage the organization and co-ordination of employment offices and to promote uniformity of methods among them;
- (b) to establish one or more clearing houses for the interchange of information between employment offices concerning the transfer of labour and other matters;
- (c) to compile and distribute information received from employment offices, and from other sources, regarding prevailing conditions of employment.

The employment offices whose co-ordination and uniformity of methods are sought are the employment offices of the various provincial Governments. The desired co-operation of the provinces, one with the other and all with the Department of Labour, is obtained by the device of federal subventions for employment service work provided for in the Act. In view of the close co-ordination of effort which is attained, the employment offices of the several provinces and the federal clearing houses, though each unit retains its individual identity, are commonly considered as a single organization known as "The Employment Service of Canada."

Emanating from the administration of the Act is the supplementary function recited in (c) above—that of collecting, compiling and publishing information which sheds light on the currently prevailing trend of the volume of employment. To fulfil this mission two classes of statistics are regularly prepared: (1) administrative statistics—those showing the volume of work performed by the offices of the Employment Service of Canada; and (2) trade union statistics—those compiled on the basis of monthly returns forwarded voluntarily by over 1,700 local trade unions, showing the percentages of their memberships unemployed. These statistics are all published monthly in the Labour Gazette.

AGREEMENTS WITH THE PROVINCES

The Employment Offices Co-ordination Act provides in section 6 that,—
"The payments hereinbefore authorized shall, as to each province, be conditional upon agreement between the minister and the Government of the province as to the terms, conditions and purposes within the meaning of this Act upon and for which the payments are to be made and applied, and upon such agreement being approved by the Governor in Council."

Accordingly, during the fiscal year 1929-30, uniform agreements were concluded with all the provincial Governments except that of Prince Edward Island. The sum of money which was mentioned in the agreement as being available for payment by the Department of Labour to the provinces was $150,000, the sum provided by statute. The amount of $150,000, when distributed among the provinces in proportion to their expenditures on employment office administration and operation, enabled a repayment to them of 32·8 per centum of their gross expenditures. Due to a slight increase in their gross expenditures, the provinces benefited to the extent of 0·7 per cent less than in the preceding fiscal year. Table No. 1 on page 143 shows in detail the amounts paid to the various provinces, dividing the totals under the different items which are considered legitimate expenditures under the Act. Moreover, on its part the Department of Labour undertook to, and did, furnish the provinces with the different forms utilized in the employment offices. The terms and conditions under which the moneys were to be paid to the provincial Governments, as set forth in the agreement, were the same as during the previous fiscal year. That feature of the agreements of previous years providing specifically for special employment work on behalf of veterans of the Great War who were partially disabled as a result of war services, was again preserved.

LOCATION OF EMPLOYMENT OFFICES

Every office of the Employment Service offers facilities for both men and women who are seeking work in any occupation, and for employers seeking any sort of help. Obviously, it is neither practicable nor advisable to segregate the various functions of the offices at all centres, but when the volume of work warrants it, and where the population to be served is of sufficient magnitude, such division of functions is made, and men's and women's, skilled and unskilled, farm, factory, and domestic, etc., divisions are separately operated. In Western Canada, where seasonal workers, such as farm labourers, are regularly hired in large numbers, it is common custom, particularly in Saskatchewan and British Columbia, to operate temporary offices. These are not included, however, in the list below.

During the year the number of centres at which offices are conducted increased to 66, by the opening up of new offices at Amos and Rouyn, P.Q. This list of centres where offices are located follows:—

Nova Scotia (three centres).—Halifax, New Glasgow, Sydney.

New Brunswick (three centres).—Chatham, Moncton, Saint John.

Quebec (seven centres).—Amos, Hull, Montreal, Quebec, Rouyn, Sherbrooke, Three Rivers.

Ontario (twenty-five centres).—Belleville, Brantford, Chatham, Cobalt, Fort William, Guelph, Hamilton, Kingston, Kitchener, London, Niagara Falls, North Bay, Oshawa, Ottawa, Pembroke, Peterborough, Port Arthur, Sarnia, Sault Ste. Marie, St. Catharines, St. Thomas, Sudbury, Timmins, Toronto, Windsor.

Manitoba (three centres).—Brandon, Dauphin, Winnipeg.

Saskatchewan (nine centres).—Estevan, Moose Jaw, North Battleford, Prince Albert, Regina, Saskatoon, Swift Current, Weyburn, Yorkton.

Alberta (five centres).—Calgary, Drumheller, Edmonton, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat.

British Columbia (eleven centres).—Cranbrook, Kamloops, Nanaimo, Nelson, New Westminster, Penticton, Prince George, Prince Rupert, Revelstoke, Vancouver, Victoria.

For the purpose of co-ordinating the efforts of the various local offices, and to enable the transfer of any kind of labour from districts over-supplied to those where a dearth exists, eight clearing houses have been established throughout Canada. Those for provincial clearance, operated by the provincial Governments as part of the Employment Service of Canada, are situated at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton, and Vancouver. Those for inter-provincial clearance, operated by the Department of Labour in the interests of the Employment Service of Canada, are: Eastern Clearing House, Ottawa; Western Clearing House, Winnipeg.

STAFF

On March 31, 1929, the personnel of the Employment Service totalled 271. This number was distributed among the various component authorities as follows:—

(a) Provincial Governments.—Nova Scotia, 6; New Brunswick, 7; Quebec, 29; Ontario, 104; Manitoba, 20; Saskatchewan, 27; Alberta, 20; and British Columbia, 26.

(b) Federal Government.—Department of Labour, Ottawa, 17; Western Clearing House, Winnipeg, 2; local employment offices at Halifax, 1; at Ottawa, 1; at Toronto, 5; at Winnipeg, 2; at Vancouver, 3; and at Victoria, 1.

At the close of the fiscal year under review, the total number of employees stood at 273, 32 of whom were employed by the federal Government and 241 of whom were provincial employees. The detailed distribution of staff was as follows:—

(a) Provincial Governments.—Nova Scotia, 6; New Brunswick, 7; Quebec, 31; Ontario, 102; Manitoba, 22; Saskatchewan, 27; Alberta, 20; British Columbia, 26.

(b) Federal Government.—Department of Labour, Ottawa, 17; Western Clearing House, Winnipeg, 2; local employment offices, at Halifax, 1; at Ottawa, 1; at Toronto, 5, at Winnipeg, 2; at Vancouver, 3, and at Victoria, 1.

The explanation of the location of federal employees in local employment offices is that these employees have been placed in the employment offices at the centres mentioned to engage in specialized employment work on behalf of handicapped veterans of the war, in pursuance of the agreements between the federal and provincial Governments.

SPECIALIZED EMPLOYMENT WORK ON BEHALF OF HANDICAPPED EX-SERVICE MEN

In previous annual reports of the department there has been given some account of the taking over by the Employment Service of Canada from the Department of Pensions and National Health (formerly the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment) of the duty of endeavouring to place in suitable employment men having physical handicaps due to service in the late war. During the fiscal year 1929-30, the Department of Labour again enlisted the co-operation of the provinces with respect to this task, this being the fifth fiscal year in which a special clause of the annual agreements covered the matter.

The agreements continued the terms and conditions for the carrying on of this work on the same basis as in previous years. The provinces agreed to undertake in all their employment offices to register and to endeavour to place in employment employable handicapped ex-service men; the Department of Labour undertook to appoint and pay in full any additional employees who might be necessary for the providing of adequate facilities at the more important points. Such federal employees were maintained in the provincial employment offices as follows: Halifax, 1; Ottawa, 1; Toronto, 5; Winnipeg, 2; Vancouver, 3; and Victoria, 1.

What was said concerning this phase of the work of the Employment Service of Canada in recent annual reports may well be repeated. Employment work on behalf of handicapped ex-service men deserves attention for two chief reasons: first, the work accomplished reflects most favourably upon Canada in respect of her discharge of her obligations to those wounded in her service during the Great War; and second, federal-provincial co-operation, which is the watchword of the Employment Service, in this branch of the work is most advantageously exemplified. The provincial authorities assisted the Department of Labour in every way to make this work successful. In earlier fiscal years, since the work was first taken over during 1923-24, it might have been considered that it was somewhat in the nature of an experiment, but the steady progress made indicates that the experimental stage has passed and that this phase of the work of the Employment Service of Canada has now been placed upon a rather permanent footing.

The work is difficult of satisfactory accomplishment. Certain classes of war disabilities practically preclude the possibility of those unfortunate enough to be afflicted with them being placed in employment, for positions suitable to the needs of such men are not sufficiently numerous to care for the substantial number of applications received. This means that casual employment has to be relied upon to a considerable extent to meet the requirements of such workers, and it is felt by those in close association with this work that the percentage of handicapped ex-service men who desire to secure employment and who can only secure casual work is increasing. Thus, while during the fiscal year 1929-30 there were 8,251 placements of handicapped ex-service men made by the different employment offices, 5,975, or over 72 per cent, were in casual employment. However, of the remaining 2,276 placements in regular employment, a substantial number were permanently established and may be considered as removed from the employment office field indefinitely. In connection with employment for partially disabled men the employers throughout the country have continued to show a commendable spirit of co-operation with the employment offices; the idea that to secure 100 per cent efficiency in any occupation a man must be 100 per cent physically fit has largely been overcome, and employers, generally speaking, are willing to give a disabled man a chance to fit in, where the nature of his disability is not such that it interferes with his efficiency.

The centres where the federal employees are doing this specialized employment office work were chosen not only because they are among the largest centres in Canada, but also because they are, owing to greater opportunities in industry, more favourable climatic conditions, etc., the places of residence of a very large proportion of all handicapped ex-service men. While the department has been petitioned on a couple of occasions to establish special handicap sections in other centres, in each case it has been found, on joint investigation with the provincial authorities, that the need was not sufficiently great to require such action.

EMPLOYMENT STATISTICS

As previously stated, certain statistical information covering the field of employment is regularly collected and compiled by the Employment Service Branch and published in the Labour Gazette. These statistics are of two classes: (a) administrative statistics, showing the work performed by the employment offices, based on daily reports received from the offices of the Employment Service; and (b) statistics based on monthly reports on unemployment, received from local trade unions. In addition, the Labour Gazette publishes each month index numbers of employment in industry and reports on building permits issued, which are collected by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, in accordance with the Statistics Act. These statistics are all closely followed by large numbers of persons throughout Canada, and the numerous inquiries concerning them received in the department testify to the value set on them by the public.

STATISTICAL REPORT OF EMPLOYMENT OFFICES

The tables on page 144 show (table No. 2) applications, (table No. 3) vacancies, and (table No. 4) placements in regular and casual employment as reported by the offices of the Employment Service of Canada in the various provinces during the fiscal year; an analysis of the vacancies and placements by industrial groups for the same period is also given (table No. 7) on pages 146 and 147.

As may be seen in the tables, during the year 1929-30 there were registered at the public employment offices a total of 562,061 applications for employment, 407,841 being from men and 154,220 from women. The total for the previous fiscal year was 600,628.

Opportunities for employment of which the offices were notified numbered 428,755, of which 302,446 were for men and 126,309 for women. The corresponding total for the fiscal year 1928-29 was 510,122. Placements effected by the service show a total of 401,509, 293,375 having been men and 108,134 women. Considered on the basis of the duration of the prospective work, the figures are further subdivided into "casual", i.e., where the duration of employment does not exceed seven days, and "regular", i.e., where the duration of employment is in excess of seven days. From this angle the placements of men show 87,356 to have been casual and 206,019 to have been regular. Of the placements of women 57,463 were casual and 50,671 were regular. It might be added that the statistics for the preceding fiscal year recorded placements of 362,268 men and 110,709 women, or a total of 472,977.

STATISTICS OF UNEMPLOYMENT AMONG TRADE UNION MEMBERS

From reports received from local trade unions, a figure is compiled monthly showing the percentage of the membership covered which is unemployed on the last day of the month. These statistics are worked out in considerable detail, being published in such form that each province as a whole, each industry as a whole, and each main division of each industry, for the whole of Canada, are shown separately. When referring to trade union members as unemployed, the term "unemployment" has reference only to involuntary idleness due to economic causes. Members who are engaged at work in other than their own trades or who are idle because of illness are not considered for statistical purposes as unemployed. Workers who are involved in strikes or lockouts are excluded from the tabulation. About sixty per cent of all organized workers in Canada are regularly covered in this tabulation. Table No. 6 on page 145 gives the percentages of unemployment among the membership of reporting trade unions from January, 1919, to April, 1930, the figure in each case being that for all Canada, for all industries. Figures are also given showing gross trade union memberships covered, as well as gross numbers reported unemployed.

LABOUR MOBILITY

While the offices of the service are located at the points of chief industrial activity, the facilities afforded are not only utilized locally, but each office supplies a considerable number of workers to the contiguous districts. Out of the total of 401,509 placements effected, 150,887 were made outside of the centres in which the offices are situated.

Since 1919 the railways have accorded to bona fide applicants at the Employment Service, who may desire to travel to distant employment for which no workers are available locally, a concession involving a reduced fare. This privilege is effective on the following railroads: Canadian National, Canadian Pacific, Dominion Atlantic, Kettle Valley, Michigan Central, Northern Alberta, Pacific Great Eastern, Quebec Central, Temiskaming and Northern Ontario, and the Wabash. The reduced rate is for a second-class fare at 2.70 cents per mile, obtainable on the surrender of a certificate secured at the employment office. A minimum fare of four dollars is stipulated, so that a person travelling to employment at a distance where the reduced rate does not amount to the minimum is not able to derive the benefit therefrom. In table No. 5 on page 145, which gives details regarding the use of this certificate, it will be seen that 27,247 persons were by this means aided in securing employment.

Workers wishing to proceed from British Columbia to the Prairie Provinces to engage in harvest work were also accorded a substantially reduced fare by the railway companies. This excursion rate, which obtained from August 15 to September 7, was only available to persons whose services were necessary for harvesting operations at their proposed destination. It was good as far east as Regina and Saskatoon in Saskatchewan, being granted on the surrender of special certificates secured at the employment offices. Of these certificates the Employment Service in British Columbia issued 3,408.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE COUNCIL OF CANADA

Under Orders in Council P.C. 3111 and P.C. 2262, passed in pursuance of the Employment Offices' Co-ordination Act, there has been established a body advisory to the Minister of Labour in respect of the administration of the Act, known as the Employment Service Council of Canada. This council is composed of representatives of the various parties to the agreements, as well as representatives of the railways, organized labour, employers, returned soldiers, and the agricultural community. With one exception the council has met every year since its inception in 1919, the 1929 meeting being held in Ottawa on May 30 and 31. At this meeting the council devoted its attention to a consideration of the following matters: the policy of importing from Europe additional harvest help; factors responsible for recent unemployment; policy of the Employment Service with respect to institutions giving unemployment relief; winter, seasonal and intensive employment; question of the composition of the unemployed as to skilled, unskilled, returned soldiers, etc.; the relationship between the Employment Service and institutions graduating boys and girls into industry; the employment problem as affecting middle-aged men and women; immigration as affecting the Employment Service. One executive meeting was held, in order to present the council's views on employment matters to the minister, this being on December 16, 1929.

CONFERENCE

The seventeenth annual meeting of the International Association of Public Employment Services was held in Philadelphia, Pa., on September 24 to 27, 1929. This association is composed of a great many of the officials of the various governments of the United States and Canada, who are actively engaged in the operation of free public employment offices, conventions being held in either country. The Department of Labour, since it is vitally interested in the proper functioning of public employment offices in Canada, was duly represented at the association's meeting. Many matters of common interest to employment services in the two countries were discussed at length, so that the experiences of each member were made available to all. It was decided to hold the 1930 meeting at Toronto, Ont.

XV. TECHNICAL EDUCATION ACT

The ten-year period during which federal grants were available to the provinces under the Technical Education Act terminated March 31, 1929, but as eight of the nine provinces were unable to earn their entire appropriations during the ten years contemplated by the statute, the Act was, as pointed out in the annual report for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1929, extended for a period of five years in order that those eight provinces might have a further opportunity to earn the balance of the funds to which they were entitled. Ontario was the only province which had earned and received its entire appropriation prior to March 31, 1929, but during the year under review three other provinces, namely, British Columbia, Alberta and Quebec, have received the balance of the amounts to which they were entitled. As Ontario had received its entire allotment prior to the commencement of the present fiscal year, no report has been submitted to this department by that province covering the work for 1929-30. This report will, therefore, cover the activities of only those provinces which participated in the grants for the year ended March 31, 1930.

PUBLICATION

During the past year the Technical Education Branch of the department published a bulletin under the title "Federal Aid to Provinces under Technical Education Act for 10-Year Period 1919-1929." The purpose of the bulletin was to describe how the Dominion Government had assisted the provinces in the development of vocational education under the provisions of the Technical Education Act for the ten-year period 1919-1929. The bulletin gives an extended and detailed account of federal co-operation with the provinces during that period, including the purpose of the Act, a description of the character and scope of the education and training which have been developed and extended with the aid of federal funds, a statement of the principles and policies adopted by the Department of Labour for the administration of the Act and an interpretation of certain sections of the law. It also contains reviews prepared by the various provinces and submitted to the department outlining what has been accomplished in each province under the provisions of the Act. A list of publications issued by the Technical Education Branch of the department is also included.

STATISTICS

The money available and the amounts earned by the eight provinces for work done during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1930, are shown in table I. The nature and extent of the work being carried on are indicated in table II.

SUMMARY OF DEVELOPMENTS

The extent of the work in each province and the trend of developments during the past year are indicated by the following brief summaries for each province and by the more detailed reports and statistical tables prepared and submitted by the provinces as required by section 6 (d) of the Technical Education Act.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

The chief feature of development in Prince Edward Island has been in connection with inspectorial work. The principal duty of the inspectors is to relate as far as possible the program of the rural school with the interests and activities of the community. In this connection the inspectors work both in the school and with groups of teachers who come together from time to time for purposes of study and consultation. The total number of pupils attending day classes decreased from 1,160 in the previous year to 1,061 in 1929-30. The total enrolment in evening classes decreased from 80 to 69.

NOVA SCOTIA

Interest in vocational education in the province of Nova Scotia continues to grow and there is evidence of progress in all phases of the work. The Director of Technical Education for the province reports a distinct advance in the number of adults taking courses in household arts, the registration being 1,826. New students in the correspondence study courses increased over 250 per cent.

NEW BRUNSWICK

While no new projects have been undertaken, there has been a steady growth and an increased interest in vocational education throughout New Brunswick during the year.

QUEBEC

Interest in vocational education in the Province of Quebec continues to grow and there is evidence of progress in all phases of the work. The statistical tables submitted by the province show a substantial increase in enrolments in the various classes.

MANITOBA

The work in Manitoba continues to progress very satisfactorily. The total enrolment in day classes increased from 2,597 to 3,058, and in evening classes from 2,878 to 3,333.

ALBERTA

Alberta reports a decrease in the total enrolment in evening classes, but in day classes there was a slight increase. Commercial schools in all centres report increases in attendance.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

The statistical tables submitted by the province of British Columbia show an increase in day school enrolments from 4,432 to 4,887, but a decrease in evening schools from 7,680 to 6,671. The registration for correspondence instruction was 220 as compared with 211 for last year.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

REPORT OF THE DEPUTY MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE

J. W. Boulter

During the year ending June 30, 1930, the following courses were offered in connection with the Technical Education Act:—

1. Short term courses in home economics, including cooking, millinery, dressmaking, home nursing, household administration, accounts and English reading.

2. Special courses in wood-working and drawing.

3. Special courses for cheese and butter makers, visits of instructor to factories for inspection, supervision and demonstration.

4. Commercial course of two years to students having completed two years of high school work.

5. Night school courses for day workers to fit them for advancement.

6. Special courses through schools relating to agricultural conditions.

ENROLMENT

The total enrolment for the school year was 1,130, and the numbers registered by courses were as follows:—

Course 1, 68; Course 2, 116; Course 3, 38; Course 4, 36; Course 5, 69; Course 6, 803.

The promotion of Women's Institutes and the course in home economics are doing much to improve conditions in the schools and homes of rural communities. The co-operation of the institutes and the supervisors of the schools who are endeavouring to relate as far as possible the program of studies with the interests and activities of the community is having a most beneficial effect. In addition to their work in the schools, the supervisors conduct study groups with the teachers and others in regular classes in the evenings or on Saturdays, and every assistance possible is given to the solution of rural problems. Supervisors and teachers are encouraged to take advantage of summer courses offered by different universities in this line of work.

NOVA SCOTIA

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF TECHNICAL EDUCATION

Dr. F. H. Sexton

All of the services in technical education that had been established were well maintained and progress was made in several definite new enterprises. In the evening technical schools and evening coal-mining schools the registration, student-hours, and attendance stand practically at the same high level which was reached last year. There was a difference of only 9 in the total number of students enrolled, which was 2,769 in the present school year of 1929-30. There has been another distinct advance in the number of adults taking courses in household arts under the provincial Department of Agriculture, where the registration is now 1,826. New students in the correspondence-study courses increased over 250 per cent to 803, with the total number of active students numbering 1,925. The Department of Education has endeavoured to augment the provisions for manual training and domestic science by substantial enlargements of government grants to municipalities for salaries to teachers in these subjects.

NOVA SCOTIA COLLEGE OF ART

This institution continued its various services covering a number of different phases of training in art. The courses covered full-day courses to an enthusiastic group of gifted young men and women who intend to make art their life work, part-time courses to a larger number who desired some proficiency in drawing and painting for widely variant reasons, evening classes for those who were employed in the day, and special instruction to public school teachers of Halifax and Dartmouth. All of the work was closely adapted to vocational purposes. Since this college is the only centre of art training in the province, it seemed necessary to maintain a broad program even though it severely stressed the strength of the staff members and the slender resources of the college. The total registration and attendance increased over the levels of the previous year and would have been augmented still more had there been accommodation for all of the applicants. That part of the Dominion subsidy from the Department of Labour which was applied to this institution has been of the most valuable assistance, and it is clear that without it the work would not have been half as extensive or effective.

The college continued its strenuous efforts to promote an appreciation of fine arts throughout the province. It has been largely responsible for a distinct growth of artistic sentiment, especially in the city of Halifax and generally throughout the province.

Graduates of the school who have entered a further period of training elsewhere have brought honour upon the college by securing distinction and scholarships in England and the United States.

CORRESPONDENCE STUDY DIVISION

The student enrolment for the year ending June 30, 1930, was more than double, and the course enrolment upwards of four times greater than that of any year since the Correspondence Division was formed, the actual figures being 803 and 1,566 respectively.

This increase was due to the institution in August, 1929, of free technical courses for acting teachers of the province. The teacher enrolment was 620 for 1,221 courses, and 43 teachers have, as a result of the courses, written special examinations set by the Education Department and received credit towards their academic certificates. A number of students took the provincial examination held in June, but the results are not yet available.

The enrolment of those engaged in industry was below that of the preceding year, but the percentage completing courses was higher, 41 per cent against 30 per cent, which indicates a better type of student. The relatively prosperous labour conditions in the province probably account for the smaller enrolment, as the unskilled workman does not realize the necessity for study when work is abundant. The revolutionary changes which have recently turned certain trades topsy-turvy have made some intelligent craftsmen feel insecure in their occupations. They feel that they should possibly acquire a wider knowledge and further skill in some closely allied vocation to perhaps better meet unseen hazards in the future. Such a move was evidenced by an official request from the plumbers' union for instruction in autogenous welding. It would be strange if there are not more requests of a similar nature in the near future.

Reference was made in the report for 1929 of the probable extension of correspondence study to children living in remote country districts. This is now being done. The parents of the children receive the lessons for their children together with instruction and advice in correct teaching methods. Thirty-five children have been enrolled and much of the work sent in would do credit to any school, while the letters of appreciation received show that the service given meets a great need.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

An agreement has been made with the Halifax Industrial School, which is maintained for the care and training of truant boys, whereby facilities are established for definite vocational training. Equipment and instructors have been provided for trade instruction in woodworking, printing, and shoe repairing. Half of the time is spent in general academic instruction and the other half in shopwork. The technical training is restricted to those boys who are in their 'teens and will be most effective in the cases which will follow it for one to two years. Most of these boys come from homes where they have not been brought up under good influences and it is believed that vocational training and wise placement subsequently in regular apprenticeships will prove to be the salvation of these youths in most cases. Steps are being taken to have employers and trade unions accept credit for the time in reducing the term of apprenticeship in industry.

During the year the Government made rapid progress with its provisions for the segregation and vocational training of mentally defective children. A large tract of fine land was purchased about two miles outside of Truro. This location was selected because of its healthful surroundings and also because a large part of the education will be to fit the boys for agricultural occupations. The boys dormitory has been completed and the one for girls is under construction. A large fireproof building is now being built for vocational and trade training. It is planned to carry the pupils as far as possible in general education up to the point where their learning capacity is saturated and at the same time to give them try-out courses on the farm and in the shops until their definite occupational interests and abilities are discovered. Then they will be given careful and prolonged trade training until their skill is as well developed as possible and then place them in industry. Since none of them will be normal it is not expected that all of them will be competent to sustain themselves fully in practical life, but the aim is to develop to the utmost their full economic power. Instead of keeping them merely occupied outside the classroom with menial chores and simple handicraft, every available hour will be devoted to preparing them for regular occupations where fair success may be attained without exercising a high order of intelligence. Provision is being made for training in farming, poultry raising, baking, laundry work, weaving, spinning, matmaking, home service, restaurant waiting, serving, paper-box making, book-binding, repetitive machine work in printing, rough carpentry, painting, concrete working, bricklaying, cobbling, barbering, pipefitting, and sheet-metal working. The institution should start functioning in the autumn of 1930.

Interest in the establishment of day vocational schools has grown rapidly in several cities and towns. Delegates from the School Board and the Teachers Association in Halifax made a trip to study at first hand the vocational school in St. John. They had been convinced of the need of such an institution in the school system and were deeply impressed with the successful manner in which the technical institution was functioning in the sister city. It is highly probable that definite action will be taken in one or more of the Nova Scotian municipalities to erect a day vocational school during the coming year.

DOMINION GRANTS

Profound relief and satisfaction was widely felt in Nova Scotia when the Dominion Parliament enacted legislation that extended the period for five years when unexpended balances under the Technical Education Act were made available. The province had but recently emerged from almost a decade of industrial depression during which time school services had been unable to expand. Vocational training had been starved and these needs of youth and industry could not be met on the same scale as they had been provided for in most of the other provinces. A decided impetus was noticeable in several cities and towns to establish new technical schools, but this would have been next to impossible without Dominion aid to the province to help carry the burden. The amount of the unexpended balance will fall far short of enabling the local government to assist the towns and cities to provide as extensive vocational training as now exists in Quebec or Ontario. It is to be hoped that the continued representations of the provincial governments, employers, labour, and educational associations will prevail upon the Dominion authorities to accept and adopt a permanent policy of generously subsidizing the provinces for the nationwide support of technical education as is found now in every other civilized nation of the world. It is so clearly a national obligation from so many stand-points that it would seem unavoidable for the Dominion Parliament to delay favourable action very much longer.

NEW BRUNSWICK

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

W. K. Tibert

While no new work was undertaken in the province during the school year 1929-30, yet the year was one of steady growth and progress can be reported in all departments.

The class in pulp and paper making at Edmundston did good work and the results of the examination at the close of the term showed that marked progress had been made by the majority of the students. It is gratifying to the Provincial Board to note that these men have practically all received increase in pay as the result of their training.

There was an increase in full time day students of slightly over twenty per cent, and night school enrolments also show a slight increase.

TEACHER TRAINING

During the month of July a summer school for home economics teachers was held in the Saint John Vocational School Building. This school was under the supervision of Miss Rheta M. Inch, B.Sc., Head of the Home Economics Department of the Saint John Vocational School. Miss Inch was assisted by Mrs. Florence E. Amidon of the State Normal School staff, Framingham, Mass., as teacher of dressmaking and dress decoration; Miss Grace M. Donelan, experienced milliner, Brookline, Mass., teacher of millinery; and Miss Helen M. Allan, State Normal School staff, Framingham, Mass., teacher of colour and costume design and textiles.

SHORT COURSES

The Provincial Board operated short courses for garagemen in motor mechanics, automotive electricity and storage battery during the months of January, February, and March, in the St. John Vocational School building. The number of applications far exceeded the accommodation.

QUEBEC

REPORT OF THE GENERAL DIRECTOR OF TECHNICAL EDUCATION

Dr. A. Frigon

There is nothing very outstanding to report for the year 1929-30. We consider that our activities have progressed steadily and normally, although no great event has taken place during that period. Our statistics show an increase in the number of students in the different schools. Over two thousand seven hundred students attended the different classes of the Montreal Technical School. When it is considered that this school is devoted exclusively to the industrial arts and that it does not include any commercial work, or any courses for girls, it must be admitted that the enrolment is quite satisfactory.

Our principal schools located in Montreal, Quebec and Hull offer the following courses:—A three-year technical course, consisting in a proper blending of courses in mathematics, science and technology, and shop practice intended to give general information in applied sciences and preparation for future positions as superintendents, expert technicians, craftsmen, salesmen, etc. Students are admitted after they have completed the second year of high school.

A two-year trade course, consisting mostly of shop work accompanied by the necessary elements in science and mathematics intended to prepare young men as expert mechanics, electricians, foundry men, carpenters, cabinet makers and blacksmiths. A complete primary course is required for admission.

A special intensive course in automobile work, divided into four successive and distinctive groups in the following order: General theory and elements in functioning and repair of parts, general garage repairs and electrical repairs.

Numerous evening classes are conducted for men only, with the exception of one class for ladies in automobile work. A class ticket is given to successful students for each course. Those having the class tickets corresponding to predetermined groups of courses receive a "Certificate of Professional Aptitudes" in the specialty corresponding to that particular group.

The Montreal Technical School also has a part-time three year course in typography for apprentices of the printing trade only.

These three principal schools, and also the Three-Rivers Technical School, which is run by the Department of Lands and Forests, are fully equipped with the most modern machinery. The Montreal School in particular has shop facilities unsurpassed by any institution on the North American continent.

In the line of new construction we can only report the building of a new wing to the Commercial College of Chicoutimi which, starting next fall, will have an industrial section similar to that which already exists at Grand'Mere and at La Tuque. This will consist of a three year course, starting after the seventh grade, during which a good deal of manual training, and also mathematics, drafting and technology, will be given to the pupils. It is intended to organize a machine shop and a woodworking shop immediately for that purpose. Provisions also are being made for the usual laboratories in chemistry and physics.

The Shawinigan Technical Institute has also completed this year a new wing which is the gift of Mr. J. E. Aldred and of the Shawinigan Water and Power Company. This will permit the enlargement of the previous shops which had become quite inadequate to fill the requirements of that ever progressing school.

There are constant rumours of new schools being organized throughout the province. Many school boards have made known their intention of securing the help of the provincial Government in this connection. There is no doubt that within the next couple of years some of these numerous projects will be put into effect. In most cases it is proposed to offer an option to the students between a three year commercial course and a three year industrial course after the seventh or the eighth grade.

One of the instructors of the Montreal Technical School, who had been sent to the Ecole Boulle of Paris for a period of four years, has just returned from his studies abroad, and is now organizing a department of furniture and cabinet-making at the Montreal School. Although instructions in these lines have always been given at this school, it is intended to develop this department in such a way as to train craftsmen in the finest art of making high grade furniture, both modern and classical. The school has acquired a good collection of specimens in wood carving, veneering, marquetry, and nothing will be neglected to equip this special department with the required facilities. It is also intended to work in very close co-operation with the Fine Art School in order to prepare highly qualified designers.

Evening classes were started for radio service men, and met with such great success that the group of lectures had to be repeated after the usual period. It is intended to add a course in the theory of radio communication to the technical course which has been given this year. We have had quite an enthusiastic response from the trade, and we feel that this new course is very useful to the industry.

The Fine Art Schools of Quebec and Montreal have continued their work with very great success. Many hundreds of students apply for admission every year, and an eliminatory examination is necessary in order that only those best qualified may be admitted in these schools, both of which are always working at full capacity.

The "Ecoles Ménagères Provinciales" which moved last year to their new quarters on Sherbrooke street in Montreal, also did very good work this year. There are numerous schools of this type throughout the province of Quebec, conducted by religious institutions, but this one is run independently of any school system by a group of citizens who conduct their work on a basis of social service. The Government of the Province of Quebec supplies most of the funds required for the support of the institution.

NOTE.—Federal grants were paid on those schools and classes in the first section only. The agricultural and housekeeping classes shown in the second section are vocational in nature, but did not qualify for federal grants because they are controlled by the Department of Agriculture or religious and private organizations and are not regarded as part of the provincial Government system of technical education.

MANITOBA

S. T. Newton

Since the introduction of shop work into the Manitoba schools thirty years ago, woodwork has held first place in the industrial arts' group of activities. This is due to the universal use of wood and woodworking tools and to the fact that it is an easy material to work and from which to produce attractive and useful articles.

In keeping with the objectives in the junior high school the tendency in shop work is to lay a broad foundation of experience and information by using a variety of tools and machines, by exploring several closely related occupations, and by working with a wide variety of materials, such as wood, sheet metal, iron, fibre, upholstering materials, stains, lacquers and other finishes, elementary work in electricity, plumbing, and gas welding.

Pupils are given considerable instruction in blueprint and plan reading, the source of supply and the cost of the various materials used by them in their work, the idea being to develop in the boy a capacity for organized thinking through the planning and execution of work that is interesting and useful.

In the grade VI classes woodwork predominates, but an effort is made to correlate it with art by having the articles made of good shape and form, and, where they admit of decoration, to have them decorated in harmony with the form and use of the article made. About 40 per cent of the grade VIII classes and 85 per cent of the grade IX classes get their practical work in the high school shops.

The junior high school years are now recognized as the keystone of industrial arts work, and the tendency in Manitoba, as elsewhere, is toward the self-contained junior high school instead of having the pupils go to neighbourhood centres for their shopwork. This plan makes it easier for the principal to organize the work of his school. It enables him to have his pupils take shop work for two forty minute periods twice a week instead of a whole half-day once a week. For many kinds of work, such as metal work, drafting, woodturning, woodfinishing and forging, the shorter periods are preferred. They do not produce physical weariness and the pupil has a radical change of work twice a week instead of only once. As rapidly as accommodation and equipment can be secured the junior high schools are being developed along the following three lines:—

1. The general wood shop, which includes woodwork, woodfinishing, woodturning, upholstering, caning, weaving and blueprint reading.
2. The general metal shop, equipped for sheet metal, ornamental iron work, elementary household electricity and plumbing, and blueprint reading.
3. Drafting, free hand sketching and blueprint reading.

In the senior high schools the shops are constantly in use, either for grade X, XI and vocational classes, or for grade VIII and IX boys from the junior high schools. The work consists of drafting, oxy-acetylene welding, ornamental iron work, machine shop, woodworking, woodturning and electricity.

The number of boys receiving instruction in shop work one-half day per week was as follows:—

Grade	VI	2,126
"	VII	1,955
"	VIII High School Shops	758
	Elementary and Junior
"	High School Shops	906
"	IX High School Shops	888
	Junior High Shops	286
"	X High School Shops	685
"	XI High School Shops	141

In addition to the regular classes there were 41 vocational pupils who spent about 60 per cent of their time in the shops and 40 per cent in related English, mathematics and science. The figures given above represent the Winnipeg schools. Industrial arts work is also carried on at Arborg, Norwood, St. Andrews, St. James and Tuxedo, the total enrolment at these places being 430.

Of the work outlined above very little comes under the Technical Education Act. It is, however, given to show that the industrial arts work leads naturally to and is a good foundation on which to build the vocational work which is now in the offing.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING IN THE DAY SCHOOLS

The first day vocational school in the province was opened at Brandon on October 1, 1929, with an enrolment of 20. The work is confined to auto-mechanics and 60 per cent of the pupils' time is spent on shop work and the balance on related English, mathematics, science and business management.

Equipment similar to that found in an up-to-date garage was installed, and companies like the Ford, Dodge and Chevrolet supplied either new models or sectioned engines. Various other automobiles and parts were either donated or purchased from local dealers at a nominal price.

The school is operated under the direction of the Brandon School Board, in close co-operation with the Department of Education. An advisory committee, consisting of two service managers, two dealers, two members of the School Board and the Superintendent of Schools, has given very valuable assistance in working out suitable courses, securing equipment and placing the pupils in garages for the summer where they will get valuable supplemental experience.

The course covers three years—first year, 7 months school and 5 months in garages; second year, 5 months school and 7 months in garages; third year, 3 months school and 9 months in garages.

During the time that the school is not in session short courses for owner drivers are conducted. All members of the first year course were placed in garages for the summer.

ADULT EDUCATION

The onward march of progress throws thousands of men out of work—100 new machines are installed and 25,000 workers are added to the ranks of the unemployed. To fit these men for other occupations and enable them to make other adjustments needs a new type of school. For several years the Winnipeg School Board has been devoting a great deal of attention to this subject with a reasonable degree of success as is shown by the high percentage of attendance in all of the evening classes (83 per cent).

In this work the trades unions have taken a sympathetic interest and have helped very materially in enrolling apprentices in the various courses, securing necessary material, checking up on attendance, and in general promoting the work.

The distribution of students was as follows:—

Auto mechanics.	134	Oxy-acetylene welding	52
Architectural drafting	88	Painting.	13
Book-keeping	135	Pattern making	15
Bricklaying.	20	Pattern drafting	49

Miscellaneous	110

The enrolment by schools was—

St. John's	746
Daniel McIntyre	215
Kelvin	1,079
Total	2,040

An increase of 487 over the previous year.

Canadianization classes were held at 8 centres, with a total enrolment of 1,172, a decrease of 77 from the previous year.

New equipment was installed as follows: 16 oxy-acetylene welding torches in the senior high schools; a complete sheet metal equipment and a band saw jointer and woodturning lathe in each of the two junior high schools.

Interest in the improvement of foremanship in industry has developed to an ever increasing extent during the past few years and committees in two different industries in Manitoba are now working on the problem and asking for the co-operation of the department.

HOME STUDY COURSES

Correspondence courses are provided for two distinct groups of people:—first, for adults whose work and location prevent them attending either day or evening classes, and for apprentices, and second, those taking the high school leaving course who are availing themselves of the shop option as they are preparing themselves for work in the industries.

During the year there was a big increase in the enrolment in both sections, the total enrolment now being 223 under the high school leaving plan and 305 under the regular adult plan.

As in the evening school work, the building trades workers, particularly the electricians, are co-operating with the department and practically all of the electrical apprentices are enrolled for home study courses under the high school leaving plan since it fits in very nicely with their work. They get the shop work in connection with their daily occupation and the theory and related information by correspondence.

Two new courses of special interest were arranged for during the year, one in mining and the other in pulp and paper making. The enrolment in these courses was as follows:—

Mining—
Sherridon	13
Flin Flon	24
The Pas	10
Grandview	1
	48
Paper making—
Pine Falls	19

The courses for which there was the greatest demand were electricity, steam engineering, commercial art, drafting and automobile work. The enrolments in these courses were as follows:—

Electricity	166
Motor mechanics	46
Architecture	16
Drafting	30
Miscellaneous	107
Steam engineering	79
Commercial art	50
Civil engineering	17
Commerce	17
Mining	48

Among the miscellaneous courses were mechanical engineering railway station management, structural engineering, dressmaking, cookery, etc.

New courses arranged for next year include:—

Blueprint Reading and Estimating,	Building Construction,
Automobile Job Way Service,	Radio Operation and Repair,
Business Management,	Commercial Advertising,
Traffic Management,	Accountancy.

In providing home study courses the department co-operates with a large number of the reliable correspondence schools. This saves a huge overhead expense and assures the students getting more than full value for their money. The courses are always up-to-date, the correction service is prompt, and the various schools have shown a very commendable desire to give the student the kind of instruction that will be of most service to him in his work.

The courses are arranged on a yearly basis in order that the prospective student may determine for himself,—first, whether he can carry on the work with advantage, and second, whether the courses cover the ground that he had hoped they would and are a benefit to him in his work.

Many students have already enrolled for the second year's work, showing that they are not disappointed in the assistance which they are able to obtain through home study courses.

SASKATCHEWAN

REPORT ON VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

Dr. J. H. McKechnie, Chief Inspector

As in previous years, the Vocational Committees in the cities of Regina, Saskatoon and Moose Jaw continued their efforts in vocational work in both day and evening classes.

In Regina, instruction in vocational work through day classes was given in motor mechanics, carpentry, sheet metal, electricity, household science and commercial work. Instruction through evening classes included: Steam engineering, acetylene welding, telegraphy, electricity, architectural drafting, show card writing, motor mechanics, plumbing, salesmanship, English, English for the Non-English, business French, aeronautics, cabinet and machine drawing, dress-making, chemistry for nurses, and commercial work. The new technical school in Regina, situated on College avenue, is expected to be ready for occupation on September 1.

In the city of Moose Jaw the vocational work in the day classes was limited to commercial subjects. With the completion of the technical school, tenders for the erection of which are now being considered, it is expected that there will be considerable expansion in other phases of vocational work.

In the city of Saskatoon instruction in day vocational classes was limited for the most part to commercial subjects. Evening class work included: Commercial work, business English, English for the Non-English, dressmaking, aeronautics, woodworking, radio, telegraphy, commercial art, electricity, mechanical drafting, and mathematics for carpentry apprentices. Progress is being made towards the erection of the new technical school in this city.

This year the province of Saskatchewan takes over the administration of its natural resources and it is expected that an impetus will be given towards the establishment of new industries throughout the province. Already committees appointed by the provincial Government are active in surveying the possibilities of the province for further industrial development.

ALBERTA

REPORT OF DIRECTOR OF TECHNICAL EDUCATION

Dr. W. G. Carpenter

The year 1929-30 has been a quiet year in technical education in Alberta, although in prospect it has been one of the most interesting. There is developing in this province a realization of the need for a greater variety in the educational program than is provided for in the regular academic high school. This is evidenced by the changing attitude of the teachers in the academic schools, who are realizing that manual facilities on their program have appeals that the academic subjects fail to make. The discussion of the teachers in their professional gatherings and conventions has included the desirability of introducing technical subjects into the high school program. The trustees in their annual convention gave a large place to the discussion of technical education, and it was apparent that, if means for financing could be provided, many school districts would make provision immediately for technical education. There is a fear that this new arm is costly and that the districts will be involved in expenses that it will be difficult to meet. If the financial assistance could be offered to local school districts, it would be a great encouragement. In Alberta, public opinion seems quite ready to include technical education as a desirable asset, but it will take a little more time to satisfy the public that the expense is not too heavy to assume.

The Lethbridge School Board seriously considered the opening of a technical high school, only postponing the introduction because of the economic slump that set in. One of the most interesting problems of the year was the study made of the conditions in the Crow's Nest Pass, involving the villages of Bellevue, Hillcrest Mines, Frank, Blairmore and Coleman. Each of these districts supports a school doing high school work. The regular high school program lacks in appeal to the majority of the students attending high schools. A survey was made and an interesting situation was disclosed. The accommodation is old and in some cases inadequate for the needs of the community. The extreme distance of the two districts farthest from one another is about eight miles and all the districts lie along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway within this eight-mile limit. A central high school with a variety of offerings in its program would increase the efficiency of the various schools in the districts without adding materially to the cost that is now borne by each district supporting a separate high school with a staff of from one to three teachers and with meagre equipment. Transportation would have to be provided. There are difficulties in the way of organizing, but the advantages are so great and so obvious that it is hoped an amalgamation may yet be worked out to the great advantage of all concerned. There is also interest expressed from rural communities which are considering the association of rural districts for the purpose of offering practical programs adapted to rural conditions.

The revival in business conditions during the summer of 1929 stimulated the interest in commercial education, and the commercial school, in all centres, reports increases in attendance. The subsequent slump may make it difficult for all the young people trained in commercial work to secure appointments as stenographers and book-keepers, but, even if these do not materialize in the way in which it is anticipated, the education these young people are receiving will be valuable in any vocation.

The withdrawal of the federal grant in aid of technical education has resulted, in this province, in increasing the tuition fees, which is having a deterring influence upon a number who otherwise would have come into classes. The fees at the Technical Institute at Calgary have been doubled both for day and for evening classes. There is a falling-off in enrolment in evening classes throughout the province. The same number of centres are carrying evening programs as in previous years, but the enrolment is not quite so large. Outside the larger mining centres and the cities it is difficult to have good evening programs. Until the province grows in population any great increase cannot be expected in this respect. A class may be carried in a centre for a season where it may be necessary to wait a few seasons before the conditions are ripe to reorganize again.

In the day classes there is a slightly increased attendance to report. The Calgary Technical High School opened with 150 students enrolled. A very splendid type of work has been carried on in this school during the year, working with a new curriculum designed to be weighted in credit values equal to the subjects in the regular academic school. The year's work was concluded with a practical examination conducted by officials from the Department of Education, supplemented by written examinations taken at the same time as were the regular departmental examinations. The curriculum has been extended to cover three years. The course of studies for Grades VII and VIII has been modified in the light of experience, to make better provision for a prevocational class in which credit is allowed for shop work. The Grade VIII obtained from such a curriculum is considered of equal value to that obtained in the regular academic way.

The Provincial Institute of Technology and Art has had a good year, although the attendance did not equal that of the previous year. The poor crops in the territory north of Calgary made it difficult for many living in this area to finance a year at school away from home. The good crops in southern Alberta, however, made it possible for many to come in to the Technical Institute who have desired to come for many years. There was a noticeable falling away in the attendance of young women. The majority of students in the institute during the year came from south of Calgary. The opening of the new technical high school in Calgary affected attendance slightly to the advantage of many young students who were better served in a technical high school than in a vocational school. There were slight additions made to equipment. No new buildings were erected, although there is a real need for a building in which to offer more extensive opportunities for those in the building trades.

No teacher training classes were conducted during the year. Several technical teachers attended the summer school conducted at Port Collins in Colorado. This was of valuable assistance in the preparation of technical instructors. The Ontario Technical School program of teacher-training also attracted a few of the Alberta teachers seeking professional qualifications. There is a distinct appreciation of the value of teacher-training among Alberta technical teachers and they are availing themselves of every opportunity offered to improve their qualifications.

REPORT OF THE PROVINCIAL ORGANIZER OF TECHNICAL EDUCATION

John Kyle

DAY SCHOOLS

The outstanding school in the province of British Columbia for industrial training is undoubtedly the Vancouver Technical School. The workshops embrace the trades of sheet metal workers, machinists, auto mechanics, electrical engineers, cabinet-makers, carpenters and joiners, and printers. The shops are equipped with all the necessary machinery to facilitate thorough vocational training and the number of students attending increases each year. At present there is an enrolment of 1,100 students. It is also encouraging to find the Technical School staff working with the Apprenticeship Council of Vancouver and the provincial Department of Labour to extend the system of apprentice training which is at present adopted by the Building Trades Association. A vocational guidance officer has also been appointed in Vancouver city which completes an excellent organization of junior high schools, technical high schools, and technical schools.

Education along the lines of technical, commercial, agriculture and home economics is fully recognized in the school system of the province and a steady yearly increase of students may be noted.

SCHOOL OF DECORATIVE AND APPLIED ARTS

The School of Decorative and Applied Arts represents the refinement of technical education inasmuch as mechanical skill alone is incomplete. Maximum success can only be gained by a combination of art and mechanical skill, and it is only by a realization of this situation that the greatest value can be added to the natural resources of the province.

Day and night courses are provided in the following subjects: Drawing and design, applied design, modelling, lettering and illumination, figure drawing and composition, architecture, and pottery.

A full list of cities participating in the work of technical education is appended and this shows an enrolment of 4,887 students.

TEACHER-TRAINING CLASSES

(a) Technical Teachers

Technical teachers are being trained in a systematic way both for high schools and technical schools. For technical schools, teachers must be one hundred percent efficient at their trade and have served an apprenticeship. The same industrial efficiency is not demanded for teaching high school courses, but greater scholarship in academic subjects is a prerequisite.

(b) Commercial Teachers

Training is given for two classes of certificates, the Assistant Commercial Teachers' Certificate and the Commercial Specialists' Certificate. All candidates must at least hold first-class teaching certificates of the province.

There are 50 students enrolled in the teacher-training class for commercial subjects and 30 enrolled in the teacher-training course in technical subjects. The total amount expended in teacher-training from July 1, 1929, to June 30, 1930, amounted to $4,505.51.

CORRESPONDENCE INSTRUCTION

Correspondence Lessons in Coal-Mining and Surveying

This work is conducted to prepare men for the examinations demanded by the Department of Mines in the interest of public safety. The course embraces the following:—

No. 1. Preparatory mining course for boys over fifteen years of age, who have left school.

No. 2. Course in arithmetic and mathematics.

No. 3. Course for fire-boss, shift-boss or shot-lighter's papers (Third Class).

No. 4. Course for overman's papers (Second Class).

No. 5. Course for mine manager's papers.

No. 6. Course in mine survey work.

A splendid organization has been completed during the year to teach high school academic and commercial courses by correspondence. The natural expansion of this work will be the inclusion of technical courses. For this step material has been prepared in machine-shop work, carpentry and joinery, cabinet-making, sheet metal-work, industrial design, electricity and automobile mechanics.

The total amount expended in correspondence instruction from July 1st, 1929, to June 30th, 1930, amounted to $3,564.

ADMINISTRATION

The total amount spent on administration of technical work from July 1st, 1929, to June 30th, 1930, amounted to $9,360, making a grand total of $240,897.09 for the year:—

Day schools	$ 72,360 00
Night schools	34,743 85
Teacher-training	4,505 51
Teaching by correspondence	3,564 00
Technical equipment	116,363 73

XVI. LEAGUE OF NATIONS INTERNATIONAL LABOUR ORGANIZATION

The International Labour Organization of the League of Nations was formed under the authority of Part XIII of the Treaty of Peace with Germany and the corresponding part of the other peace treaties, to promote the improvement of industrial conditions by legislative action and international agreement. It comprises the International Labour Office in Geneva and the International Labour Conference, which meets annually. The latter is composed of four delegates from each member state, two of whom are Government delegates and two representatives of employers and employed, respectively. Fifty-five countries are members of the International Labour Organization, including all of the industrial countries of the world excepting the United States.

The International Labour Office is under the control of a Governing Body consisting of twenty-four persons chosen by the International Labour Conference, twelve representing Governments, six representing employers, and six representing workers. The Governing Body is also charged with the preparation of the agenda of the annual conference.

The International Labour Conference, in its successive sessions since its inception in 1919, has adopted twenty-eight draft conventions and thirty-four recommendations which have been communicated to the member states of the organization. The latter are under obligation to bring these draft conventions and recommendations of the International Labour Conference before the authority or authorities within whose competence the matter lies for the enactment of legislative or other action. Most of the proposals which have emanated from the conference to date have dealt with subjects which fall within provincial legislative jurisdiction in Canada, and have accordingly been brought to the attention of the respective provincial Governments. The draft conventions and recommendations have also been brought before the federal Parliament.

The Department of Labour is entrusted with the duties arising out of the relations of Canada with the International Labour Organization. These have entailed much correspondence, not only with the International Labour Office, but also with other departments of the Dominion Government, with the provinces and with employers' and workers' organizations. Replies have also been prepared in the Department of Labour to various questionnaires which were circulated on behalf of the International Labour Office. The performance of these duties has necessarily entailed a close study on the part of officers of the department of the various technical questions figuring on the different conference agenda and meetings of the Governing Body and of questionnaires received from the International Labour Office.

A bulletin entitled "Canada and the International Labour Conference" was issued by the Department of Labour in February, 1922, for the purpose of furnishing information in reference to the International Labour Organization and to the subjects which have received attention at the hands of this body.

In the month of December, 1924, in order to secure closer touch with the work of the League of Nations and of the International Labour Organization, the appointment was made by the Government of Canada of an Advisory Officer resident in Geneva. It was felt that this appointment would ensure greater permanency and continuity of representation at the meetings of the Governing Body of the International Labour Office and that such an officer, acting as a substitute for and under the direction of the Minister of Labour, would improve the present plan of Canada's representation. Dr. W. A. Riddell, former Deputy Minister of Labour of Ontario, who had held an important position on the staff of the International Labour Office since 1920, was entrusted with the duties of Dominion of Canada Advisory Officer, League of Nations, in Geneva.

INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCES, 1929

Two sessions of the International Labour Conference (League of Nations), constituted under the provisions of the Treaties of Peace, were held during the year at Geneva, Switzerland, viz: the Twelfth Session, from May 30 to June 21, 1929, and the Thirteenth Session, from October 10 to 26, 1929. It will be observed that this is only the second time that two sessions of the conference have been held in the same year, the other occasion having been in 1926, when the Eighth Session was followed immediately by the Ninth. The Treaty of Peace requires that "the meetings of the general conference of representatives of the members shall be held from time to time as occasion may require, and at least once in every year."

TWELFTH SESSION

Of the fifty-five countries which are members of the International Labour Organization, fifty sent delegates to the Twelfth Session, this being the highest percentage of attendance yet recorded. On only four previous occasions—at the Fifth Session in 1923, the Seventh in 1925, the Tenth in 1927 and the Eleventh in 1928—has the number of states represented exceeded forty. Further, the number of countries sending "complete" delegations, i.e., delegations comprising representatives of employers and workers as well as of governments, was larger (thirty-eight) than at any previous session. A list of the countries represented follows: Albania, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Bulgaria, British Empire, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Haiti, Honduras, Hungary, India, Irish Free State, Italy, Japan, Latvia, Liberia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Poland, Portugal, Roumania, Salvador, Serb-Croat-Slovene Kingdom, Siam, South Africa, Spain, Switzerland, Sweden, Uruguay, Venezuela.

The Canadian delegation in attendance at the conference was as follows:—

Government Delegates.—Dr. W. A. Riddell, Geneva, Switzerland, and Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, Vancouver, B.C.

Technical Advisers to Government Delegates.—Mr. Byron Baker, Ottawa, Ont.; Mr. George Gilbert, Winnipeg, Man.; and Mr. Gerard Tremblay, Montreal, P.Q.

Employers' Delegate.—Mr. W. C. Coulter, President, Coulter Copper and Brass Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

Technical Adviser to Employers' Delegate.—Mr. George E. Carpenter, Secretary, Prairie Division, Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Winnipeg, Man.

Workers' Delegate.—Mr. P. M. Draper, Secretary-Treasurer, Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, Ottawa, Ont.

Technical Adviser to Workers' Delegate.—Mr. James Simpson, Vice-President, Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, Toronto, Ont.

The following were elected as officers of the conference:—

President.—Dr. Heinrich Brauns, late Minister of Labour of Germany, whose election was proposed by Mr. Justin Godart, Government delegate of France, and a former Minister of Labour of that country, seconded by Sir Malcolm Delevingne, Government delegate for the British Empire, and supported by Mr. Oersted, Employers' delegate of Denmark, and by Mr. Mertens, Workers' delegate of Belgium.

Vice-Presidents.—Mr. H. E. Charles Duzmans, Government delegate for Latvia; Mr. Georges Tehourtchine, Employers' delegate of the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes; and Mr. Arvid Thorberg, Workers' delegate of Sweden.

Secretary-General.—Mr. Albert Thomas, Director of the International Labour Office.

Deputy Secretary-General.—Mr. Harold B. Butler, Deputy Director of the International Labour Office.

The agenda of the Twelfth Session of the conference comprised four items as follows: (1) Prevention of Industrial Accidents (Final Discussion); (2) Protection against Accidents of Workers engaged in Loading or Unloading Ships (Final Discussion); (3) Forced Labour (First Discussion); and (4) Hours of Work of Salaried Employees (First Discussion). The third and fourth subjects on the agenda were presented for general consideration with a view to the formulation of questionnaires for submission to the various member states of the International Labour Organization and the proposals of these items to be dealt with at the 1930 session of the conference.

The decisions of the Twelfth Conference may be summarized as follows:—

Industrial Accidents.—By 98 votes to 24 the conference adopted a draft convention concerning the marking of the weight on heavy packages transported by vessels.

By 100 votes to 12 the conference adopted a recommendation embodying principles and rules for the prevention of accidents in industrial establishments and in agriculture.

By 87 votes to 28 the conference adopted a recommendation concerning responsibility for the protection of power-driven machinery.

By a unanimous vote the conference adopted a resolution concerning uniformity in the compilation of industrial accident statistics.

Protection of Dockers.—By 84 votes to 22 the conference adopted a draft convention containing detailed provisions for the protection against accidents of workers employed in loading or unloading vessels.

By 101 votes to 0 the conference adopted a recommendation in favour of reciprocity agreements for the recognition of inspection certificates.

By 88 votes to 1 (vote given in mistake for abstention) the conference adopted a recommendation in favour of consultation with employers' and workers' organizations in the drafting of regulations under the convention.

By a unanimous vote the conference adopted a resolution in favour of the appointment of an international technical committee to draft model regulations for the guidance of Governments in applying the convention.

Forced Labour.—By 101 votes to 15 the conference decided to place the question of forced labour on the agenda of next year's conference, for the second stage of the double-discussion procedure.

By 83 votes to 17 the conference adopted a questionnaire tending to the adoption next year of a draft convention for the abolition of forced labour or, alternatively, for its limitation and regulation; and by a unanimous vote it added questions tending to the adoption of a recommendation on certain economic aspects of forced labour.

By 64 votes to 21 the conference adopted a resolution in favour of an inquiry into long-term contract labour, with a view to its consideration at a future conference.

Hours of Work of Salaried Employees.—By 103 votes to 17 the conference decided to place the question of the hours of work of salaried employees on the agenda of next year's conference for the second stage of the double-discussion procedure.

By 92 votes to 15 the conference adopted a questionnaire tending to the adoption next year of a draft convention or, alternatively a recommendation, for the international regulation of the hours of work of salaried employees.

Application of Conventions.—By a unanimous vote the conference adopted the findings of a committee which had examined 240 annual reports furnished by Governments on the measures taken to carry out conventions ratified by them, in order to ascertain the degree of concordance between national legislation and the provisions of the conventions.

Procedure and Standing Orders.—Unanimously or by large majorities the conference adopted amendments to its standing orders relating to revision of conventions, the double-discussion procedure, etc.

As regards revision of conventions, the amendments empower the Governing Body to specify (and thereby limit) the points in respect of which the conference may be called on to revise a convention.

As regards the double-discussion procedure, the amendments provide that henceforth the conference will not itself draft a questionnaire, but will indicate the points on which Governments should be consulted and leave the actual drafting of the questionnaire to the office, under the supervision of the Governing Body.

By a unanimous vote the conference adopted a resolution requesting the Governing Body to consider what method can be adopted to lay down a procedure for draft resolutions submitted by individual delegates to the conference.

Unemployment.—By a unanimous vote the conference adopted a resolution setting out various aspects of the unemployment problem with regard to which the office should pursue its investigations, including the best means of bringing about the adoption of measures for the reduction of unemployment among miners.

By 101 votes to 4 the conference added to the resolution a paragraph inviting the Governing Body of the office to consider the desirability of placing the question of unemployment among miners on the agenda of a future conference, preferably next year's conference.

Other Resolutions.—Unanimously or by large majorities the conference adopted resolutions submitted by individual delegates in favour of the consideration by the Governing Body of the following questions for possible discussion at future sessions of the conference:

(1) The organization of work in sheet-glass factories on a shift basis which would ensure to the workers a regular weekly rest;

(2) Insurance against old age, invalidity and death, and the rights of foreign workers in connection therewith;

(3) The underground work of women and young persons;

(4) Equality of treatment between national and coloured foreign workers.

A resolution was adopted unanimously, expressing the hope that the expansion of the activities of the International Labour Organization will not be hampered by a policy of restrictive economy in connection with its budget, but that Governments will freely place at its disposal the funds needed for the progressive development of its work.

A resolution was adopted unanimously calling for a report on the organizations of white and non-white workers in countries where non-white workers are in the majority, as a basis for judging to what extent such workers obtain representation in the conference.

A resolution was adopted unanimously, requesting the Governing Body to report to an early session of the conference on the observance by states of their obligation under Article 405 of the Peace Treaty to bring conventions and recommendations before the competent authorities within a prescribed time-limit.

A resolution was adopted unanimously, requesting the Governing Body to inquire into the operation of the Washington recommendation concerning the recruiting of bodies of workers for employment abroad, and to report to next year's conference.

A resolution was adopted unanimously, to the effect that in the event of a revision of the hours convention, particular attention should be drawn to the higher maxima fixed for "special" countries, such as India and Japan.

A resolution proposed by the Chinese Government delegate, calling attention to the problem of the application of labour legislation to foreign settlements under extra-territorial jurisdiction and requesting the Governing Body to take such steps as are within its competence to deal with it, failed to obtain a quorum owing to abstentions from voting: 53 votes were cast for it, and none against.

In conclusion, mention may be made of the general discussion which took place on the annual report of the director. This discussion occupied the greater part of seven sittings, and constituted a useful exchange of views in which some sixty speakers, representing Governments, employers or workers in more than thirty countries and employing eight languages, took part.

THIRTEENTH SESSION

The Thirteenth Session of the International Labour Conference dealt exclusively with maritime matters. Two previous maritime conferences had been held: the first in 1920 and the second in 1926.

Thirty-three of the fifty-five countries which are members of the International Labour Organization sent delegates to the Thirteenth Session. In view of the importance of the agenda, it is not surprising that all maritime countries were represented at the conference, with the exception of Norway, which was prevented by special difficulties from sending a delegation. A list of the countries represented follows: Australia, Belgium, Brazil, British Empire, Bulgaria, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, India, Irish Free State, Italy, Japan, Latvia, Netherlands, Persia, Poland, Portugal, Roumania, Siam, Spain, Sweden, Uruguay, Venezuela, Yugoslavia.

Government Delegate.—Dr. W. A. Riddell, Geneva, Switzerland.

Technical Adviser to Government Delegate.—Mr. James E. Tighe, Saint John, N.B.

Employers' Delegate.—Mr. A. L. MacCallum, Manager and Secretary of the Shipping Federation of Canada, Montreal, P.Q.

Workers' Delegate.—Mr. R. J. Tallon, Vice-President, Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, Mimico, Ont.

Technical Adviser to Workers' Delegate.—Mr. W. A. MacDonald, Secretary-Treasurer, National Association of Marine Engineers of Canada, Halifax, N.S.

The following were elected as officers of the conference:—

President.—H. E. Eduard Aunos Perez, Spanish Minister of Labour.

Vice-Presidents.—Mr. Niilo A. Mannio, Government delegate, Finland; Mr. Paul de Rousiers, Employers' delegate, France; and Mr. Benjamin Tillett, Workers' delegate, British Empire.

Secretary-General.—Mr. Albert Thomas, Director of the International Labour Office.

Deputy Secretary-General.—Mr. H. B. Butler, Deputy-Director of the International Labour Office.

The agenda of the Thirteenth Session of the conference comprised the following items, dealing exclusively with maritime questions: (1) Regulation of Hours of Work on Board Ship; (2) Protection of Seamen in Case of Sickness (including the Treatment of Seamen Injured on Board Ship), i.e. (a) The Individual Liability of the Shipowner towards Sick or Injured Seamen; (b) Sickness Insurance for Seamen; (3) Promotion of Seamen's Welfare in Ports; and (4) Establishment by each maritime country of a Minimum Requirement of Professional Capacity in the case of captains, navigating and engineer officers in charge of watches on board Merchant Ships.

In accordance with the double-discussion procedure laid down in the standing orders of the conference, the above four items were before the session for first discussion only, which would not lead to the immediate adoption of draft conventions or recommendations but would settle the points on which Governments should be consulted with a view to a second and final discussion at a later session.

The main decisions of the Thirteenth Session may be summarized as follows:—

By 76 votes to 17, it decided to place on the agenda of the next special Maritime Session of the conference, which will be held after the ordinary General Session of 1930, the question of the regulation of hours of work on board ship. It adopted, by 71 votes to 20, a series of "Conclusions" prefaced by a declaration that it is desirable to consult Governments on the question of an international regulation of hours on board ship by means of a draft convention, based on the principle of the eight-hour day or the forty-eight-hour week. The "Conclusions" defined the principal points on which the Governments should be consulted in a questionnaire to be prepared and distributed by the International Labour Office.

By 72 votes to 17, it decided to place on the agenda of the next Maritime Session the question of the protection of seamen in case of sickness, including the treatment of seamen injured on board ship. It adopted, by 65 votes to 16, a series of "Conclusions" concerning the individual liability of the shipowner towards the seamen, and, by 68 votes to 14, a series of "Conclusions" concerning sickness insurance for seamen. Both sets of "Conclusions" were prefaced by the opinion that the question could be made the subject of a draft convention.

By 89 votes to 0, it decided to place on the agenda of the next Maritime Session the question of the promotion of seamen's welfare in ports. It adopted unanimously a series of "Conclusions" on this subject, which, it was considered, could be made the subject of a draft convention or a recommendation. It also adopted a resolution relating to the exemption of seafarers from ordinary passport requirements.

By 73 votes to 2, it decided to place on the agenda of the next Maritime Session the question of the establishment of a minimum requirement of professional capacity for captains, chief engineers and navigating and engineer officers in charge of watches. It adopted, by 65 votes to 0, a series of "Conclusions" on the subject, with a view to the possibility of a draft convention concerning it.

Resolutions were adopted concerning the composition of non-governmental delegations (54 to 19), conditions of life and labour of Asiatic seamen (48 to 18), conditions of labour of workers employed in air transport (53 to 7), the treatment of seamen employed on foreign vessels in the waters of their own country (59 to 0), hours of work in inland navigation (39 to 17), and the action of Governments with regard to the maritime conventions adopted by previous sessions of the conference (55 to 7). Two other resolutions, relating to the right of association and to manning scales, obtained a majority but not a quorum.

LEGISLATIVE JURISDICTION IN CANADA WITH REGARD TO THE QUESTIONS INVOLVED IN DRAFT CONVENTIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCE

The draft conventions and recommendations adopted by the International Labour Conference of the League of Nations at its successive sessions have been referred to the law officers of the Crown in Canada with a view to determining whether, and to what extent, the subject matters involved were within the competence of the Parliament of Canada or of the provincial legislatures, in order that these draft conventions and recommendations might be brought before the authority or authorities within whose competence the matters in each case lay, for the enactment of legislation or other action, in conformity with the requirements of Article 405 of the Treaty of Peace with Germany and the corresponding article of the other peace treaties. The law officers' reports on the subject matters in question have been submitted to the Privy Council by the Minister of Justice and Orders in Council passed confirming the same. The Orders in Council referred to have been brought before the federal Parliament and have also been submitted to the respective provincial governments where it was found that the matters involved were within provincial jurisdiction.

Examination of the provincial laws has shown that the requirements of some of the conventions are met by existing provincial enactments. A memorandum of information has been compiled in the Department of Labour dealing with the laws of the provinces which bear on the various draft conventions and recommendations of the International Labour Conference and showing the extent to which the proposals involved are met by existing legislation.

RATIFICATION OF CONVENTIONS BY PARLIAMENT OF CANADA

To date, Canada has ratified four conventions of the International Labour Conference, dealing with matters affecting seamen, which were found by the law officers of the Crown to be within federal jurisdiction, namely:—

1. Draft convention fixing the minimum age for the admission of children to employment at sea;
2. Draft convention concerning unemployment indemnity in case of loss or foundering of the ship;
3. Draft convention fixing the minimum age for the admission of young persons to employment as trimmers or stokers; and
4. Draft convention concerning the compulsory medical examination of children and young persons employed at sea.

With reference to the convention which was adopted at the First Session of the International Labour Conference (1919), limiting hours of work in industrial undertakings to eight in the day and forty-eight in the week, it was found by the law officers of the Crown that the adoption of this convention involved legislation which is competent to Parliament in so far as Dominion works and undertakings are affected, but which the provincial legislatures have otherwise the power to enact and apply generally and comprehensively. This draft convention was also referred to the Supreme Court of Canada in 1925 for judicial decision as to the questions of legislative jurisdiction which are involved therein. The Supreme Court of Canada, in a judgment delivered on June 11, 1925, declared that "the subject-matter is generally within the competence of the legislatures of the provinces, but the authority vested in these legislatures does not enable them to give the force of law to provisions such as those contained in the draft convention in relation to servants of the Dominion Government, or to legislate for those parts of Canada which are not within the boundaries of a province." An Order in Council was passed on March 27, 1930, which referred to the Eight-Hour Day Convention of the International Labour Conference and established a working day of eight hours with a half-holiday on Saturday for any federal Government employees who prior to that time had been required to work more than eight hours daily, except in cases where the work of employees was intermittent in character or the application of the rule was not deemed to be practicable or in the public interest.

An Act of Parliament was also adopted at the 1930 session of Parliament entitled "The Fair Wages and Eight-Hour Day Act, 1930" (Chap. 20, 20-21 George V), which provided that the working hours of persons employed on Dominion Government contracts for construction, remodelling, repair or demolition of any work should not exceed eight hours per day, except in such special cases as the Governor in Council might otherwise provide, or except in cases of emergency as might be approved by the Minister of Labour. It was also declared in this statute that the eight-hour day should apply to all workmen employed by the Government of Canada on works of construction, remodelling, repair or demolition.

ACTION TAKEN BY FEDERAL PARLIAMENT ON RECOMMENDATIONS

The reports of the law officers on the various recommendations which have been adopted from time to time by the International Labour Conference indicate that many of the subject matters are within provincial jurisdiction. One of the recommendations which was found to be within federal authority, namely, that relating to the communication to the International Labour Office of statistical or other information regarding emigration, immigration and the repatriation and transit of immigrants, was adopted by Order in Council in 1923.

It will be observed that there were no draft conventions adopted at the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth or Thirteenth Sessions of the conference.

GOVERNING BODY OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR OFFICE

During the past fiscal year the Governing Body of the International Labour Office held its forty-fifth, forty-sixth and forty-seventh meetings at Geneva, Switzerland, from May 27 to 29, 1929, from October 4 to 8, 1929, and from February 4 to 8, 1930, respectively.

The Governing Body is charged with the general oversight of the International Labour Office and also with the preparation of the agenda of the annual conference. The Minister of Labour of Canada is the Canadian Government representative on the Governing Body, but as he was unable to be present at any of the above-mentioned meetings, he was represented by Dr. W. A. Riddell, Canadian Advisory Officer to the League of Nations, who has acted as substitute for him at other sessions.

The Governing Body is composed at present as follows:—

Government Group.—Argentina, Belgium, Canada, France, Germany, Great Britain, India, Italy, Japan, Poland, Spain and Sweden.

Employers' Group.—Mr. Forbes Watson (Great Britain); Mr. Gemmill (South Africa); Mr. Hodac (Czechoslovakia); Mr. Lambert-Ribot (France); Mr. Olivetti (Italy); and Mr. Vogel (Germany).

Workers' Group.—Mr. Jouhaux (France); Mr. Mertens (Belgium); Mr. Moore (Canada); Mr. Müller (Germany); Mr. Poulton (Great Britain); and Mr. Thorberg (Sweden).

Under Article 393 of the Treaty of Versailles and the corresponding articles of the other treaties of peace, the membership of the Governing Body is fixed at twenty-four, of whom twelve persons are to represent the governments of the member states, six persons are to be elected by the delegates to the conference representing the employers, and six persons are to be elected by the delegates to the conference representing the workers.

Article 303 further states: "Of the twelve persons representing the governments, eight shall be nominated by the members which are of the chief industrial importance, and four shall be nominated by the members selected for the purpose by the Government delegates to the conference, excluding the delegates of the eight members mentioned above." It was decided in 1922 that Canada was one of the eight states of chief industrial importance among the members of the International Labour Organization. The Government of Canada is therefore entitled to a permanent seat on the Governing Body of the International Labour Office.
